PREFACE.

REV. WILLIAM COGSWELL, D. D. [411], as early as 1810, began to collect genealogical data of the Cogswell family. At his death, in 1850, these data were placed in the hands of Rev. Daniel Lancaster, late of New York City, with a view to publication, but subsequently returned to Rev. Dr. Cogswell's brother, FRANCIS COGSWELL, ESQ. [417], late of Andover, Mass. A few years prior to his death, Mr. Francis Cogswell gave these papers into the hands of the son-in-law of Rev. Dr. Cogswell, with the hope that at some future time they might furnish the basis of a published volume of family history. But nothing further was done until some time in March, 1881, when Mrs. ABBY P. CHOATE, of Salem, Mass., at the suggestion of her father, HON. GEORGE COGSWELL, M. D. [418], of Bradford, Mass., who was the youngest and only surviving brother of Rev. Dr. Cogswell, proposed that this genealogical work be carried forward to publication. Accordingly the materials gathered by Rev. Dr. Cogswell, which could have been easily embraced within twenty or thirty pages, were made the basis of further research, which resulted in the accumulation of a surprisingly large amount of genealogical facts. The magnitude of this work had been greatly underestimated, the impression being that the Cogswells in this country were few, and that nearly all the materials for the proposed publication were contained in the papers of Rev. Dr. Cogswell. With this impression the work was entered upon, in the midst of a busy professional life, as a matter affording recreation, and not demanding much time or labor. There was contemplated nothing more than a small pamphlet, which might be prepared and published at slight expense. But only after years of wide research and the expenditure of thousands of dollars has the undertaking culminated in the present volume of more than seven hundred pages.

THE COGSWELLS IN AMERICA embraces names, dates, and facts gathered from various sources through the length and breadth of a continent. There has been exercised in the editorial work a conscientious fidelity to the documentary statistics furnished; so that any violence done to the orthography of proper names, any inaccuracy of dates, and any incompleteness of details must be carried to the account of those furnishing or failing to furnish the accurate and needed data.

In making this contribution to the genealogical literature of America, the author is happy to acknowledge the generous co-operation of those connected with the Cogswell family, and the exceeding courtesy of the thousands with whom he has had correspondence. Town Clerks, Registrars of Probate, and others having the custody of public records have rendered a great and willing service, and sometimes without compensation.

Among those who have generously aided this work in different ways, mention can be made here of only a few, as follows: Hon. George Cogswell, M. D.; Edward R. Cogswell, M. D., of Cambridge, Mass.; Charles Cogswell, M. D., of London, England; Col. Leander W. Cogswell, of Henniker, N. H.; Dr. Henry D. Cogswell, of San Francisco, Cal.; William T. Cogswell, Esq., of Rockville, Conn.; Rev. Augustus Caldwell, of Ipswich, Mass.; Edmund John Cogswell, LL. B., of Kentville, N. S.; Col. Joseph H. Cogswell, of Titusville, Pa.; George E. Morton, Esq., of Halifax, N. S.; Niram J. Cogswell, of Tuscarora, Pa.; Edward Cogswell, Esq., of Sackville, N. B.; the late Col. Milton Cogswell, U. S. A., of Washington, D. C.; Hon. Andrew M. Haines, of Galena, Ill.; Hon. William J. Cogswell, of New York City; the late David C. Whittlesey, Esq., of Washington, Conn.; Alfred Chipman Cogswell, D. D. S., of Halifax, N. S.; James Mason Cogswell, Esq., of Parma, Ohio; Mason Whittlesey Cogswell, Esq., of Elyria, Ohio; William Cogswell, M. D., of Bradford, Mass.; John Francis Cogswell, Esq., of Andover, Mass.; and Hon. John Wentworth, LL. D., of Chicago, Ill. These and many others who have co-operated in this undertaking have the grateful acknowledgments of the author.

This volume is simple in its arrangement, and by a copious Index its contents are made easily available.

The Preface is followed by an Introduction, in which is mention of the Cogswells in England, and some account of their passage on the ocean to this country in 1635. The body of the work gives a record of the Cogswells in America in ten generations, occupying six hundred and thirty-one pages, exclusive of twenty-nine steel engravings. There is added a Supplementa of additional data, and of Cogswells whose lineage is unknown. Then follows an Errata, and the volume concludes with a threefold Index.

The Index refers to the numerical position of the names, and to the page of persons and things of incidental interest and mention. The abbreviations used are those common to such works.

The edition is limited to five hundred copies, nearly all of which are subscribed for prior to publication.

THE AUTHOR.

INTRODUCTION.

THE COGSWELLS IN ENGLAND.

1580-1635.

IT is not the object of this work to give any extended account of the Cogswells in England, but merely as introductory to their record in America to mention the birthplace and the more immediate ancestors of JOHN COGSWELL, who with his family were the first immigrants of the name to this country. Tradition and probability identify the name Cogswell with the old English town of Coggeshall, which is located forty-four miles from London, in the County of Essex. Coggeshall was the ancient Canonium of the Romans, and held by them as a military trading post for several centuries, being surrendered only on their departure from Britain. Roman bricks, tiles, broken urns, and coins, relics of Roman possession, have often been found in Coggeshall. In the time of the Saxons it was called Coed Garr's Hall. When CANUTE, the Dane, ruled Britain, Godwin, one of his favorites, who lived also under Edward the Confessor, came into possession of Coggashael, whose daughter Edward the Confessor married, and whose son was King Harold, the last of the Saxon kings.

In 1046 Coggeshall was given to the Church of Christ for the support of the Benedictine monks of Canterbury. In 1139 the Abbey of Coggeshall was founded by King Stephen and Queen Matilda, the monks being of the Cistercian Order. The first Abbot of Coggeshall was William. In the reign of Edward III., A. D. 1337, Johanus Coggeskale was M. P. from Gloucester, England. For further history of Coggeshall, vid. THE ANNALS OF COGGESHALL, by Bryan Dale, M. D., and THE CHRONICLES OF RALPH DE COGGESHALL, in Latin.

It is the family tradition of the Cogswells now holding the ancient Cogswell possessions in Westbury, County of Wilts, England, that their ancestors came from the County of Essex, and were there known as Coggeshall, with the various spellings which appear, viz. : Cogshall, Coggeshall, Hoggeshale, Cogesholl, Cogeshole, Coggashael, Cogshol, Coxhall. Cockshall, and Coggshale. Beside the family tradition the experts in such matters say that Cogswell and Coggeshall in England have the same origin.

THE ANCIENT FAMILY ARMS, which appear on the cover of this volume, are recorded in England: ARGENT, a cross between four escallops sable. CREST, a stag lodged sable attired or. MOTTO:

“Nec sperno nec timeo.”

The Coggeshalls lost their head in the reign of Henry VI., and became a widely distributed race, the branches remaining in several counties; and “between Henry VI., 1422, and Charles I., 1625, there was plenty of time for the name to change among bad spellers.”

But while Coggeshall and Cogswell have the same origin in England, they are two distinct names in America although sometimes confounded. The Coggeshalls of this country have mostly descended from JOHN COGGESHALL, the FIRST GOVERNOR of RHODE ISLAND, while the Cogswells, with the exception of a few recent immigrants, have sprung from JOHN COGSWELL, who came from Westbury Leigh, County of Wilts, England, and settled, in 1635, in Ipswich, Mass.

WESTBURY, COUNTY OF WILTS, ENGLAND.

THE DOOMSDAY BOOK, by William the Conqueror, 1086, gives the earliest mention of Westbury, which appears to have been held by EDITHA, Queen of King Edward the Confessor, in the year 1044.

“The King holds Westberie.

Queen Editha held it, and it paid geld for 40 hides.”

Seal and Arms.

THE ARMS OF WESTBURY were registered in Heralds Office, London, in 1573, 16 Elizabeth. They are said to be the same that JOHN OF GAUNT, fourth son of Edward III., bore, who was born 1339 and died 1399. WESTBURY, England, was granted its charter of incorporation by Henry IV. It is a parish forming the Hundred of Westbury, County of Wilts, and comprising the borough of Westbury, the chapelries of Bratton and Dilton, and the townships of Hawkeridge, Hayward, and Leigh, and containing about seven thousand inhabitants, upward of two thousand of whom are in the town of Westbury. This town is twenty four miles northwest from Salisbury and ninety-eight miles west by south of London. The place is of great antiquity. It occupies the site of the old Roman military and trading station, Ferlucio. All that remains to tell its Roman history are fragments of pottery, an old aqueduct, and coins, dug up occasionally, bearing the impress of Constantine, Marcus Aurelius, and other Roman emperors. The name is of Saxon origin, intended to designate the importance or the relative position of the town. Here, according to tradition, was the Palace that belonged to the WEST SAXON KINGS. There are three principal streets, irregularly built, branching off toward Frome, Bradford, and East Savington. The inhabitants are supplied with water from springs and a small stream that falls into the Avon. The clothing trade formerly flourished here, one house alone employing a thousand persons. The principal manufactures were broadcloth and kersey-mere. There were in and near the town eight manufactures, and several others within the parish.

Bryan Edwards, the historian, and Dr. Philip Withers, a writer of some eminence, were natives of Westbury.

THE WESTBURY PARISH CHURCH.

The Westbury Parish Church dates to the time of William the Conqueror, who reigned from Dec. 25, 1066, to Sept. 9, 1087. A new church edifice was erected in 1315, during the reign of Edward II., which was still standing in 1884, as here represented. This fine Gothic structure, nearly six hundred years old, was built in the form of a cross. The nave was seventy-nine feet long and twenty-six feet wide. The transept was seventy-seven feet long and sixteen feet wide. The chancel was forty-eight feet by twenty-four feet. The height of nave was forty feet. The height of chancel was twenty-six feet. The height of the tower was eighty-four feet from the ground. The walls were two feet nine inches thick. Those of the tower were four feet thick. Chained to the reading-desk was a copy of the English translation of Erasmus's Paraphrase of the Gospel and the Acts of the Apostles, which was printed as early as 1550. The ancient communion service of the Westbury Church was pewter. This consisted of two large cups and one large salver. These were ornamented by a figure of CHRIST riding on an ass, and inscribed with this motto: "What have we that we have not received of the Lord?" "ANNO DOMINI 1616." The clock on this church was erected in the second year of James I., 1604, during the vicarage of Rev. William Thompson. John Cogswell's father-in-law, who was vicar from 1603 to his death in 1623. The tower of the church contains a fine peal of six bells. The chimes were the work of Louis and William Cockey, in 1688. These bells bear the following dates respectively: ¹1671, ²1738, ³1620, ⁴1619, ⁵1616, ⁶1714. The sixth weighed five thousand pounds and was the largest bell in the County of Wilts. The fifth and oldest had the Arms of England on one side and the Arms of Lord Ley's family on the other. It was inscribed with this motto: "Ægen tgra," i. e., THE VOICE OF GOD. Under the shadow of this ancient church "repose the mortal remains of more than thirty generations of the inhabitants of Westbury, while upwards of twenty generations have worshipped beneath its roof." There were many Cogswells connected with this ancient church, as appears on Church and Parish Register of Westbury. It will be seen also that the name of Cogswell often appears in the Register of St. Mary's Chapel, Dilton, and in the Register of the Chapel of Westbury Leigh.

It is unknown what connection, if any, the Cogswells of Westbury may have had with a certain Richard Cogswell who died June 12, 1534, to whose memory was erected in Faversham Church a large stone, in which was set a brass plate, still in a good state of preservation, on which were engraved the following quaint lines :

" ðeloso him bethoft inwardly and oft,
 How hard it were to flitt from bed unto the pitt,
 From pitt unto payne that ne'er shall cease, certayne,
 He would not doe one sin all the world to winn."

ROBERT COGSWELL.

ROBERT and ALICIA COGSWELL were the grandparents of JOHN COGSWELL, immigrant to America in 1635. They lived in Westbury Leigh, County of Wilts, England.

Robert Cogswell, as appears from his will, was a manufacturer of woollen cloths. Little is known of him. The Register of the Parish gives the date of his burial June 7, 1581. Mrs. Alicia Cogswell survived her husband. The date of her burial is given Aug. 1, 1603. Their children were: ROBERT; RICHARD; STEPHEN; JOANE, m. — Freestone; MARGARET, m. — Franklenc; MARGERY, m. John Whatley; EDITH, m. Thomas Stevens; EDWARD, m. Alice —. Vid. Registers of St. Mary's Chapel, Parish of All Saints and Westbury, Wilts County, England.

Probate pending suit, granted to John Cogswell, 11 May, 1616, and subsequent sentence admitted Walter Cogswell, a son not named in the Will.

JOHN COGSWELL.

JOHN COGSWELL, son of Edward and Alice Cogswell, was born, 1592, in Westbury, Leigh, County of Wilts. He married, Sept. 10, 1615, Elizabeth Thompson, daughter of the Rev. William and Phillis Thompson. Vid. JOHN COGSWELL [1].

THE REV. WILLIAM THOMPSON.

Rev. William Thompson, Mrs. Cogswell's father, was the Vicar of Westbury Parish, Wiltshire, for twenty years, from 1603 to his death in 1623. His wife, Mrs. Phillis Thompson, died in 1608. The Westbury Register records her burial thus: "Phillis, uxor of Mr. William Thompson, Vicar, Sepult. 19 July, 1608." Of this marriage were Elizabeth, who married John Cogswell, Maria, who was baptized in 1604, and other children, as mention is made in his will of five daughters. After the death of Mrs. Cogswell's mother, her father married ²Elizabeth —, who survived him. Of the second marriage were two sons: William, who was baptized April 23, 1615, and Samuel, whose baptism is thus recorded in the Westbury Register: "1616, Samuell, filius Willmi. Thompsonn, Vicarie de Westburie, baptizat Novemb. 30."

Samuel Thompson, Mrs. Cogswell's youngest brother, became the Rev. Samuel Thompson, D. D., of London. His son, William Thompson, lived with his uncle, John Cogswell, for many years in Ipswich, Mass. Vid. p. 12.

In the Public Record Office, London, appears the following conveyance:

11 CHARLES FIRST, Trinity Term, 1635.

ANTHONY SELFE and HENRY ALLYN, Plaintiff, and JOHN COGSWELL and Elizabeth, his wife, Defendants, whereby Anthony and Henry give to John and Elizabeth £40 sterling for one messuage, two Cottages, one barn, two gardens, two orchards, 4½ acres of land, one of meadow and four of Pasture, with the appurtenances in Westbury and Westbury Leigh, Co. Wilts.

This was undoubtedly the sale of John Cogswell's homestead just on the eve of his departure for New England.

THE COGSWELLS ON THE OCEAN.

MAY 23 TO AUGUST 15, 1635.

THE ANGEL GABRIEL was the ship on board of which JOHN COGSWELL AND FAMILY crossed the Atlantic. This vessel, it appears from the Letters of John Aubrey, the celebrated antiquary of Wiltshire, was built by Sir Charles Snell for SIR WALTER RALEIGH, "for the designe for Guiana, which cost him the manor of Yatton Regnell, the farm of Easton Piers, Thornhill, and the Church-lease of Bp. Cannings, which ship upon Sir Walter Raleigh's attainder was forfeited." Vid. Aubrey's Letters, Vol. 2, p. 514, Mss. Bodleian Library, Oxford, Eng.

SIR WALTER RALEIGH, who was executed Oct. 29, 1618, doubtless made his second and last voyage, A. D. 1617-18, to Guiana, S. A., in the same ship in which the Cogswells came to America in 1635, and which became a wreck off Pemaquid, as Mather says: "was burst in pieces and cast away."

JOHN COGSWELL, with his wife Elizabeth and eight children, embarked May 23, 1635, at Bristol, England, on the Angel Gabriel, for New England. Mr. Cogswell had with him his three sons, William, John, and Edward, and five of his six daughters. One daughter was left in England, who afterward married and resided in London. Mr. Cogswell took with him several farm and household servants, an amount of valuable furniture, farming implements, housekeeping utensils, and a considerable sum of money. They were detained many days after going on board the ANGEL GABRIEL for lack of wind, so that not until June 4 did they actually set sail from Bristol. On the same day another vessel, THE JAMES, sailed, having on board emigrants for America, among whom was REV. RICHARD MATHER, fleeing religious intolerance in England to find the home of religious freedom in the New World. He became the minister of Dorchester in the Colony of Massachusetts. Rev. Richard Mather was the father of Rev. Increase Mather, D. D., President of

Harvard College, and the grandfather of Rev. Dr. Cotton Mather, minister of Boston, and the distinguished author of the MAGNALIA CHRISTI AMERICANA. Richard Mather's tombstone was thus inscribed :

“ Under this stone lies Richard Mather,
Who had a son greater than his father,
And ere a grandson greater than either.”

The Angel Gabriel was commanded by Capt. Andrews, who had on board with him two nephews, John and Thomas Burnham, sons of Robert and Mary (Andrews) Burnham, and ancestors of the Burnhams in America. There were on board also Samuel Haines, ancestor of HON. ANDREW MACK HAINES, of Galena, Ill., William Furber, and others seeking homes in New England. Both ships touched at Milford Haven, Pembroke Co., South Wales, and June 22, they put to sea again and proceeded on their way, and many on board saw the English coast fade from view, never to be seen by them again with mortal eyes. The vessels kept company for about two weeks, when they became separated, but arrived about the same time on the coast of New England. The James lay at anchor off the Isles of Shoals, and the Angel Gabriel off Pemaquid, Me., where the great storm and gale of Aug. 15 of that year struck them. The James was torn from her anchors, and obliged to put to sea, but after two days of terrible battling with storm and wave, she reached Boston Harbor with “her sails rent in sunder, and split in pieces, as if they had been rotten ragges.” The passengers of the James landed in Boston, Aug. 17, having been twelve weeks and two days on the passage. The Angel Gabriel fared still worse. “The storm was frightful at Pemaquid, the wind blowing from the northeast, the tide rising to a very unusual height, in some places more than twenty feet right up and down; this was succeeded by another and unaccountable tidal wave still higher.” The Angel Gabriel became a total wreck, passengers, cattle, and goods were all cast upon the angry waves. Among those who reached the shore with their lives were Mr. Cogswell and his family. Three or four passengers and one seaman perished, and there was the loss of cattle and much property. Thus ended the passage of THE COGSWELLS ON THE OCEAN, and thus became a fact: THE COGSWELLS IN AMERICA.

JOURNAL OF REV. RICHARD MATHER.

Rev. Richard Mather, already mentioned as a passenger on the James, kept a journal in which are found frequent references to the ship Angel Gabriel, and to the events of the voyage, so interesting and quaint that the author cannot forbear to quote somewhat at length from this old and curious record. Rev. Richard Mather in his reflections, says :

“And let everything that hath breath praise the NAME of the LORD forever and ever.” Who gave unto us his poore servants such a safe and comfortable voyage to New England”

“The particular passages whereof were as followeth: The ship James was commanded by Captayne Taylor. They fell in with the ship ANGEL GABRIEL, also bound for New England, before leaving Bristol Harbor, England.” May 27, 1635, while at anchor, Capt. Taylor, of the James, accompanied by Mr. Maud, Nathaniel Wales, Barnabas Fower, Thomas Armitage, and Richard Mather, went on board the Angel Gabriel. Mr. Mather says: “When we came there wee found divers passengers, and among them some loving & godly Christians that were glad to see us there.”

The next day, May 28, 1635, being still detained, “the master of the Angel Gabriel & some of their passengers came aboard our ship, and desired to have our company, etc. June 4. Thursday morning, the wind serving us, wee set sayle and began our sea voyage with glad hearts, y^t God had loosed us from our long stay wherein we had been holden, and with hope & trust that Hee would graciously guide us to the end of our journey. We were y^t set sayle together y^t morning five shippes, three bound for Newfoundland, viz.: the Diligence, a ship of 150 tunne, the Mary, a small ship of 80 tunne, and the Bess (or Elizabeth), and two bound for New England, viz.: The Angel Gabriel, of 240 tunne, the James, of 220 tunne.”

“And even at our setting out we y^t were in the James had experience of God’s gracious providence over us, in y^t the Angel Gabriel haling home one of her ances. had like, being carried by the force of the tide, to have fallen foule upon y^e forep’t of our ship, w^{ch} made all the mariners as well as passengers greatly afraid, yet by the guidance of God and his care over us, she passed by without touching so much as a cable or a cord, and so we escaped y^t danger.”

They were detained at Lundy by adverse sea and winds from June 5 to June 9. On the 9th of June the five ships made for Milford Haven, Pembroke Co., Wales, where they anchored, with rough sea and seasick passengers. June 14. Sabbath. Still lying at Milford Haven. “Mr. Maud, Mathew Michel of the James, and many of the passengers of the Angel Gabriel went to church on shoare called Nangle, where they heard two comfortable sermons, made by an ancient, grave minister, living at Pembroke, whose name is Mr. Jessop. His text was Ps. xci 11: For He shall give His angels charge over thee to keep thee in all thy ways.” And his coming was purposed for the comfort and encouragement of us y^t went to New England.” “I was exercised on shipboard both endes of the day, remaying there for helpe of y^e weaker & infirm sort that could not go on shoare.”

On the afternoon of Thursday, June 18, “there came to the Angel Gabriel and to our ship, Mr. Jessop, to see the Christians bound for New England. He was a grave and godly old man, one y^t had lost a good living because of his nonconformity, and wished us all well, and we were much refreshed with his godly company & conference.”

Still at Milford Haven Mr. Mather speaks of being "exercised both ends of the day," "besides," he says, "the day was more comfortable to us all in regard to y^e company of many godly Christians from y^e Angel Gabriel, and from other vessels lying in the haven with us, who, wanting means and home, were glad to come to us, and we were also glad of their company, and had all of us a very comfortable day, and were much refreshed in the Lord."

By lack of wind having been delayed at Milford Haven for 12 days, they sailed on June 22, Monday. On the evening of the Tuesday, June 23, they "lost sight of the 3 ships bound for Newfoundland, but the master of the James thought it best to stay for the Angel Gabriel, being bound for New England as wee were, rather than to leave her & go with the other three.

The Angel Gabriel is a strong ship & well furnished with fourteene or sixteene pieces of ordnance, and therefore our seamen rather desired her company; but yet she is slow in sailing, and therefore wee went sometimes with three sayles less than wee might have done, y^t so we might not overgoe her."

On Wednesday, June 24, "We saw abundance of porpuyses leaping & playing about our ship." "And wee spent some time that day in pursuing with the Angel Gabriel what wee supposed was a Turkish pirate, but could not overtake her."

Mr. Mather speaks of the Sabbath, June 28, 1635, and says, "I was exercised in the forenoon, and Mr. Maude in the afternoon."

"This eve'g wee saw porpuyses about y^e ship, and some would fayne been striking, but others dissuaded, because of the Sabbath, and so it was let alone."

The next day by seven o'clock the sailors had a great porpoise on deck. Mr. Mather says: "The seeing him haled into the ship like a swyne from y^e sty to the tressle, and opened upon y^e decke in viewe of all our company, was wonderful to us all, and marvellous merry sport and delightful to our women & children. So good was our God unto us in affording us the day before, spiritual refreshing to our soules, and y^e day morning also delightful recreation to our bydes, at y^e taking and opening of y^e huge and strange fish."

In the afternoon, June 29, "Captayne Taylor went on board y^e Angel, and took Mathew Michel & mee along with him."

They found that there had been much seasickness on the Angel Gabriel, and two cases of "small pockes well recovered again."

"Wee were intreated to stay supp, there with their Master, &c., and had good cheese, mutton boyled & rosted, rosted turkey, good sacke, &c."

Saturday, July 4, 1635. "This day y^e sea was very rough, and we saw y^e truth of y^t Scripture, Ps. cvii. Some were very seasicke, but none could stand or go upon y^e decke because of the tossing & tumbling of the ship." "This day (July 4) we lost sight of the Angel sayling slowly behind us, and we never saw her again any more."

Mr. Mather speaks of Sabbath, Aug. 2. "And y^e wind blew with a coole & comfortable gale at south all day, which carried us away with great speed towards o^r journeyes end, so good was o^r loving God unto us as always so also this day. Mr. Maud was exercised in y^e forenoone & I in the afternoone ”

Aug. 3. “ But lest wee should grow secure and neglect y^e Lord through abundance of prosperity, o^r wise & loving God was pleased on Monday morning about three of y^e clock, when wee were upon the coast of land, to exercise us with a sore storme & tempest of wind & rain, so y^t many of us passengers with wind & rain were raised out of our beds, and our seamen were forced to let down all y^e sayles, and y^e ship was so tossed with fearfull mountayns and valleyes of water, as if wee should have beene overwhelmed & swallowed up.

But y^e lasted not long, for at o^r poore prayers, y^e Lord was pleased to magnify his mercy in assuaging y^e winds & seas againe about sun rising.” He then speaks of “taking abundance of cod & hollibut, wherewith o^r bodies were abundantly refreshed after they had beene tossed with y^e storme.”

“ Aug. 14. While anchored at the Ile of Shoales, when wee had slept sweetly y^e night till breake of day,” Mr. Mather adds: “ But yet y^e Lord had not done with us, nor yet had let us see all his power & goodnesse which he would have us take knowledge of, and therefore on Saturday morning (Aug. 15), at about breake of day, y^e Lord sent forth a most terrible storme of raine & easterly wind, whereby wee were in as much danger as I thinke ever people were. For we lost in y^e morning, three great ancrs & cables, of wich cables, one having cost £50, never had been in any water before, two were broken by y^e violence of y^e waves, and y^e third was cut by y^e seamen in extremity & distress to save y^e ship & o^r lives.

And y^e Angel Gabriel being y^m at ancer at Pemmaquid, was burst in pieces & cast away in y^e storme & most of the cattell & other goodes, with one seaman & 3 or 4 passengers did also perish therein, besides two of y^e passengers y^t died by y^e way, y^e rest having y^r lives given y^m for a prey. But y^e James & wee y^t were therein, with our cattell & goods, were all preserved alive, viz. : 100 passengers, 23 seamen, 23 coves & heifers, 3 sucking calves & mares.”

“ The LORD'S NAME be blessed forever.”

A touching incident is narrated of one of the passengers of the Angel Gabriel, more amusing to the reader than it could have been to the parties concerned. The name of this passenger was Bailey. He was a young man and lately married. He embarked, leaving his young bride in England, wishing to acquaint himself somewhat with the new country, and make arrangements for a home in America, and then return for his wife. But alas! the frightful disaster from which he had narrowly escaped so wrought upon his mind that he was too timid ever again to risk himself upon the ocean, and the doleful account which he wrote home so intimidated his young bride that she could never be persuaded to undertake the voyage. And so it came to pass, that between this loving couple the broad Atlantic continued to roll, and this married twain, poor souls, remained separated from each other all the rest of their mortal lives.

REV. DR. INCREASE MATHER states as a historical fact that : "THE ANGEL GABRIEL was the only vessel which miscarried with passengers from old England to New, so signally did the Lord in his providence watch over the plantation of New England."

JOHN COGSWELL and family having crossed the ocean and disembarked at Pemaquid, in the unceremonious fashion narrated, were at last in America. They were the first of the name to reach these shores. The elapse of two hundred and fifty years has given to them a numerous posterity, some of whom in each generation have lived in eventful periods, have risen to eminence, and fulfilled distinguished service in the history of the country.

“ ET PATRIBUS ET POSTERITATE.”

“ THERE be of them that have left a name behind them,
That their praises might be reported ;
And some there be which have no memorial,
Who are perished as though they had never been,
And are become as though they had never been born.
And their children after them.”

“ Those who do not treasure up the memory of their ancestors do not deserve to be remembered by posterity.” — EDMUND BURKE.

FIRST GENERATION.

JOHN COGSWELL.

Genealogical.

JOHN¹ COGSWELL, son of Edward and Alice Cogswell, was born 1592, in Westbury Leigh, County of Wilts, England. He married, Sept. 10, 1615, Elizabeth Thompson, daughter of Rev. William and Phillis Thompson. Mr. and Mrs. Cogswell resided in Westbury until 1635; they then emigrated to America, and settled in Ipswich, Mass. He died Nov. 29, 1669. She died June 2, 1676.

THEIR CHILDREN WERE:

A DAUGHTER, who married and resided in London, England.

ABIGAIL, [6] m. Thomas Clark.

EDWARD, [7] b. 1629, of whom little is known.

SARAH, [8] m. 1663, Simon Tuttle; d. 1692.

ELIZABETH, [9] m. July 31, 1657, Nathaniel Masterson.

Biographical.

JOHN COGSWELL, the ancestor of the Cogswells in America, as already narrated, was the son of Edward and Alice Cogswell, of Westbury Leigh, in the County of Wilts, England. At the age of twenty-three years he married the daughter of the parish vicar, succeeded to his father's business, and settled down in the old homestead. His parents died soon after his marriage, and he received by inheritance "The Mylls called Ripond, situate within the Parish of Frome Selwood," together with the home place and certain personal property.

Like his father, he was a manufacturer of woollen fabrics, largely broadcloths and kerseymeres. The superior quality of these manufactures gave to his "mylls" a favorable reputation, which appears to have been retained to the present day. There are factories occupying much the same locations and still owned by Cogswells, which continue to put upon the market woollen cloths that in Vienna and elsewhere have commanded the first premiums in the world exhibitions of our times.

John Cogswell doubtless found in London a market for his manufactures. He may have had a commission house in that city, which would account for his being called, as he sometimes has been, a London merchant.

Mrs. Cogswell's father was the Rev. William Thompson, vicar of Westbury from 1603 to his death, in 1623. Her younger brother was the Rev. Samuel Thompson, D. D., of London. About twenty years after their marriage, with a family of nine children about them, and having the accumulations of a prosperous business, Mr. and Mrs. Cogswell determined to emigrate to America. The particular reasons which led them to leave England may have been much the same that influenced others in their times. It appears that early in 1635 Mr. Cogswell made sale of his "mylls" and other real estate, and soon after, with his wife, eight children, and all their personal effects, embarked at Bristol, May 23, 1635, for New England. Their passage was long and disastrous. Vid. "THE COGSWELLS ON THE OCEAN." Their arrival in America was after a most unexpected fashion. Having reached the shores of New England, they were landed very unceremoniously at a place called Pemaquid, in Maine, being washed ashore from the broken decks of their ship "Angel Gabriel," which went to pieces in the frightful gale of Aug. 15, 1635, when such a "sudden, dismal storm of wind and rain came as had never been known before by white man or Indian." Traces of this storm remained for years. It was on that terrible 15th of August, 1635, that Parson Avery perished, with these words upon his lips: "Lord, I cannot challenge a preservation of life; but according to thy covenant, I challenge heaven." "Which words," says Hubbard, "as soon as he had ever expressed, the next wave gave him a present dismissal into his eternal rest."

The easy verse of Whittier has made the story of that August storm familiar:

"There was wailing in the shallop; woman's wail and man's despair;
A crash of breaking timbers on the rocks so sharp and bare;
And through it all the murmur of Father Avery's prayer.
The ear of God was open to his servant's last request.
As the strong wave swept him downward the sweet hymn upward pressed,
And the soul of Father Avery went singing to its rest."

Mr. Cogswell and his family escaped with their lives, but well drenched by the sea and despoiled of valuables to the amount of five thousand pounds sterling. They were more fortunate than some who sailed with them, whom the angry waves gathered to a watery grave. On leaving England Mr. Cogswell had taken along with him a large tent, which now came into good service.

This they pitched, and into it they gathered themselves and such stores as they could rescue from the waves. The darkness of that first night of the Cogswells in America found them housed beneath a tent on the beach. The next day they picked up what more of their goods they could, which had come ashore during the night or lay floating about upon the water. As soon as possible Mr. Cogswell, leaving his family, took passage for Boston. He there made a contract with a certain Capt. Gallup, who commanded a small barque, to sail for Pemaquid and transport his family to Ipswich, Mass. This was a newly settled town to the eastward from Boston, and was called by the Indians "Aggawam." Two years earlier, March, 1633, Mr John Winthrop, son of Gov. John Winthrop, with ten others, had commenced a settlement in Aggawam. An act of incorporation was secured Aug. 4, 1634, under the name of Ipswich. The name Ipswich is Saxon, in honor of the Saxon queen Eba, called "Eba's wych," i. e., Eba's house; hence Yppyswich or Ipswich. Some derive it from Gippewich, meaning "little city." In the early records are found the following enactments of the General Court:

"April 1st, 1633. It is ordered that n^{oe} p^{son} wtsoever shall goe to plant or inhabitt att Aggawam, withoutt leave from the Court, except those already gone, vz: Mr. John Winthrop, Jun'r, Mr. Clerke, Robte Coles, Thomas Howlett, John Biggs, John Gage, Thomas Hardy, Willm Perkins, M. Thornedicke, Will^m Srieant."

"June 11, 1633. There is leave graunted to Tho: Sellen to plant att Aggawam. 5 August, 1634. It is ordered that Aggawam shall be called Ipswich."

"At Ipsidge a plantation made upe this yeare. Mr. Ward P——, Mr. Parker T——. James Cudworth, 1634."

It was probably near the last of August, 1635, when Capt. Gallup sailed up the Agawam River, having on board Mr. and Mrs. Cogswell, their three sons and five daughters, and whatever of household goods his barque would carry, the rest of their effects being taken by another ship. The settlers of Ipswich at oncē manifested an appreciation of these new-comers. They made John Cogswell liberal grants of land, as appears from the following municipal records:

"1636. Granted to Mr. John Cogswell Three Hundred acres of land at the further Chebokoe, having the River on the South east, the land of Willm White on the North west and A Creeke romminge out of the River towards William White's farme on the North east. Bounded also on the West with a Creek and a little (creeke)."

"Also there was granted to him a parsell of ground containinge eight acres, upon part whereof y^e s^d John Cogswell hath built an house, it being the corner lot in Bridge street and hath Goodman Bradstreet's house-Lott on the South East."

This was doubtless Humphrey Bradstreet, son of Gov. Simon and Ann (Dudley) Bradstreet. Ann Dudley was daughter of Gov. Thomas Dudley.

"There was granted to him five acres of ground," which is thus described: "Mr. John Spencer's buttinge upon the River on the south, having a lott of Edmond Gardiner's on the South East, and a lott of Edmond Sayward's on the south west; with six acres of ground, the s^d John Cogswell hath sold to John Perkins, the younger, his heirs and assigns."

The grant of "three hundred acres of land at the further Chebokoe" was some five miles to the eastward, in a part of Ipswich that was constituted, May 5, 1679, Chebacco Parish: and Feb. 5, 1819, incorporated the town of Essex. A settlement had been commenced in the Indian Chebokoe, in 1635, by William White and Goodman Bradstreet. This grant to John Cogswell embraced a swell of land, the western boundary of which is the main road which runs from Ipswich to Gloucester. On the south flows the Chebacco River; on the north is a brook, which marks the boundary of a farm lately owned by Col. John P. Choate; and to the eastward is an arm of the sea. The grant of "a parsell of ground containinge eight acres, upon part whereof y^e s^d John Cogswell hath built an house," embraced land located near the present site of the court-house. This house, which Mr. Cogswell built soon after his arrival, stood on the site occupied by the residence of the late Hon. Charles Kimball, where Edward L. Kimball, Esq., now, 1884, resides.

Mr. Cogswell, some time in 1636, put up a log-house and removed to "further Chebokoe," where he spent the rest of his days. His descendants for eight generations, through a period of two hundred and fifty years, have continued to cultivate these ancestral acres. A few rods from where stood the log-house of the first settler now stands an ancient dwelling-house, which is the third in succession built on or near the same spot to domicile Cogswells in America. This house was erected by William¹ Cogswell [39] in 1732, and is still occupied by Cogswells, the lineal descendants of John Cogswell, of Westbury, England. For more than one hundred and fifty years "The Cogswell House" has withstood time and change. Within its walls have dwelt six generations of the name. In it are carefully treasured many relics and articles of household use, which were brought over in 1635, and survived the wreck of the "Angel Gabriel." These have been handed down from father to son as having belonged to their great ancestor, and are enshrined in various and quaint traditions. This ancient dwelling-house, which is well preserved, is represented by an engraving on the following page.

This engraving is the work of MISS CHARLOTTE BROOME COGSWELL, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who for some years has been a teacher in drawing and engraving in that city and in New York. She is a lineal descendant of John Cogswell in the eighth generation. Miss Cogswell visited Essex, Mass., in 1882, made a sketch of the Cogswell homestead, and on her return completed the engraving with her own hands.

It appears that John Cogswell was the third original settler in that part of Ipswich which is now Essex, Mass. His comparative wealth, intelligence, and piety gave him an acknowledged prominence in the town and church. On the records of Ipswich his name often appears. It is uniformly distinguished by the appellation of Mr., which in those days was an honorary title given to but few, who were gentlemen of some distinction. There were only about thirty of the three hundred and thirty-five original settlers of Ipswich who received this honor.

Very soon after his arrival, March 3, 1636, by an act of the Court, John Cogswell was admitted freeman, to which privileges none were admitted prior to 1664 except respectable members of some Christian church. To freemen alone were the civil rights to vote for rulers and to hold public office.

For several years Mr. Cogswell and family lived in the log-house with its thatched roof, while many of their goods remained stored in boxes, awaiting some better accommodations. It is said there were pieces of carved furniture, embroidered curtains, damask table linen, much silver plate; and that there was a Turkey carpet is well attested. As soon as practicable Mr. Cogswell put up a framed house. This stood a little back from the highway, and was approached by walks through bounds of shrubbery and flowers. There is an English shrub still, 1884, enjoying a thrifty life, which stands not far from the site of the old Cogswell manor. This shrub, tradition says, John Cogswell brought with him from England in 1635. Among other relics of their ancestor still treasured by his descendants are articles of personal attire and ornament. A quaint mirror and many other curious things are in the possession of Messrs. Albert and Jonathan Cogswell, brothers, who occupy the ancient Cogswell house in Essex. Mrs. Mary (Cogswell) Choate had the old clock which struck off the time for John and Elizabeth Cogswell two centuries and a half ago. Not long since, Mrs. Aaron Cogswell, of Ipswich, had in her possession, it is said, the famous coat of arms which has been widely copied in the family. This is described as "wrought most exquisitely with silk on heavy satin." A few years ago, a stranger borrowed the curious relic of this too obliging lady, and, like the jewels of the Egyptians, borrowed by the Israelites, it was never returned. As a matter of family interest, although purely traditional and not found anywhere recorded, a fac-simile of this Cogswell escutcheon is here inserted.

"This Arms appertaineth to the Name of Cogswell, being first granted to LORD HUMPFREY COGSWELL of England in the year 1447, from whom it descends to the ancient FAMILY OF COGSWELLS."

For some years after the completion of their new dwelling-house Mr. and Mrs. Cogswell lived to enjoy their pleasant home, surrounded by their children, well settled, some of them on farms near by, made of lands deeded to them by their now aged parents. There is found this record: "Nov. 1651, John Cogswell and Elizabeth, his wife, gave to William Cogswell, their son, a deed of land on the south east side of Chebacco River." At the same date was given a dwelling-house at Chebacco Falls to his son-in-law, Cornelius Waldo. By these and other similar gifts Mr. Cogswell distributed much of his property among his children, while living. The time came at length, after a life of change, adventure, and hardship, yet of piety, respectability, and divine blessing, and Mr. Cogswell died Nov. 29, 1669, at the age of seventy-seven years. The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Hubbard, then pastor in Ipswich, and since known as "The historian of New England." The funeral procession traversed a distance of five miles to the place of burial. They moved under an escort of armed men, as a protection against the possible attack of the Indians. He was buried in the Old North graveyard of the First Church, but the exact spot is unknown.

Mrs. Cogswell survived her husband but a few years. She died June 2, 1676. The record that remains of her is: "She was a woman of sterling qualities and dearly beloved by all who knew her." Side by side in the old churchyard in Ipswich have slept for more than two hundred years the mortal remains of this godly pair, whose childhood was passed near the banks of the river Avon; who, leaving behind the tender associations of the Old World, came with their children to aid in rearing on these shores a pure Christian state. They did a greater work than they knew, and died in the faith of the Gospel; and while their graves are unmarked by monument of stone, their souls are safe forever in Heaven, their memory blessed, and their names honored by a posterity in numbers hardly second to that of Abraham.

Memoranda.

THE DAUGHTER of John Cogswell, whose name is not given, who remained in London, and doubtless their oldest child, never came to America, so far as is known. Her brother, John Cogswell² [4], who went back to England in 1652, and died Sept. 27, 1653, on the return passage to America, visited her in London. He made mention in his letter to his parents of his sister and her two children, but gave no names.

EDWARD COGSWELL, the youngest son, is not named in his father's will. He probably died in early life; although some say there is mention of him made in 1670 and in 1676.

The inventory of John Cogswell's estate by the appraisers, John Burnham and William Haskale, made Dec. 27, 1660, was £115 19s.

William Thompson, son of the Rev. Samuel Thompson, D. D., of London, lived for sixteen years with his uncle and aunt Cogswell in Ipswich, Mass.

Samuel Haines, the superintendent of Mr. Cogswell's farm, became Dea. Samuel Haines, of First Church, Portsmouth, N. H. He was the ancestor of ANDREW MACK HAINES, Esq., of Galena Ill., to whom this volume is greatly indebted for many facts concerning the Cogswells in America and in England.

SECOND GENERATION.

MARY COGSWELL.

Genealogical.

MARY COGSWELL, (*John*¹), daughter of John¹ [11] and Elizabeth (Thompson) Cogswell, was born in Westbury Leigh, County of Wilts, England. She married, 1649, Godfrey Armitage. They resided in Boston, Mass.

THEIR SON WAS:

Samuel, b. April, 1651.

Biographical.

GODFREY ARMITAGE was of Lynn in 1630. He was the son or brother of Thomas Armitage, who came over in the ship "James" in 1635. He was a tailor, and afterwards a merchant. Mrs. Sarah Armitage was his first wife. They had two children, viz., Samuel and Rebecca; Samuel, born Oct. 7, 1645, died in childhood. Mr. Armitage was made freeman March 14, 1639, in Boston, Mass. Mention is made of him in the letter of John² Cogswell, written to his parents March, 1653, from London. Mr. Armitage appears a man of ample means. He was one of the executors named in John² Cogswell's will. Mrs. Mary (Cogswell) Armitage may have been the Mary Cogswell who was in the family of Gov. Bellingham, and joined the Boston Church, Aug. 29, 1647. Mrs. Armitage made a deposition April 5, 1677, in the case of Cogswell vs. Cogswell. The date of her death is unknown.

Memoranda.

In 1671 Samuel Armitage, of Boston, a sergeant, received £10 a year for carrying the halberd. This was probably the son of Godfrey and Mary (Cogswell) Armitage. There was an "Esther Cogswell deceased at Godfrey Armitage's house, 7—5—55." This, perhaps, was a child of Mr. and Mrs. Armitage, named Esther Cogswell, who died in childhood.

WILLIAM COGSWELL.

Biographical.

WILLIAM COGSWELL was the eldest son of John and Elizabeth Cogswell. The record of his baptism in the Westbury register reads: "1619 Will. fil. John Cogswell, March." Hence he was sixteen years of age at the time he came with his parents to America in 1635, and about thirty when he was married. He settled on the home place, and lived in a house that then stood a little to the north of the site now occupied by the ancient Cogswell house already mentioned. Mr. William Cogswell possessed many of the traits of his father. He was a man of Christian character, and one of the most influential citizens in that part of Ipswich. It was largely by his efforts that the Gospel ministry was established in Chebacco. The first meeting for consultation on this subject was held at his house Feb., 167 $\frac{6}{7}$, and a petition to the town was the result, asking the "liberty to call a minister to preach among themselves." This not being granted, Mr. Cogswell was chosen chairman of a committee of three to confer with the selectmen in regard to this matter. After two years of opposition, several appeals to the General Court, and determination to accomplish this end, at last, May 5, 1679, the Parish of Chebacco was established. Mr. Cogswell gave the land on which to erect a meeting-house, a lot thirteen rods by three. This first meeting-house in Chebacco stood on what was long known as Meeting-house Hill. The site in 1868 was occupied by the residence of Capt. Joseph Choate. The meeting-house was dedicated April, 1680. Mr. Cogswell entertained at his house the Ecclesiastical Council, that met Aug. 12, 1683, to organize the church and to ordain Mr. John Wise, their first pastor.

Rev. Robert Crowell, D. D., in his "History of Essex," mentions William Cogswell as the leading man in establishing the parish and the church and in building the meeting-house. He was often chosen on the board of selectmen of the town and the moderator of parish meetings. In 1693 the parish committee on the assignment of seats in the meeting-house, after the manner of those quaint days, gave Mrs. Cogswell a seat with the minister's wife, which was significant of her respectability.

Mr. Cogswell, in his will, dated Aug. 5, 1696, states that his wife is deceased, and mentions his four sons and four daughters. To the former he bequeaths all his landed estate, and to the latter all his personal property. One of his daughters, Ann, had previously died. Mr. Cogswell died at the age of eighty-one years, Dec. 15, 1700. His burial occurred Dec. 17 following. A town meeting notified for that day was adjourned, "to give opportunity for citizens to attend Mr. Cogswell's funeral."

Memoranda.

THE WILL OF WILLIAM² COGSWELL was proved Dec. 19, 1700. Elizabeth Wade, Thomas Burnham, Benjamin White, and William Noyes gave receipts for their proportion of the estate, Dec. 23, 1700. William Cogswell was a subscriber to "Denison's Compensation" in 1648; a commoner in 1664; a surveyor of public ways in 1663; a tithingman in 1677; and a voter in town affairs in 1679. At a parish meeting, Aug., 1693, it was voted that two short seats in the meeting-house be given to William Cogswell and his heirs, in consideration of the land he had given on which the meeting-house was erected, upon his securing the same to them by deed.

Mrs. Cogswell's parents are mentioned in 1634 as members of the First Church in Charlestown, Mass., where she was born in 1633. She had a twin brother, John Hawkes. Moses Hawkes, son of John, married Margaret Cogswell, daughter of John and Margaret (Gifford) Cogswell. Mercy Hawkes, a daughter of John Hawkes, married Nathaniel Goodhue. In 1775-7 occurred a famous lawsuit between William² and his nephew, John³ Cogswell.

THE CASE OF COGSWELL vs. COGSWELL, 1675-7.

William Cogswell and his father, John Cogswell, were "Executors of Estate of John Cogswell, deceased. Inventory £341 10s. od., with the desperate debts and a lease of a 1000 years being part. Gave £200 bonds. In 1664 they brought in account to the court in Ipswich to the full of the estate, and were discharged by the court."

In the year 1675 William Cogswell was sued by John Cogswell, his nephew, son and heir of John² Cogswell, deceased, for an account of the estate of his late father probated. His uncle, William Cogswell, had been discharged by the court in 1664, and did not propose to give an account. On reference to the clerk of the court the original account could not be found, so that said William Cogswell was in a strait. The court would not give further time, and passed judgment of £54 18s. od. to the plaintiff, i. e., John³ Cogswell, with costs. Wil-

William Cogswell appealed to the next court, which confirmed the sentence, and bound the defendant to the sum of £300 to give a just and full account. The account was delivered to John, who claimed that it was false. It was therefore rejected, and suit against William was entered at Salem, Jan., 1676, which brought in judgment of £300 against the defendant; from which, appeal was made to the court in Boston. This court reversed the judgment, Sept., 1676, and brought costs of court, £13 4s., against John Cogswell. John did not pay these charges, but in Oct., 1676, delivered his person to the marshal; and in the same October petitioned the General Court, pleading his sad condition and inability, and asked another hearing. The court ordered him to liberty, and granted him a hearing, to which William was summoned. The whole case was heard over again, May 29, 1677. The conclusion was that the plaintiff had to pay the judgment rendered, £13 4s. Thus ended the historic case of Cogswell vs. Cogswell.

DEPOSITIONS IN THE CASE OF COGSWELL vs. COGSWELL, ON RECORD, 1676-7.

DEPOSITION OF WILLIAM TARBOX, SEN., aged sixty-two years or thereabouts. This deponent testifieth and saith: "That in the year of our Lord 1635, I, the said deponent, did come in the ship called the 'Angel Gabriel,' along with Mr. John Cogswell, Senior, from Old England, and we were cast ashore at Pemaquid; and I do remember that there were saved casks, both of dry goods & provisions, which were marked with Mr. Cogswell, Senior's, mark; and that there was saved a tent of Mr. Cogswell's, which he had set up at Pemaquid, and lived in it with the goods that he saved from the wreck, and afterwards Mr. Cogswell removed to Ipswich; and in November, after the ship was cast away, I, the said deponent, came to Ipswich, and found Mr. Cogswell, Senior, living there, and hired myself with him for one year. I, the said deponent, do well remember that there were several feather beds, and I together with Deacon Haines, as servants, lay together on one of them; and there were several dozen of pewter platters, and that there were several brass pans, besides other pieces of pewter and other household goods, as iron work and other necessaries for house keeping, then in the house there; and I, the said deponent, do further testify that there were two mares and two cows brought over in another ship, which were landed safe ashore, and were kept at Misticke till Mr. Cogswell had them. I do further testify that my master, John Cogswell, Sen., had three sons which came over along with us in the ship called the 'Angel Gabriel.' The eldest son's name was William, and he was about 14 years; and the second son was called John, and he was about 12 years of age then; and the 3^d son's name was Edward, who was about 6 years of age at that time; and further said not."

"William Tarbox then came and made oath to all the above written, the first day of Xber, 1676.

Before me, RICHARD MARTYN, Comm."

THE DEPOSITION OF SAMUEL HAINES, now aged sixty-five years or thereabouts. This deponent testifieth and saith: "That I lived with Mr. John Cogswell, Sen., in Old England about three years, a servant with him, and came over along with him to New England in the ship called the 'Angel Gabriel,' and was present with him when my Master Cogswell suffered shipwreck at Pemaquid, which was about forty years ago the last August when the ship was cast away. I, the said Haines, do remember that there were saved of my master's goods a good quantity of good household goods, both feather beds & bedding, and also a good quantity of brass and pewter, and also several pieces of plate; and to the best of my remembrance of this brass, there were several brass pans. Furthermore, I do remember that my master had a Turkey worked carpet in Old England, which he commonly used to lay upon his parlour table, and this carpet was put aboard among my master's goods, and came safe ashore, to the best of my remembrance: all which goods, together with some provisions which were saved then, good-man Gallup brought to Ipswich in his bark for my master, except some of them which the vessel could not hold; and I, the said deponent, came along with him in the vessel from Pemaquid, and lived with my Master Cogswell at Ipswich the same year following; and, also, I do remember that my master had two mares and two cows, which were shipped aboard a ship at South Hampton in Old England, and came safe ashore to New England that same summer as we came here, and were delivered to my master. I do further testify that about four years after that I lived with my master in Ipswich; that I went to Old England, and when I returned again, which was about a year and a half after, I brought over for the use of my Master Cogswell between four score and one hundred pounds' worth of goods in several particulars, which were delivered to him; and, furthermore, I do very well remember that my Master Cogswell had 3 sons which came over along with us in the aforesaid ship. The eldest son's name was William, who was about fourteen years of age then; and the 2nd son was called John, who was about twelve years of age then; and the third son's name was Edward, who was about six years of age at that time; and further saith not."

"Samuel Haines, Sen., came and made oath to all the above written, the first day of December, 1676. Before me, RICHARD MARTYN, Comm."

THE DEPOSITION OF MARY ARMITAGE, daughter of John Cogswell, Sen., deceased, aged about fifty-eight years, saith: "I, coming from Auld England with my father in the ship called the 'Angel Gabriel.' My father put a good estate into that ship, which by God's providence was cast away at Pemequid in this country, and there lost a considerable part of his estate; yet it pleased God that some part of his estate was preserved at the time of the ship-rack. There were saved several beds & bedding, tow suits of curtains & vallise, one sute green & the other sute green & red. There was saved table lining, both draper and damask, and also a Turkey work carpit, which was my father's carpit of his father's parter table in Auld England, & this carpit was in my father Cogswell's possession unto his dying day, & I heard it was prized in my father's inventory. There was also saved several pieces of plate and several dozens of pewter platters, & also several brass pans & som iron vessels, & also several sorts of provisions. These things I doe perfectly remember was saved, & my father went to Boston from Pemequid & hired auld Goodman Gallup with his bark, & he came to Pemequid and brought my father's family & goods & provisions & tent to Ipswich, only some of my father's goods the bark could not bring, which goods was brought in another vessel; & also, I testify that my brother, John Cogswell, deceased, had but one fether-bed, as ever I heard of; & I never heard of but five pewter platters & two brass kettles; & I never knew that my brother, Jno. Cogswell, had any brass pans; & I never heard that my brother John had ever any Turkey made carpit; & I doe believe that he never had such a carpit."

"Taken upon oath, April 5, 1677. Before me, EDWARD TYNG, Assistant."

1677.

THE DEPOSITION OF WILLIAM THOMPSON, aged about twenty-eight years, testifieth: "That I lived with my Uncle & Aunt, Mr. John Cogswell, Sen., of Ipswich, and Mrs. Cogswell, about 16 years, & I did frequently see a Turkie-work carpet which they had, and I have heard them say that it was theirs in Old England, and used to lie upon their parlor table there, and that they brought it with them into this country when they came; and being this last winter in Old England, I heard my father, Doctor Samuel Thompson, say that he did well remember that my Uncle & Aunt had a Turkie-work carpet, which used to lye upon their parlor table in Old England, and took it away with them."

"May 26, 1677."

JOHN COGSWELL.

Genealogical.

JOHN² COGSWELL, (*John*¹), son of John¹ [1] and Elizabeth (Thompson) Cogswell, was born 1622, in Westbury Leigh, County of Wilts, England. Mr. and Mrs. Cogswell resided in Chebacco, Ipswich, Mass. Mrs. Cogswell died in 1652. Mr. Cogswell died Sept. 27, 1653.

THEIR CHILDREN WERE:

ELIZABETH, [20] b. 1648; m. Abraham Wellman; d. May 10, 1736.

JOHN, [21] b. 1650; m. July 22, 1674, Margaret Gifford; d. 1724.

SAMUEL, [22] b. 1651; m. Oct. 27, 1668, Susanna Haven.

Biographical.

JOHN² COGSWELL is found on record in the Westbury register: "1622, Johannes Cogswell, filius Johannes Cogswell, baptizatus fuit 25 July." Subsequent to his marriage, Mr. Cogswell devoted himself to farming. In 1651 he leased of the feoffees of the Ipswich Grammar School certain lands called "The Neck," now known as "Jefferies Neck," for nine hundred and ninety-nine years, in consideration of an annuity of £14; i. e., "£4 in Butter and cheese, £5 in pork and Beef, and £5 in Corn, at the current prices."

Shortly his wife died, leaving three children, the youngest a year old. Mr. Cogswell was much broken by the affliction, and his health being poor, he arranged with his sister, Mrs. Waldo, to care for his little ones, constituted his father and older brother, William, their legal guardians, made his will, and sailed for England in the fall of 1652. He arrived in London, visited his sister and other friends, attended to matters of business, and when about to embark for home he wrote a touching and affectionate letter to his parents, which was dated London, March 30, 1653. A copy of this letter and also a copy of his will are found on a following page.

Early in the autumn of 1653 Mr. Cogswell started on his return to America, but died on the passage, Sept. 27, 1653, at the age of thirty years. His orphaned children were brought up among his friends, their uncle William acting as their guardian. The amount of property left by their father, as by schedule of inventory, was £341 10s. This was expended in the care and education of the three children.

Memoranda.COPY OF THE WILL OF JOHN² COGSWELL.

DATED DEC. 13, 1652.

"I, John Cogswell, of Ipswich, being bound for England, upon due consideration moving me to it, have made my father and my brother, William Cogswell, and my Brother Armitage, Executors in trust, and Mr. Nathaniel Rogers, Overseers, to order and dispose of my children and Estate as far as they shall see fit to be for my good; to pay my debts, and to buy and sell with my Estate for my use; and if it should please God so to order it by his Providence that I come no more there, to take the care of my children and breed them up in the fear of God and to learning; and if any one of them be capable of being good Scholar, then I would have him brought up to it, and the other to be bound Prentice at ten years old to a Godly, honest man, where he may be well brought up and know how to husbandry affairs & yt money that should have been laid out on him to be put to increase against he is 21 years old.

"And my daughter Elizabeth I desire that she may be bred at school untill she is fourteen years old, and then to goe to service and earne her living, and not allowes anything toward their maintenance after they are at service; and if I should (not) come again, I would entrete you to make the most of all my goods, to sell it and buy young cattle with it, and to sett out my farme in parcells or what way you shall see best to make the most of it untill my sons be twenty-one years old; and then my farmes and goods yt is then left to be equally divided between my three children, the land to my two sons, two parts to John and one part to Samuel, and to my daughter Elizabeth a portion of money, according to proportion, viz., one part in four less than my sonne Samuel; provided, if my daughter should be married before (21) years old, that she should have her portion, as neer as it can be cast up, to be paid to her at her marriage day; and also my sonns to have their portions delivered to them at twenty-one years old. Whereto I sit my hand this 13th of December, 1652.

JOHN COGSWELL, JUNIOR."

"This I testify, that before me John Cogswell, Junior, his departing into England, tould me he had or would make his will, and had made his father, his brother Wm., and his brother Armitage his Executors; and, further, I doe believe it to be his own hand writing.

ROBERT LORD."

"I, Cornelius Waldo, testify the same."

"And it was accepted and allowed in Court, held at Ipswich, to be the will of John Cogswell, the 30 Sept., 1653.

ROBERT LORD, Clerk."

"Vera copia out of the original on file. Attest: ROBERT LORD, Clerk."

A COPY OF JOHN² COGSWELL'S LETTER.

"LONDON, THIS 30TH OF MARCH, 1653.

"Most loving father and mother, I having an opportunity to send to New England could not but write to you, to certify to you that I am thro' God's goodness to safe arrived in England, & have had my health well, & my friends are in general well. My sister hath 2 children. I am as yet unmarried, & little hopes I have to marry here; but I intend to make haste over to New England, with some servants, as fast as I can. My condition at present is very low, & I am in great straits. The Lord in mercy help me. Mr. Deane hath dealt kindly with me, hath taken bond of me to receive for £84 here, £100 in Boston. I pray, father, will you be assistant to my brother William, & both to my brother Armitage, in the payment of this £100; for I have written to my brother Armitage to pay it for me, because he lives in Boston. I have not as yet agreed with my cousin Stevens nor Mr. Goade. I owe them £53, besides interest. I pray, father & mother & brother William, be careful of the little corne, cattle, goods, & my house & land, that it be not forfeited; for I am in a very low & sad condition here, & have nothing to pay my debts withall, nor to maintain my poore, motherless children withall, but what is in your hands. I pray you will have a fatherly & motherly care of my dear, motherless babes, & at present fatherless. I have been with my brother Waldo's friends; his mother lives in Berwick; his Uncle John is dead; his brother Thomas is in Ireland, & his Uncle Barrow is dead; the rest are in health. I pray be earnest with my sister Waldo to be loving & tender to my three babes, for she knows not how soon hers may be left to the wide world. I would have Jno. & Elizabeth goe to school this summer. Thus on my knees, craving your prayers to God for me in my undertaking, that I may be brought safe to you again, remembering my duty to you both; my love to my 3 children, & to my brothers & sisters & cousins, with my service to Mr. Rogers & Mr. Morton; my love to goodmen Lords; my respects to all my friends. Humbly craving all your prayers, I commit you all to God. I rest your obedient son, very loving father & brother & friend & servant,

“This letter I wrote in great haste.”

JOHN COGSWELL.

Addressed: “To My very loving Father, Mr. John Cogswell. At his house in Ipswich. These be in Essex.”

“This is a true copy of a letter that my brother, John Cogswell, sent to my father from London, the 30th March, 1653.”

Cornelius, } m. Mrs. Faith (Peck) Jackson.

Deborah, b. Jan. 14, 1661.

Rebecca, b. Jan. 28, 1662; m. 1695 or 1697, Edward Emerson.

Judith, b. July 12, 1664.

Mary, b. Sept. 9, 1665. She died in infancy, Nov. 25, 1665.

Biographical.

CORNELIUS WALDO, it is claimed, was in the line of descent from Peter Waldo, a merchant of Lyons, who lived in the twelfth century and became the founder of the Waldenses, who occupied the valley of Piedmont, to which Peter Waldo had retired. These Waldenses were distinguished both for their industrious, upright, Christian lives and for the cruel persecutions they suffered. That Cornelius was a descendant of Peter Waldo is not improbable.

Mr. Waldo first appears upon the town records in this entry: “Cornelius Waldo, John Cogswell’s farmer.” And so John Cogswell’s farmer aspired to and won the hand of John Cogswell’s daughter Hannah. About the time of their marriage, Dea. Waldo purchased a house of “Richard Betts, of Ipswich, and Joanna his wife, of Ipswich, in County of Essex, for and y^m consideration of thirty pounds, this 14th of Sept., 1652." This house is on High Street, and one of the oldest in Ipswich. It is still standing, 1883, being more than two hundred and thirty years old. For an engraving of this ancient dwelling, known as "The Old Waldo House," vid. "IPSWICH ANTIQUARIAN PAPERS" for March, 1880. Aug. 31, 1654, Dea. Waldo sold this house, in consideration of £26, to John Caldwell, whose descendants still own it, although it has passed out of the name.

In that part of Ipswich which is now Wenham, Rev. John Fiske early gathered a church, of which he became the pastor, Oct. 8, 1644. Of this church Cornelius Waldo was one of the first deacons. In May, 1657, Rev. Mr. Fiske, with the greater part of his church, removed to the new town of Chelmsford. Dea. Waldo and family removed with them, and continued in the office of deacon of the church in its new settlement, Rev. Mr. Fiske remaining the minister for some twenty years after the removal. Dea. Waldo had a farm, a store, and in later life he kept a tavern. His license as an innkeeper was dated May 9, 1690. It was granted in consideration of his not allowing "cards, a dice table, bowles, ninepins, billiards, or any other unlawful game." He lived to good age; his death occurred June 3, 1701. Mrs. Hannah (Cogswell) Waldo was the ancestress of Ralph Waldo Emerson. The time of her death is unknown.

Memoranda.

Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Brackett resided in Billerica, Mass.

Susanna Adams, the wife of Daniel Waldo, was a daughter of Capt. Samuel and Rebecca (Graves) Adams, and a sister of Rebecca Adams, the wife of John Waldo. Capt. Samuel Adams was a descendant of Henry Adams, who was of the same ancestry as the two Presidents, and the Revolutionary father, Samuel Adams. Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Waldo had four children: Bethiah, b. Aug. 20, 1688; Rebecca, b. Feb. 5, 1693; Sarah, b. Feb. 10, 1695; and Esther, b. Jan. 3, 1698.

Mr. and Mrs. John Waldo removed to Windham, Conn., in 1698, where he died in 1700. They had five children, viz.: Shubael, John, Edward, b. April 23, 1684, Catharine, Rebecca, b. Aug. 6, 1686.

Cornelius Waldo, twin brother of John, lived in Dunstable, Mass. He was one of the founders of the church in that town, which was organized Dec. 16, 1685. He represented the town, 1689. He married Mrs. Faith Jackson, née Peck, widow of Jeremiah Jackson. In later life they lived in Lancaster, and afterwards in Boston, Mass.

Rebecca Waldo, the fourth daughter of Dea. Cornelius and Hannah (Cogswell) Waldo, married Edward Emerson, son of Rev. Joseph and Elizabeth (Bulkeley) Emerson, of Concord, Mass. They were the ancestors of RALPH WALDO EMERSON, LL. D., who was born in Boston, Mass., May 25, 1803, and died April 27, 1882, in Concord, Mass. Edward and Rebecca (Waldo) Emerson had a son, Rev. Joseph Emerson, who was pastor of Malden, 1721, to his death, July 13, 1797. Rev. Joseph and Mary (Moody) Emerson had three sons, ministers, Joseph, William, and John.

RALPH WALDO EMERSON, son of Rev. William Emerson, descended from Rev. Peter Bulkeley, of Woodhill, in Bedfordshire England. This Puritan minister, unwilling to obey the bishops of Charles I., emigrated to Massachusetts in 1631 with several of his English flock, and in company with Major Simon Willard, a Kentishman, planted the town of Concord, Mass., Sept., 1635. He was the first minister of the church there, and at his death, in 1659, transmitted his office to his son, Edward Bulkeley, whose daughter Elizabeth, born in Concord, 1638, married Rev. Joseph Emerson in 1665, and became the mother of a long line of ministers by the name of Emerson. Her son, Edward Emerson, born 1670 in Concord, who married, 1697, Rebecca Waldo, of Chelmsford, descended from Thomas Emerson, the first American ancestor, who came from Durham, England, and descended from Ralph Emerson, in the County Palatine, who in 1535 received from Henry VIII. a grant of heraldic arms, which the family of Mr. Emerson have inherited. Edward Emerson was a cousin of Martha Emerson, who married William Cogswell, the cousin of Rebecca Waldo. From Rebecca Waldo, Mr. Emerson derived his middle name and his descent from JOHN COGSWELL, [I] of Ipswich, Mass. The eminence of Ralph Waldo Emerson, LL. D., as a scholar, writer, and lecturer, is acknowledged in Europe and America. The portrait of this distinguished man appears on the foregoing page.

Rev. Cresson.

Ezra Waldo, of Tolland, was a great-grandson of Dea. Cornelius and Hannah (Cogswell) Waldo.

*Daniel Waldo*⁵ (Zachariah⁴, Edward³, John², Cornelius¹) was born 1762, in Connecticut. In early manhood he was a Revolutionary soldier; taken prisoner at Horse Neck, and confined in the sugar-house in New York, where he was treated with great cruelty. He graduated from Yale College, class of 1788; was pastor of Congregational Church in West Suffolk, Conn., 1792-1809. He was a missionary in Pennsylvania and New York; was settled in Cambridgeport and Harvard, Mass., and for twelve years in Exeter, R. I. He was Chaplain of the United States House of Representatives in 1855, at the age of ninety-three years. He died in 1864, at the age of one hundred and two years. It is said, he shortened his days by falling down-stairs.

Samuel Waldo was born 1783, in Connecticut. He studied in Hartford, Conn., and afterwards in London, England. He was a friend of Copley and West, and gained some reputation as a portrait painter. He returned to New York, where he continued in the practice of his profession until his death, in 1861.

Samuel Waldo obtained of George II. the Waldo Patent, and first settled, in 1748, a place fifty miles from Portland, on the Muscongus Bay, at the mouth of the Muscongus River, Lincoln Co., Me., which was incorporated 1773 under the name Waldoborough, in honor of its first settler. A town, 1883, of some 4,000 people.

HON. LOREN PINCKNEY WALDO.

LOREN PINCKNEY⁷ WALDO, (*Ebenezer*⁶, *Zachariah*⁵, *Edward*⁴, *Edward*³, *John*², *Cornelius*¹, and HANNAH (COGSWELL) WALDO), son of Ebenezer⁶ and Cynthia (Parish) Waldo, was born Feb. 2, 1802, in Canterbury, Windham Co., Conn. He married, Nov. 22, 1825, Frances Elizabeth Eldridge, daughter of William and Elizabeth (Avery) Eldridge. She was born Dec. 10, 1806, in New London, Conn. They resided after marriage five years in Somers; but in 1830 removed to Tolland, Conn., where they remained until 1863, when they removed to Hartford, Conn. Hon. Loren P. Waldo died Sept. 8, 1881. Mrs. Frances E. Waldo died March 29, 1874.

THEIR CHILDREN WERE:

Ebenezer, b. March 9, 1827. He died in childhood, March 19, 1833.

Cynthia Paulina, b. Oct. 25, 1836; m. Dec. 25, 1866, Edwin E. Marvin, Esq.

Loren P. Waldo was admitted to the bar at the age of twenty-three, in 1825. He was elected to the State Assembly of Connecticut in 1832-34, 1839, and 1847-8. Chosen a member of the thirty-first Congress, 1849, he was made chairman of Committee on Revolutionary Pensions. He was Judge of the Supreme Court of Connecticut eight years, 1855 to 1863, and filled various other public offices. Prior to his death he had been for some years a resident of Hartford, Conn., where his two surviving daughters, Mrs. Hyde and Mrs. Marvin, reside. There has been published for the family friends an appropriate volume, "IN MEMORIAM OF

HON. LOREN PINCKNEY WALDO AND HIS WIFE, MRS. FRANCES ELIZABETH (ELDRIDGE) WALDO."

Judge Waldo's mother was Mrs. Cynthia (Parish) Waldo, daughter of Lemuel and Zeruiah (Smith) Parish. She was born Feb. 19, 1770, in Canterbury, Conn. Mrs. Waldo's grandfather was Charles Eldridge, who was severely wounded in the massacre of Fort Griswold, Sept. 6, 1781; and her mother was the daughter of Capt. Elijah Avery, who was slain in the same massacre.

Samuel.

Susanna, b. Feb. 20, 1692.

Biographical.

Thomas Wade inherited large wealth. He was the Town Clerk of Ipswich, Justice of the General Sessions Court, and Colonel of Middle Essex Regiment. Col. Wade was under orders of Lieut.-Gov. Stoughton to muster his regiment against the French and Indians. He was made freeman in 1682. He died in early life. The record is made, "When he fell, Death had a shining mark."

Memoranda.

Susanna Wade, sister of Col. Thomas Wade, married William Symonds, son of Deputy-Gov. Samuel Symonds.

Thomas and Elizabeth (Thornton) Wade had seven children. Their third child was Timothy Wade, who married Ruth Woodbury, of Beverly. He was Captain of the militia.

Capt. Thomas Wade was the father of Col. Nathaniel Wade of the Revolution. This Col. Nathaniel Wade was a personal friend of Washington and Lafayette. He was a grandson of Col. Thomas and Elizabeth (Cogswell) Wade. Elizabeth Wade, a daughter of Capt. Thomas Wade, and granddaughter of Col. Thomas and Elizabeth (Cogswell) Wade, married Benjamin Appleton, Esq., son of John and Elizabeth Appleton, who was born Nov. 14, 1702, and died Feb. 12, 1731. He left daughters, Elizabeth, Mary, and Sarah. Mrs. Appleton, widow of Benjamin, married, March 13, 1735, William¹ Cogswell [39]; and her daughter, Mary Appleton, married Jonathan Cogswell [119].

John Wade graduated in 1693 from Harvard College. He became a minister, and was ordained pastor of the church in Berwick, Me., Nov., 1702, but died the following year, "much esteemed for his talents, piety, and usefulness."

William Wade "died at sea, being kild in fight by a Frenchman, April 3, 1697."

Nathaniel Wade, the next younger son, was drowned at sea, in 1702.

HESTER COGSWELL.

Genealogical.

HESTER³ COGSWELL, (*William*², *John*¹), daughter of William [3] and Susanna (Hawkes) Cogswell, was born in Chebacco, Ipswich, Mass. She married, Aug. 24, 1675, ¹*Samuel Bishop*, son of Thomas and Margaret Bishop. He was born in 1645. They resided in Ipswich, Mass., their house fronting on Meeting-house Green. Mr. Bishop died in 1685. MRS. BISHOP married, Dec. 16, 1689, ²*Thomas Burnham*, who was a widower, son of John and Elizabeth Burnham. He was born in 1646.

CHILDREN OF THE SECOND MARRIAGE WERE:

Susanna, b. Jan. 29, 1693. Thomas, b. Feb. 12, 1694. Benjamin, b. Dec. 21, 1696.

Memoranda.

Thomas Bishop, father of Samuel Bishop, left an estate of £5,000. Mr. Samuel Bishop, with other gentlemen of Ipswich, invested largely in the purchase of land in a part of Norwich, now Lisbon, Conn. To these lands his sons subsequently removed and settled. Some time after Mrs. Bishop married Mr. Burnham, Jan., 1704, she represented to the Judge of Probate that the property left her by her late husband, i. e., Bishop, was "litell a noufe to in able me to bring up five or six small children. There being something of land belonging to my children, I request your Honor to grant administration to my eldest son, Samuel Bishop." This land referred to was doubtless in Norwich, Conn.

Ichabod Griggs, husband of Margaret Bishop, was the son of Joseph and Alice (Crafts)

Griggs, of Brookline (Muddy River), then part of Boston. He was born Sept. 28, 1665. They lived in Roxbury, Mass. He was a farmer. She joined the church in Roxbury, 1707, and Mr. Griggs in 1716. He died April 21, 1718. They had nine children. Their youngest was Ichabod, born March 18, 1718. He settled in Norwich, Conn. After the birth of his oldest son, Joshua, Jan. 8, 1743, he removed to Tolland, Conn., became a deacon in the church, and died May 9, 1790. From Dea. Ichabod Griggs of Tolland, the youngest son of Ichabod and Margaret (Bishop) Griggs, descended the Rev. Leverett Griggs, D. D., of Bristol, Conn.

Samuel Bishop, who married Sarah Forbes, settled in Norwich, Conn. His wife died March 13, 1753. Capt. Samuel Bishop died Nov. 17, 1760, aged ninety-two years. Their children were: Thomas, b. Nov. 14, 1706; Samuel, b. Feb. 13, 1709; m. Abigail Corning; d. Feb. 13, 1790; Sarah; Esther, b. Jan. 1, 1712; m. Oct. 7, 1731, ¹James Tyler, Jr.; m. Dec. 6, 1738, ²Jonathan Rudd; Caleb, b. March 16, 1715; m. ¹Kezia Hebard; m. ²—; d. Jan. 28, 1786; Joshua, b. June, 1717; m. Deborah Reynolds; Sarah, b. March, 1719; m. ¹— Brown; m. ²— Bushnell; Elizabeth, b. Jan. 5, 1721; Hannah, b. Aug. 2, 1722; m. Matthew Perkins; d. Oct. 28, 1809; Ebenezer, b. Nov. 26, 1725; m. June 17, 1762, Tabitha Strong; d. Jan. 6, 1791; Susanna, b. 1727; m. — Tracy.

Hester Bishop, who married Aaron Burnham, lived in Newent, and afterwards in Windham, Conn. Mr. Burnham followed the seas. He died Aug. 18, 1727. They were both members of the church.

Thomas Bishop probably died in infancy.

John Bishop's first wife died Nov. 17, 1724. Children of his second marriage were: Temperance, m. Nov. 12, 1761, Capt. David Holmes, M. D.; John, b. Oct. 15, 1735; Zeruah, m. Nov. 26, 1766, Bildad Curtis. Capt. David Holmes m. Feb. 17, 1754, ¹Mary Cabot, daughter of Rev. Marston and Mary Dwight Cabot. Their children were: Abigail, Marston, and David. Capt. Holmes, commanded troops, serving in Canada in 1756, and subsequently was Surgeon in the Continental army.

Temperance Bishop, daughter of John and ²Temperance (Lathrop) Bishop, became the second wife of Capt. David Holmes, M. D., of Woodstock, Conn., and was the mother of Rev. Abiel Holmes, D. D., of Cambridge, Mass., who was the father of Prof. O. W. Holmes, M. D., and the grandfather of Hon. O. W. Holmes, Jr., lately, 1883, appointed Justice of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts. DR. HOLMES is a lineal descendant of JOHN¹ COGSWELL [1], since the great-granddaughter of William² Cogswell [3], Temperance Bishop, married his grandfather, Capt. David Holmes, M. D.

Rev. Abiel Holmes, D. D., son of Capt. David and Temperance (Bishop) Holmes, was born Dec. 24, 1763; graduated from Yale College in 1783, where he was tutor; became pastor in Midway, Ga., Nov., 1785; was installed, Jan. 25, 1792, pastor of First Church, Cambridge, Mass.; resigned the active duties of his office Sept. 26, 1831, but remained pastor of the church until his death, which occurred June 4, 1837. Rev. Mr. Holmes received the degree of D. D. in 1805 from the University of Edinburgh, Scotland. He fulfilled a pastorate in Cambridge of forty-five years, while his entire ministry covered a period of fifty-two years. He wrote much for publication; was the author of Annals of America and other books, sermons, and addresses. He married a daughter of Rev. Ezra Stiles, D. D., President of Yale College.

OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES, M. D.

Oliver Wendell Holmes was born Aug. 29, 1809, in Cambridge, Mass.; graduated from Harvard College in 1829; studied law, but soon turned his attention to medicine. He pursued his medical studies in Europe; received the degree of M. D. in 1836; was appointed Professor of Anatomy and Physiology in Dartmouth College in 1838, and was called to the same position in Harvard College in 1847, which he resigned in the spring of 1883. Besides attending to the duties of his professorship, in which he has shown himself a man of science, Dr. Holmes has betrayed rare ability in the departments of literature as a poet and writer of prose. His published lyrics, poems, essays, and books have given him a world-wide reputation, and earned for him a place among the most graceful of American writers. An engraving of this man of science and letters appears on the following page.

 EUNICE, [29] b. 1704.

Biographical.

William Cogswell, when a lad, was out from home by the highway, where some men were trying in vain to relieve a cow who had become choked with a potato. There stood by, also, a young girl, eight or ten years old, who watched with interest every effort made. When all experiments failed, and it was suggested that only by some one thrusting his hand down the cow's throat would the cow be saved, she at once said, "My arm is small; I can do it best; you hold her mouth." They did so, and she drew out the potato, to the great relief of the poor cow and all present. The young lad said to himself, "That young miss, by and by, shall be my wife." Her name was Martha Emerson; and thus the name of Emerson came into the Cogswell family.

William³ Cogswell left an estate of £741 2s. to be divided among his children, and made his two brothers, Jonathan and Lieut. John Cogswell, together with his oldest son, Edward Cogswell, joint administrators of his estate. His son-in-law, Matthew Whipple, was made guardian of his daughters, Dorothy Emerson, and Lucy, and John Newman was made guardian of his daughter Eunice.

Memoranda.

Deputy-Gov. Samuel Symonds married, 1648, Mrs. Margaret (Reade) Epes, widow of John Epes, and daughter of Edward Reade, of Wickford, County of Essex, England. Samuel Symonds was born in Belden, County of Essex, England. Subsequent to his arrival in America he lived in Ipswich, Mass., and died prior to 1694. Mrs. Margaret Symonds survived her husband some years. Her sister, Miss Elizabeth Reade, became the second wife of Gov. John Winthrop, of Conn. The children of Deputy-Gov. Samuel and Mrs. Margaret Symonds were: William; Harluckden; Ruth, m. Rev. John Emerson, of Gloucester, Mass.; Priscilla, m. — Baker.

Rev. John Emerson, pastor of the church in Gloucester, Mass., from Oct. 6, 1663, to his death, Dec. 2, 1700, was the son of Thomas and Elizabeth Emerson, and brother of Rev. Joseph Emerson, of Concord, Mass., whose son, Edward Emerson, married Rebecca Waldo, daughter of Dea. Cornelius and Hannah (Cogswell) Waldo, who, as we have seen, were ancestors of Hon. Ralph Waldo Emerson, of Concord, Mass.

Martha Emerson, daughter of Rev. John Emerson, married William³ Cogswell. Her sister Mary Emerson married Samuel Phillips, who was a goldsmith, son of Rev. Samuel Phillips, of Rowley, Mass. Samuel and Mary (Emerson) Phillips, of Salem, were the parents of Rev. Samuel Phillips, who was pastor of the South Church, in Andover, Mass., from Oct. 17, 1711, to his death, June 5, 1771, and the ancestors of Hon. Wendell Phillips, of Boston, Mass.

Charles A. Burditt, Esq., and his wife, Mrs. Ellen A. (Lord) Burditt, of Dorchester, Mass., are both descendants of Cogswells.

 LUCY, [37] b. Aug. 13, 1706. She died in early life. Feb. 23, 1723.

Memoranda.

JONATHAN COGSWELL was a merchant; received the appointment of Justice of the Peace, and held a captain's commission. He was usually called "Capt. Jonathan Cogswell."

Francis Wainwright, Mrs. Cogswell's father, when a boy, came from Chelmsford, England. He was noted in the Pequot war. He was once attacked by two Indians at the same time; while defending himself, he broke the stock of his gun; he then used the barrel, and finally killed them both. His brother, Capt. Simon Wainwright, of Haverhill, was a prominent citizen, said to have been very wealthy. Tradition says he had a large chest filled with dollars. He was killed by the Indians in the massacre in Haverhill, Mass., Aug. 29, 1708.

Mary Cogswell, daughter of Capt. Jonathan and Elizabeth Cogswell, was betrothed to Ebenezer Choate, son of John and Mrs. Elizabeth (Giddings) Choate. He was born Jan. 23, 1694, and died 1718. Ebenezer Choate left by will: "To his dear and well-beloved Mrs. Mary Cogswell, daughter of Capt. Jonathan Cogswell, £30, of which £14 to purchase mourning." She subsequently married her cousin, William⁴ Cogswell [39]. Thus Ebenezer came to be a family name in memory of this Ebenezer Choate.

JOHN COGSWELL.

Genealogical.

JOHN³ COGSWELL, (*William*², *John*¹), son of William² [3] and Susannah (Hawkes) Cogswell, was born May 12, 1665, in Chebacco, Ipswich, Mass. He married Hannah Goodhue, daughter of Dea. William, Jr., and Hannah (Dane) Goodhue. She was born July 4, 1673, in Chebacco, Ipswich, Mass., where they resided. Lieut. Cogswell died 1710. MRS. HANNAH COGSWELL, née Goodhue, married, 1713, ²*Lieut. Thomas Perley*, son of John and Mary (Howlett) Perley. He was born 1669, in Boxford, Mass., where they resided. Lieut. Thomas Perley died Oct. 24, 1700. Mrs. Hannah Perley died Dec. 25, 1742.

 JOSEPH, [47]. He died in early manhood, 1728.

Æmorama.

LIEUT. JOHN COGSWELL was called to fill various public offices in the town, and was a member of the church. He died at the age of forty-five, leaving a property appraised at £889 2s., without a will. Mrs. Cogswell was appointed, June 5, 1710, administratrix. This record appears: "Hannah Cogswell, widow, made charge of lying in after death of her husband and for funeral of child, and for bringing up two children about four and two years of age."

Mrs. Hannah Cogswell married Lieut. Thomas Perley, of Boxford, Mass. He was a widower with children. His first wife was Mrs. Abigail Peabody, née Towne, daughter of Edmund Towne, Esq., and widow of Jacob Peabody, of Topsfield, Mass. They were married Jan. 12, 1686. They lived in Topsfield, where Mrs. Abigail Perley died, Feb. 14, 1712.

Lieut. Thomas Perley was a leading citizen both in Boxford and in Topsfield, holding various offices of moderator, selectman, and representative to the General Court. He was a member of the Congregational Church. His occupation was farming. He left an estate of £725. His widow, Mrs. Hannah Perley, survived him about two years.

THE CHILDREN OF HIS FIRST MARRIAGE WERE :

John, b. Feb. 13, 1697. He died in boyhood, June 23, 1705.
 Amos, b. May 3, 1699; m. March 1, 1722, Margaret Cogswell [44]; d. March, 1748.

Lois, b. April 23, 1702; m. Aug. 24, 1727, Thomas Pike, of Newbury, Mass. Their children were: Abigail, Sarah, Lois, Hannah, Moses, Perley, and Thomas.
 Asa, b. May 9, 1704. He died in boyhood, April 14, 1711.
 Abigail, b. April 26, 1708; m. Dec. 12, 1728 (fourth wife), Samuel Morse, of Newbury. Her children were: Abigail, Hannah, Jeremiah, and Ann.

THE CHILDREN OF HIS SECOND MARRIAGE WERE:

Mary, b. June 7, 1714; m. Jan. 31, 1738, Joseph Batchelder, of Wenham, Mass.; d. June 21, 1773. They settled in Grafton, Mass. Their children were: Mary, Perley, Susanna, Sarah, Joseph, Jeremiah, and Susanna. He married, Sept. 8, 1780, ²Sarah Tilton, of East Sudbury, Mass. He died 1797.
 Sarah, b. May 12, 1716; m. Dec. 2, 1736, Jonathan Putnam, of Salem (now Danvers), Mass. Their children were: Jeremiah, Sarah, Jonathan, Hannah, Elizabeth, Lydia, Nathan, Levi, Perley, and Aaron.
 Jeremiah, b. June 30, 1719. He died in early life, Nov. 28, 1737.

William Goodhue, father of Mrs. Hannah (Goodhue) Cogswell, married, Nov. 14, 1666, Hannah Dane. He was deacon of Chebacco church, captain of militia, freeman Oct. 12, 1682, selectman from 1696 to 1698, and representative to General Court nine years, between 1691 and 1711. Mrs. Cogswell had a brother, who was a clergyman, Rev. Francis Goodhue. She was administratrix of John Cogswell's estate. There is record of the following receipt: "Received from our married mother, Mrs. Hannah Pearley, admx. of our father, John Cogswell's estate, late of Ipswich." This was signed as follows: "July 11, 1726, Amos Perley, husband of Margaret; Jan 21, 1728, Francis Cogswell; May 4, 1726, John Cogswell; Dec. 20, 1726, Elizabeth (Cogswell) Blaney; Aug., 1726, William Cogswell, Nathaniel, Bethia, and Susanna Cogswell, Hannah Burnham, and Joseph Cogswell."

Dea. William Goodhue left the library of his deceased son, Rev. Francis Goodhue, to his grandson, Francis Cogswell, who was fitting for college in 1712. It is probable that this Francis Cogswell [42] did not enter college.

ADAM COGSWELL.

Genealogical.

ADAM³ COGSWELL, (*William*², *John*¹), son of William² [3] and Susanna (Hawkes) Cogswell, was born Jan. 12, 1667, in Chebacco, Ipswich, Mass. He married Abigail——. Mrs. Cogswell died Dec., 1729. Capt. Cogswell died Feb. 8, 1749.

THEIR CHILDREN WERE:

CALEB, [48] m. Oct. 1, 1728, Mary Tyler; d. March 28, 1786.
 WILLIAM, [49] b. Dec. 15, 1687. He died in infancy, Aug. 16, 1688.
 ABIGAIL, [50] b. March 21, 1689; m. Thomas Varney.
 ADAM, [51] b. April 17, 1691.

Biographical.

Mr. Cogswell was a trustee of the parish, a selectman of the town, and held a captain's commission. Mrs. Cogswell was a member of the church.

Memoranda.

ADAM COGSWELL, JR., yeoman, bought land, tenements, and dwelling-house in Chebacco of Nathaniel and Judith Perkins for nine score and twelve pounds, £192. Adam, Sen., or Adam, Jr., was a grantee of Winchendon in his own right, April 13, 1736.

SARAH COGSWELL

Genealogical.

SARAH³ COGSWELL, (William², John¹), daughter of William² [3] and Susanna (Hawkes) Cogswell, was born Feb. 3, 1668, in Chebacco, Ipswich, Mass. She married, Nov. 6, 1685, Dea. William Noyes, a son of Rev. James Noyes. They lived in Newbury, Mass.

Memoranda.

Rev. James Noyes came to America in 1634, and was settled, 1635, as colleague of his uncle, Rev. Thomas Parker, in the First Church, in Newbury, Mass. Rev. Mr. James Noyes died Oct. 22, 1656, at the age of forty-eight years.

ELIZABETH COGSWELL.

Genealogical.

ELIZABETH³ COGSWELL, (John², John¹), daughter of John² [4] Cogswell, was born 1648, in Chebacco, Ipswich, Mass. Her parents both died when she was a child. She was placed in the care of her grandparents, John [1] and Elizabeth (Thompson) Cogswell. She married Abraham Wellman, of Lynn, Mass. Her death occurred May 10, 1736.

Memoranda.

SAMUEL, [64] b. Feb. 23, 1693; m. 1723, Mary Lufkin.

Biographical.

Mr. Cogswell, going in pursuit of hostile bands of Indians, was captured by them. How long he was held a captive and the manner of his escape are not known. Some time in 1675 he brought suit against his uncle, William² Cogswell, giving rise to the famous case of Cogswell vs. Cogswell before mentioned. The case was finally decided, May 29, 1677, in favor of the defendant, after several trials, and Mr. Cogswell was obliged to pay costs of £13 4s. Mr. Cogswell left a will, dated Sept. 16, 1713, which was proved Aug. 31, 1728. In his will he mentions his wife Margaret, three sons, and six daughters. Mrs. Cogswell's father, Dr. Gifford, was the agent for the iron works in Saugus, and owned a farm in that vicinity.

SAMUEL COGSWELL.

Genealogical.

SAMUEL³ COGSWELL, (*Fohn*², *Fohn*¹), son of John² [4] Cogswell, was born in Chebacco, Ipswich, Mass. He married, Oct. 27, 1668, Susanna Haven, daughter of Richard and Susanna (Newhall) Haven. She was born in Saybrook, Conn., where they lived. Mr. Samuel Cogswell died prior to 1701.

THEIR CHILDREN WERE:

HANNAH, [65] b. June 4, 1670; m. Jan. 20, 1692, Josiah Dibell.

SUSANNA, [66] b. Nov. 23, 1672.

WASTALL, [67] b. Feb. 17, 1674; m. ¹*Hannah* —; m. May 24, 1697, ²*Martha* —; d. prior to 1709.

SAMUEL, [68] b. Aug. 3, 1677 (1675?): m. Mrs. Ann (Mason) Denison.

ROBERT, [69] b. July 7, 1679.

JOSEPH, [70] b. April 10, 1682; m. Aug. 25, 1710, Anna Orris.

NATHANIEL, [71] b. Dec. 16, 1684.

JOHN, [72] b. Aug. 6, 1688.

JOSHUA, [73] m. Mary —.

Biographical.

SAMUEL COGSWELL came to Saybrook, unmarried, about 1665, and settled on a farm. The Colonial Records of Connecticut state that he was made freeman, May, 1669. There has been some uncertainty expressed by different writers as to his parentage and whence he came to Saybrook, also as to the person he married. There is little doubt he was born in Ipswich, Mass., and was the son of John² Cogswell [4], who died on his return passage from London in 1653, and that he married, as above given, Susanna Haven, of the town of Lyme, Conn. Lyme was Saybrook until 1667.

Memoranda.

Samuel Cogswell, of Saybrook, Conn., sold, Feb. 9, 1674, five acres of land in Lyme, Conn., to Edward DeWolf, for the sum of £12.

Richard Haven, Mrs. Cogswell's father, was a farmer in Saybrook, Conn., in 1645.

John Wastall, of Saybrook, Conn., deeded, June 13, 1681, to the children of his loving kinsman, Richard Haven, of Lyme, Conn., 3,000 acres of land in Hebron, Conn., which he had by will of Joshua, Sachem. It is said that John Wastall mentions in his will Wastall Cogswell, a son of Samuel and Susanna Cogswell, as a grandson. This suggests that the wife of Richard Haven may have been Susanna Wastall (instead of Newhall), a sister perhaps of John Wastall, and so Richard Haven would be his kinsman. Some have read the name of Samuel Cogswell's wife, which is much blotted on the record, "Hearn," others "Wastall"; but it was doubtless Susanna Haven.

"Samuel Cogswell sold 10 acres of salt marsh in Chebacque to Abraham Perkins, 1674." This was land let to his father, John Cogswell, for 1,000 years. The land record shows that the land willed by Joshua, Sachem, was divided into eighty-six shares among the proprietors of Hebron, in 1702, the quantity being according to quality. John Wastall owned shares Nos. 44, 66, and 83, about two hundred and sixty-three acres. Samuel Cogswell owned two shares, Nos. 9 and 84, making one hundred and nine and three fifths acres. The disposal of these lands does not appear on the town records of Hebron; probably to be found in probate records, now in the Andover District, Tolland Co., Conn.

In 1710 proprietors voted a second division of upland to be made, each proprietor receiving not less than forty nor more than sixty acres on each thousand-acre right. Samuel Cogswell received one hundred and one acres. Wastall Cogswell was dead. The same year, 1710, by a third division, Samuel Cogswell received twelve acres.

FOURTH GENERATION.

EDWARD COGSWELL.

Genealogical.

EDWARD⁴ COGSWELL, (*William*³, *William*², *John*¹), son of William³ [14] and Martha (Emerson) Cogswell, was born Aug. 13, 1686, in Gloucester, Mass. He married, 1708, Hannah Brown. She was born in 1691. They resided in Chebacco Parish, Ipswich, Mass. In 1735 removed to Preston, Conn., and in 1747 removed and settled in New Milford, Conn. Mrs. Cogswell died June 6, 1771. Mr. Cogswell died April 17, 1773.

THEIR CHILDREN WERE:

SAMUEL, [74] b. March 1, 1710; m. ¹*Lydia Starkweather*.

EDWARD, [75]. He died in infancy.

NATHANIEL, [76] b. Feb. 13, 1714; m. Dec. 8, 1737, ¹*Huldah Kinney*; m. May 25, 1757, ²*Mrs. Bridget Wedge*; m. May 30, 1782, ³*Mrs. Eunice Williams*; d. Nov. 4, 1810.

JUDITH, [77] b. Jan. 25, 1717; m. Jacob Kinney.

HANNAH, [78] b. April 13, 1719; m. Matthew Beal.

JOHN, [79] b. April 5, 1721; m. Sarah Freeman.

MARTHA, [80]. She died in infancy.

LUCY, [81] b. April 14, 1726; m. Daniel Averill.

MARTHA, [82]. She died in infancy.

MARTHA, [83] b. Nov. 11, 1728; m. Moses Averill; d. July 30, 1781.

ELIZABETH, [84]. She died in infancy.

EMERSON, [85] b. July 10, 1732; m. Aug. 29, 1751, Mary Miles.

WILLIAM, [86] b. Dec. 22, 1734; m. Nov. 4, 1762, Anna Whittlesey; d. Feb. 19, 1786.

Biographical.

EDWARD COGSWELL is mentioned as a member of "The New London Society United for Trade and Commerce," in 1732. This was probably Edward⁴ of Ipswich, Mass., for we find him soon after, 1735, in Preston, New London Co.,

Conn., where he remained some ten years; he then made a purchase of wild land in the northern part of New Milford. He purchased, Sept. 10, 1745, of John Baker and Caleb Mallory, for £110, old tenor, the thirty-third lot of the south tier of lots in the so-called North Purchase, and became, in 1747, the first settler in that region. Subsequently, he bought other lands in the vicinity, established iron works, and did much to develop the resources of that new country. Mr. Cogswell lived to be eighty-seven years of age. His grave is near that of his youngest son, Major William⁵ [86] Cogswell, in the cemetery of New Preston Parish, Washington, Conn.

Memoranda.

*Edward*⁴ Cogswell, his son, Samuel⁵, and son-in-law, Jacob Kinney, were very active in establishing the institutions of religion in that part of New Milford known as New Preston, now Washington, Conn. This was accomplished in 1753; and in Nov., 1754, "It was voted to build a meeting-house 36 x 26 feet, with five windows of twelve lights each." It is said that Edward Cogswell made a "Family Record of the Cogswells," and that there is an extant copy of it in Cazenovia, Madison Co., N. Y. This has not been found; but his grandson, John⁶, left a record, in possession of M. W. Cogswell, Esq., Elyria, Ohio, which has been of great service. John⁶ Cogswell [250] says that his uncle John⁵ and aunts Lucy⁵ and Martha⁵ Cogswell, children of Edward, removed to some place in Vermont, near a lake. Edward Cogswell had a large and influential family. His descendants are very numerous in Connecticut, Vermont, and Pennsylvania.

MARTHA COGSWELL.

Genealogical.

MARTHA⁴ COGSWELL, (*William*³, *William*², *John*¹), daughter of William³ [14] and Martha (Emerson) Cogswell, was born in Chebacco Parish, Ipswich, Mass. She married, Oct. 9, 1710, Matthew Whipple, son of Major Matthew and Martha (Denison) Whipple, who was the grand-daughter of Gen. Daniel Denison. They lived in Ipswich, Mass., and in New Milford, Conn.

Memoranda.

*William*³ Cogswell, Mrs. Whipple's father, died, and Matthew Whipple was appointed guardian, 1709, of her brother Emerson and sister Dorothy, who were minors. Mrs. Whipple was an heir to one-sixth part of the property of her deceased brother, William⁴ Cogswell, who was killed by the Indians in 1710. Mr. and Mrs. Whipple deeded, Dec. 18, 1712, one-sixth part of Loblolly Cove Point, which was property that they had received of her brother William's estate. This deed was witnessed by Jonathan Cogswell. Mrs. Whipple's sister, Mrs. Dorothy (Cogswell) Moulton, deeded, Nov. 20, 1713, one-sixth part of Loblolly Cove Point, the deed acknowledged by her Nov. 15, 1717.

Matthew Whipple, of "Ipswich, in the County of Essex, in the Province of Massachusetts Bay, yeoman," bought of Edward Cogswell, Oct. 24, 1747, "one half of the Iron Works in New Milford, North Purchase, standing on a stream called Aspetuck . . . with all the appurtenances, privileges, and accommodations belonging thereunto, with the privilege of the iron ore, as I, said Edward Cogswell, have of Elisha Williams and Martin Kellogg." From which it appears that Edward Cogswell and his brother-in-law, Matthew Whipple, carried on the first manufacturing interest in that part of New Milford.

Martha Denison, Matthew Whipple's mother, was a daughter of John Denison, who was the only son of Major Daniel Denison. Martha Denison married ¹Thomas Wiggin, a grandson of Gov. Thomas Wiggin, also of Gov. Simon Bradstreet. She married, July, 1693, ²Capt. Jonathan Thing, of Exeter, N. H., who died Oct. 30, 1694. They had one son, Daniel, born May 12, 1694. She then married ³Major Matthew Whipple. The "wife of Maj. Matthew Whipple, Esq., died Sept. 12, 1728, in ye 60th year of her age."

Capt. Jonathan Thing's first wife was Mary Gilman. They had two sons, Edward and Moses Thing.

EMERSON COGSWELL.

Genealogical.

EMERSON¹ COGSWELL, (*William*³, *William*², *John*¹), son of William³ [14] and Martha (Emerson) Cogswell, was born 1700, in Chebacco, Ipswich, Mass. He married, Dec. 30, 1736, Mary Pecker, daughter of Capt. James and Mrs. Bridget (Papillion) Pecker. She was born in Boston. They resided in Ipswich and Boston, and subsequently in Concord, Mass., where Mr. Cogswell died, March 29, 1788. Mrs. Cogswell died Dec. 23, 1795.

THEIR CHILDREN WERE:

MARY, [87] bapt. June 18, 1738; m. Capt. William Burley.

WILLIAM, [88] bapt. March 23, 1739.

MARTHA, [89] bapt. March 21, 1741; m. Jan. 8, 1767, Capt. John Whipple; d. March 29, 1816.

EMERSON, [90] bapt. Feb. 12, 1743; m. 1773, ¹*Eunice Robinson*; m. May 3, 1789, ²*Ann Learnard*; m. 1794, ³*Mrs. Elizabeth Buttrick*; d. May 13, 1808.

SUSANNAH, [91] bapt. March 17, 1745; m. ¹*Jeremiah Robinson, Jr.*; m. Jan. 15, 1819, ²*Capt. John Whipple*; d. Dec. 18, 1836.

BRIDGET, [92] bapt. April 14, 1751; m. Jan. 18, 1770, Col. Edward Wigglesworth.

JAMES, [93] bapt. 1755; m. Dec. 3, 1780, Mrs. Rebecca Baldwin; d. Aug. 19, 1837.

Biographical.

EMERSON COGSWELL, after marriage, resided some years in Ipswich. His house stood near the present station on the Eastern Railroad, the site, 1884, of Damon's Block. He was a tanner and currier, and carried on the business near the Stone Bridge. He was a member of the First Church in 1746, and became one of the original members of the South Parish, which was incorporated by act of the General Court, June 5, 1747. He removed to Boston, and in 1769 was residing at the corner of Salem and Hanover Streets. He purchased, Dec. 17, 1771, a hatter's shop, in Concord, Mass., to which town he soon after removed, and there spent the rest of his days.

Memoranda.

Mary Cogswell, the oldest daughter of Emerson and Mary (Pecker) Cogswell, married Capt. Burley, who followed the seas. Their residence was in Boston, Mass. They had no children.

John Papillion, whose widow Capt. James Pecker married, was an Englishman. He married Bridget in England, "June ye 7th, 1710. They had one son, Ebenezer, born April ye 9th, 1712." Mr. Papillion died 1718, in London. Soon after, Mrs. Papillion and her son arrived in America. Her son, Ebenezer Papillion, followed the seas.

Capt. James Pecker, son of James and Ann (Davis) Pecker, was born Nov. 15, 1684, in Haverhill, Mass. He married Mrs. Bridget Papillion. They had two daughters, Mrs. Cogswell and Mrs. Susanna Clarke. Mrs. Clarke wrote verses against the use of tea in the Revolutionary times. Mrs. Pecker survived her husband, Capt. James Pecker, who died April 28, 1734, and also her son, Ebenezer, who was lost at sea in 1736, at the age of twenty-four years. Subsequently to the death of both husband and son, she writes: "Very pleasant were these to me while living. The loss of them will make me go mourning to my grave." A paper, inscribed by her after her husband's death, had the following reference: "He was my truly worthy and dearly beloved James Pecker, who died April ye 28th, 1734, in the forty-ninth year of his age, in the division of things to me, his widow, Bridget Pecker." "Open Thou mine eyes that I may behold wondrous things out of Thy law." Capt. James Pecker devised an estate of nearly £3,000. For a copy of his will, dated April 22, 1734, and of the inventory of his estate, dated May 10, 1734, vid. "PEN PORTRAITS," pp. 565-572.

Mrs. Mary (Pecker) Cogswell had an uncle, John Pecker, of Haverhill, and an uncle, Daniel Pecker, of Boston, Mass. It is thought, that Dr. James Pecker, of Haverhill, who married, Dec. 13, 1744, Susannah Cogswell [132], was a near relative.

JONATHAN COGSWELL.

Genealogical.

JONATHAN¹ COGSWELL, (*Fonathan*³, *William*², *John*¹), son of Capt. Jonathan³ [15] and Elizabeth (Wainwright) Cogswell, was born May 1, 1687, in Chebacco Parish, Ipswich, Mass. He married ¹*Hannah* ——. Mrs. Cogswell died June 18, 1723. Mr. Cogswell married, July 1, 1730, ²*Elizabeth Wade*, daughter of Jonathan Wade, of Ipswich. They lived in Chebacco Parish, on the Cogswell farm. Mrs. Elizabeth Cogswell died Nov. 17, 1749. Mr. Cogswell died April 2, 1752.

Biographical.

JONATHAN COGSWELL inherited the Cogswell homestead. He was commissioned Justice of the Peace, Oct. 26, 1733. His commission, bearing the signatures of the Province officers, is still in existence; also a volume, heavily bound, which as a magistrate he often consulted, entitled "Acts and Laws of His Majesty's Province of the Massachusetts Bay, in New England, Passed by the Great and General Court in Assembly of the Massachusetts Bay, Published 1726." The date of the most ancient enactment was 1692. It is said that Jonathan Cogswell, Esq., built the house in which the late Adam Boyd resided.

The stone that marks the grave of Mrs. Cogswell is thus inscribed: "Here lyes ye body of Mrs. Hannah Cogswell, wife to Mr. Jonathan Cogswell, Dec'd June ye 18th, 1723, In the 32^d year of her age." The stone that marks his grave bears this inscription: "Here lies Buried the Body of JONATHAN COGSWELL, ESQ, who departed This Life April ye 2nd, 1752, Aged 64 years." There is also another stone, without date, which doubtless marks the grave of his infant son, Jonathan, inscribed as follows: "Here lyes the body of Jonathan Cogswell, son to Jonathan Cogswell, Esq., and Mrs. Elizabeth Cogswell, Aged 1 yr. 8 mos. 16 days."

Memoranda.

 WILLIAM, [115] b. June 11, 1750; m. May 24, 1773, Abigail Dawes; d. May 27, 1823.

Biographical.

FRANCIS COGSWELL fitted for college in the Ipswich Grammar School, and graduated from Harvard College in 1718. Mr. Cogswell was a merchant. He built and lived in what was called the "Sawyer House." He was appointed a Justice of the Peace, and represented the town in the General Court in 1750, 1751, and 1752. His will was dated Feb. 25, 1755, and proved March 29, 1756. Mrs. Elizabeth Cogswell was executrix. Elizabeth, Francis, John, Jonathan, and William appear as children: the others were dead.

Mrs. Elizabeth (Rogers) Cogswell was the twin sister of Rev. Daniel Rogers. He graduated from Harvard College in 1725; was tutor and fellow of Harvard College from 1731 to 1741; afterward the first pastor of the Second Congregational Church in Exeter, N. H., from Aug. 31, 1747 to his death,

Dec. 19, 1785. Mrs. Cogswell's father was Rev. John Rogers, born in Ipswich, July 7, 1666, graduated from Harvard College, 1684, and pastor of First Church in Ipswich from Oct. 12, 1692, to his death, Dec. 28, 1745. Her brother, Rev. Nathaniel Rogers, born March 4, 1704, in Ipswich, graduated from Harvard College in 1721, was settled a pastor of the same church, colleague with his father, Oct. 18, 1727, and continued in the pastoral office until his death, May 10, 1775. Her grandfather, John Rogers, born 1630, in Assington, England, graduated from Harvard College in 1649, was also pastor of this church from 1656 to 1683, when he resigned and became the president of Harvard College, but died soon after July 2, 1684. Mrs. Cogswell's great-grandfather, Rev. Nathaniel Rogers, was a descendant of John Rogers, the martyr. He was born, 1598, in Haverhill, England, educated at Emmanuel College, in Cambridge, England. At the age of forty years came to America, became the successor of Rev. Nathaniel Ward in 1630, as pastor of the First Church in Ipswich, and continued in the pastoral office until his death, July 3, 1655. Thus the church in Ipswich had four pastors of the name of Rogers in successive generations of the same family. Their ministries covered one hundred and thirty-two years within a period of less than one hundred and forty years. Mrs. Cogswell was known as "Madam Cogswell."

Memoranda.

Francis Cogswell and his wife Elizabeth, of Ipswich, Mass., by a deed, dated Feb. 12, 1731, made over certain land in Gloucester to Jonathan Cogswell, of Chebacco Parish. This was land which was devised to said Francis by his father, Capt. Jonathan Cogswell's will of July 9, 1717, as "one common right in the undivided lands in Gloucester." This deed was witnessed by Christian Wainwright and Bethia Cogswell [46]. Francis Cogswell, Esq., by his will of Feb. 25, 1755, bequeathed to his son Francis [109] his dwelling-house, his best schooner, "Deborah," his "flake-room and stages," and "Jeffries Neck."

Rev. Nathaniel Ward became the minister of Ipswich, Mass., June, 1634. He was the author of "The Simple Cobbler of Agawam," which was one of the cleverest and wittiest books of that day. Rev. Increase Mather said of Mr. Ward: "He had one godly speech worth all his other witty speeches, which was, 'I have only two comforts to live upon: the one is, the perfections of Christ; the other is, the imperfections of all Christians.'"

Memoranda.

WILLIAM COGSWELL, in 1732, built the Cogswell house, which is still standing, 1884, and is occupied by his lineal descendants, Albert and Jonathan Cogswell. Mr. Cogswell's second wife, Mrs. Appleton, was a granddaughter of Col. Thomas and Elizabeth Cogswell [10] Wade. Her first husband, Benjamin Appleton, Esq., died Feb. 12, 1731. It probably was the above William Cogswell who was appointed, June 25, 1746, one of a "committee to go and view the land and see the qualifications thereof, and report to the proprietors as soon as may be" in regard to the settlement of Winchendon, Mass.

In the old burying ground of Chebacco Parish are found gravestones inscribed as follows:

"MARY COGSWELL,
 Wife of William,
 Died June 16th, 1734,
 Aged 34 years."

"MR. WILLIAM COGSWELL, who

Memoranda.

There were no children of the fourth marriage. Mr. Cogswell's will was dated June 6, 1774, and proved Nov. 25, 1774; his wife, Elizabeth Cogswell, was named as executrix. There is mention in Mr. Cogswell's will of two sons, Francis and Joseph; also three daughters, Hannah Lane, Eunice Farley, and Abigail Dodge. Mention is made of a son-in-law, Abraham Dodge. The sons, Francis and Joseph, were made residuary legatees and executors.

The will of Mrs. Elizabeth (Williams) Cogswell was dated Aug. 28, 1794; she died March 12, 1800. Samuel Partridge, of Hartford, Mass., was executor. Estate settled Sept. 7, 1801. Mrs. Cogswell mentions her three brothers, Nathaniel, William, and Solomon Williams; and her sisters, Anna Partridge, Mercy Secombe, Lucy Buckminster, and Esther Williams. She names daughters, Hannah Lane, Eunice Farley, Anstice Cogswell, Abigail Cogswell, and granddaughter, Sarah Potter. She mentions her own daughters, Sarah and Elizabeth Crocker, granddaughters, Lydia Treadwell, Elizabeth Crocker, Elizabeth Williams, and grandsons, John and Joseph Crocker.

(Signed) Her

Biographical.

NATHANIEL COGSWELL was three years old when his father died. He went from home in boyhood, and entered a store in Haverhill, Mass. He became a leading merchant and a prominent citizen of the town. In person he was of medium stature, portly, of dark complexion, with black hair and eyes. He was a man of integrity and business capacity. He united with the church June 1, 1746, and was a devoted and efficient member.

Mrs. Cogswell was the only surviving daughter of Joseph Badger, Esq., a merchant in Haverhill. She was but sixteen years of age at the time of her marriage. At the age of twenty, March 18, 1744, she united with the church. She was a person of commanding figure and cultured manners. Her complexion was fair, her hair brown, and her eyes blue.

Mr. Cogswell, after a successful business life, retired in 1766, and settled upon a farm in Atkinson, N. H. He at once became active in establishing religious and educational institutions in the town. He gave the land and contributed freely toward the first meeting-house, which was erected by private subscription in 1768-9. Prior to the completion of the meeting-house, public worship was conducted in Mr. Cogswell's house.

During the Revolutionary War his patriotism was declared by large loans of money, to provide equipments and provisions for the soldiers. These loans of money, by reason of a depreciated currency, proved almost a total loss. Beside providing money, Mr. Cogswell gave eight sons to the army, who served with distinction, and fulfilled an aggregate term of service of more than thirty-eight years; said to be the longest rendered by any family in the country. It is said that these eight sons were of such height that in the aggregate they measured about fifty feet, making a large amount of soldier linally, as well as in other respects. They all survived the war, and became prominent in professional and civil life.

The last survivor of this large family was Joseph Cogswell, M. D., who died March 17, 1851, in Tamworth, N. H.

 STEPHEN, [187] b. March 25, 1702.
 MARTHA, [188]. She died in infancy, Jan. 27, 1705.

Biographical.

WASTALL COGSWELL evidently received his name from John Wastall, who was in some way connected with the family ; perhaps an uncle of Mrs. Susannah (Haven) Cogswell. The name Wastall has various spellings, viz., Westall, Westell, Wastoll, and Wastall.

Mr. Wastall Cogswell was a blacksmith, as appears from the inventory made of his effects, April 21, 1709. That he was married twice, and the name of his first wife was Hannah, appear in a further statement, in which mention is made of "clothes given to Hannah, that was his first wife." Mention is made that Wastall Cogswell administered upon the estate of the said Samuel Cogswell, his honored father. Wastall Cogswell must have died about 1709, as his brother Samuel Cogswell received an inventory of his estate as his executor, April 21, 1709.

Memoranda.

Town Record of Lyme, Conn., Book II., page 228: "Westall Cogswell was married unto Martha, his new wife, the 24 May, 1697." Then follows a record of "the Birth and Death of the children of Westall Cogswell and Martha, his wife," as above given. No mention is made of children of the first marriage.

There is record made, Vol. II., page 141, of a deed dated July 1, 1701, in which occurs the following:

"JOHN BLANGE FROM JOSIAH DIBELL.

"Josiah Dibell raise sum of money to discharge my obligations to Westell and Robert Cogswell, for land bought of the said Westell Cogswell (executor of the estate of Samuel Cogswell), late of Saybrook, deceased."

Samuel Cogswell [68] was the executor of his brother Wastall Cogswell's estate, as appears from Town Records of Lyme, Conn., Second Book, pp. 229.

"LYME, this 21st April, 1709.

SAMUEL COGSWELL.

[68]

Genealogical.

SAMUEL¹ COGSWELL, (*Samuel*², *John*², *John*¹), son of Samuel³ [22] and Susanna (Haven) Cogswell, was born Aug. 3, 1677, in Saybrook, Conn. He married, March 17, 1701, ¹*Mrs. Ann (Mason) Denison*, daughter of Capt. John Mason, and widow of John Denison, Jr. They resided in Lebanon, Conn. Mrs. Ann Cogswell died, and Mr. Cogswell married ²*Abigail* —. They lived in Canterbury, Conn. Mr. Cogswell died March 21, 1752. Mrs. Abigail Cogswell died June 17, 1753.

THE CHILDREN OF THE FIRST MARRIAGE WERE :

SAMUEL, [189] b. Dec. 25, 1701. He probably died in infancy.

ANNA, [190] b. Dec. 22, 1703; m. Jan. 22, 1729, Samuel Bushnell.

HEZEKIAH, [191] b. Feb. 1, 1706. He probably died young.

SAMUEL, [192] b. 1707; m. Feb. 7, 1727, Elizabeth Bingham.

HEZEKIAH, [193] b. 1709; m. Susanna Bailey.

ROBERT, [194] b. 1711; m. Jan. 16, 1733, Sarah Bailey.

JEDEDIAH, [195] b. 1713.

JAMES, [196] b. Jan. 6, 1720; m. April 24, 1745, ¹*Alice Fitch*; m. 1773, ²*Mrs. Martha (Lothrop) Devotion*; m. ³*Mrs. Hibbord*; d. Jan 2, 1807.

Biographical.

SAMUEL COGSWELL probably lived a few years after marriage in Saybrook, Conn.; but certain lands coming into his possession in Lebanon, he removed to that place. In advanced life Mr. Cogswell made his home with his son, Rev. James Cogswell, of Canterbury, Conn. There was a Samuel Cogswell received to the communion of the church in Lebanon, June 30, 1728, and an Ann Cogswell, Aug. 29, 1742. These were probably Samuel and his wife, Mrs. Ann Cogswell.

MRS. ANN (DENISON) COGSWELL, née MASON, was the daughter of Capt. John Mason, who was in King Philip's War, and died of wounds received in a battle with the Indians at Narragansett Ford, in 1675. Mrs. Cogswell had one brother, John Mason. Mrs. Cogswell's grandfather was Major John Mason, who was born in 1600, in England; came to America in 1630; settled in Dorchester, Mass., but removed to Connecticut in 1635; was one of the founders of Windsor; took an active part in the Pequot War, after which, lived in Saybrook, and removed, in 1659, to Norwich, Conn. He was for thirty years Major of the colonial forces, a magistrate from 1642 to 1668, and Deputy-Governor of Connecticut from 1660 to 1670. By the request of the General Court of Connecticut, he prepared an account of the Pequot War, which was published by Increase Mather, and reprinted in 1677.

MAJOR MASON married, July, 1639, ²*Anne Peck*, of Hartford, Conn. Their children were Isabel; Priscilla, b. Oct., 1641, m., Oct., 1664, Rev. James Fitch, being his second wife; Rachel; Anne, b. June, 1650, m. Dr. William Whiting, of Great Barrington, Mass.; David; and Elizabeth, who married James Fitch, eldest son of Rev. James Fitch, so that father and son married sisters. Rev. James Fitch, first minister of Saybrook, Conn., was born Dec. 24, 1622, in Bocking, England. He came to America in 1638, studied seven years, was ordained in England in 1646, and settled in Saybrook, Conn., but in later life removed to Norwich, Conn., where he died in 1696. His will was an important document.

Memoranda.

Capt. John Mason, of Stonington, deeded, March 8, 1725, to Samuel and Ann Cogswell certain lands in Lebanon, Conn., the consideration being a "General Release or quit claim from Samuel and Ann Cogswell, daughter of Capt. John Mason, Esq., of Norwich, deceased, to him, ye said Capt. John Mason, of Stonington, . . . of the other real and personal effects of said John Mason, deceased." From which it appears that Capt. John Mason, of Stonington, was son of Capt. John Mason, Esq., of Norwich, and brother of Mrs. Ann Cogswell.

Mrs. Cogswell's first husband, John Denison, Jr., was a grandson of Gen. Daniel Denison, of Ipswich, Mass. The date of Mrs. Ann Cogswell's death is not ascertained, but we find July 3, 1748, Samuel and Abigail Cogswell, parents of Rev. James Cogswell, admitted to the church in Canterbury, Conn.

Robert Cogswell received deed of land from his parents, Samuel and Ann (Mason) Cogswell, Sept. 7, 1733. There was a Robert Cogswell, of Haddam, Conn., mentioned in 1741. Robert Cogswell owned a small piece of land in Haddam, which he sold in 1739. His mark was entered on the Town Records of Haddam, Conn.

Jedidiah Cogswell lived in Hanover, Hunterdon Co., N. J. The Town Records of Lebanon, Conn., under date of Sept. 14, 1733, mention a deed given by Samuel and Ann (Mason) Cogswell to their son Jedidiah Cogswell, weaver, of Hanover, Hunterdon Co., N. J.

Samuel⁴ Cogswell [68], of Lebanon, Conn., may have had other children, viz.: ALTHEA COGSWELL, who was admitted to the communion in 1730, and who married, March 23, 1731, David Foster; PHEBE and HANNAH COGSWELL, who were admitted to communion the same year, 1735; also TEMPERANCE COGSWELL, who married, Nov. 10, 1737, John Hutchinson.

JOSEPH COGSWELL.

Genealogical.

JOSEPH⁴ COGSWELL, (Samuel³, John², John¹), son of Samuel³ [22] and Susanna (Haven) Cogswell, was born April 10, 1682, in Saybrook, Conn. He married, Aug. 25, 1710, Anna Orvis, daughter of Samuel and Deborah Orvis. She was born in Farmington, Conn., now Southington, where they resided.

THEIR CHILDREN WERE :

- JOSEPH, [197] b. May 24, 1711; m. May 3, 1732, Joanna Andrews; d. May 2, 1783.
- SAMUEL, [198] b. May 23, 1713; m. Nov. 28, 1734, Mary Langdon.
- NATHAN, [199] b. May 20, 1716; m. Nov. 24, 1737, Susan Warner.
- SUSANNA, [200] b. Aug. 18, 1718; m. Jan. 1, 1741, Jedidiah Smith.
- MARTHA, [201] b. Aug. 24, 1721.
- DAVID, [202] b. March 26, 1725; m. Aug. 10, 1749, ¹*Mary Woodruff*; m. ²*Mrs. Naomi (Frost) Brown*; d. Feb. 15, 1806.
- MARY, [203] b. May 21, 1728; m. Oct., 1756.
- DEBORAH, [204] b. Aug. 23, 1731.

Memoranda.

Mr. Cogswell was admitted to the church in Southington Parish, Dec. 28, 1729, the next year after its organization. Mrs. Anna Cogswell was received as a member Dec. 7, 1729.

"Joseph Cogswell deeded, April 10, 1710, to his brother Nathaniel, of Lyme, Conn., all his right and title in an undivided ninth of 2,000 acres of land in the town of Hebron, Conn., which accrued to him from his honored father's estate."

NATHANIEL COGSWELL.

[71]

Genealogical.

NATHANIEL⁴ COGSWELL, (*Samuel*³, *John*², *John*¹), son of Samuel³ [22] and Susanna (Haven) Cogswell, was born Dec. 16, 1684, in Saybrook, Conn. He married, and lived in Lyme, Conn.

Memoranda.

Nathaniel Cogswell received, April 10, 1710, a deed from his brother Joseph of an undivided ninth of a 2,000-acre lot in Hebron, Conn.; and also April 21, 1710, a similar deed from his brother John of a like amount. This 2,000-acre lot was a part of his honored father's estate. Nathaniel Cogswell, of Lyme, Conn., bought land in Coventry, July 16, 1713, and mortgaged the same to John Ayer, 1714.

"March 17, 1716. Deed from Wm. Ely to Nathaniel Cogswell, of Lyme, of House and Lot, 3½ acres upland, and a meadow, for valuable consideration (same property cost Ely £40)."

"June 7, 1717. Deed from John Clark to Nathaniel Cogswell, of Lyme, House and ten acres of land, £15."

"May 16, 1718. Deed from Joseph Sill to Nathaniel Cogswell, land, for £4 10s." Ibid. Town Records of Lyme, Conn.

The town clerk of North Lyme says, "These Cogswells were of Saybrook, as Lyme was Saybrook until 1667." What became of Nathaniel's property is not ascertained.

JOSHUA COGSWELL.

[73]

Genealogical.

JOSHUA⁴ COGSWELL, (*Samuel*³, *John*², *John*¹), son of Samuel³ [22] and Susanna (Haven) Cogswell, married Mary ——. They lived in Coventry, Conn.

THEIR CHILDREN WERE:

JOSHUA, [205] b. July 15, 1726; m. — — —: d. Oct. 27, 1799.

PETER, [206] b. June 12, 1728.

JOSEPH, [207])
 BENJAMIN, [208]) b. July 1, 1730: { m. ¹*Sarah McKinney*; m. ²— McKinney; d. 1763.
 { m. 1751, Lois Thompson; d. about 1828.

ELIZABETH, [209] b. March 29, 1733.

Memoranda.

Joshua⁴ Cogswell, according to tradition, hailed from Rochester, Mass., in 1730, and purchased land in Coventry, Conn. An old record of the town of Windsor reads: "Joshua Cogswell, of Windsor, deeded land to Joshua, of Coventry, in Jan., 1736." Joshua Cogswell, of Windsor, lived in that part of the town which is now Ellington, Conn. Although lacking positive documentary proof, it is quite assured that the above Joshua⁴ Cogswell was the son of Samuel³ and Susanna (Haven) Cogswell, of Saybrook, Conn.

Joshua, Sachem, was an Indian chief, owning a large territory of land lying in Saybrook, Colchester, Hebron, and perhaps other towns. He willed a large tract, if not the whole of it, to a company of men, and they divided it among themselves. In this division there occur the names of Cogswell and Wastall as owners of these lands, who were called legatees of Joshua.

Samuel Cogswell, of Saybrook, Conn., devised 3,000 acres of land in Hebron that belonged to his estate. This was in nine undivided parts, doubtless belonging to his nine children, but only eight appear recorded; counting Joshua we have the nine. This and other incidental evidences go to show that Joshua Cogswell [73] was Samuel Cogswell's youngest son.

FIFTH GENERATION.

SAMUEL COGSWELL.

[74]

Genealogical.

SAMUEL⁵ COGSWELL, (Edward⁴, William³, William², John¹), son of Edward⁴ [23] and Hannah (Brown) Cogswell, was born March 1, 1710, in Ipswich, Mass. He married ¹*Lydia Starkweather*. They lived in Preston and New Milford, Conn.

THEIR CHILDREN WERE:

LYDIA, [210] b. May 19, 1730.

MARY, [211] b. May 31, 1733.

EDWARD, [212] b. March 5, 1735; m. April 17, 1758, Jane Owen; d. 1808.

ANNA, [213] b. May 21, 1736.

JOHN, [214] b. June 17, 1738; m. ———; d. 1832.

ASA, [215] b. March 30, 1740; m. Charity ———; d. 1838.

HANNAH, [216] b. Jan. 26, 1742; m. ———.

SAMUEL, [217] b. June 23, 1743.

JOEL, [218] b. Aug. 19, 1747.

SUBMIT, [219] bapt. July 26, 1752.

Biographical.

SAMUEL COGSWELL, the oldest son of Edward Cogswell, of Ipswich, went, when a young man, to Preston, Conn. He was married and had eight children while resident in that town. Subsequently, under date of June 9, 1746, he purchased of Caleb Mallery two lots, Nos. 30 and 31, of wild land in that part of New Milford, Conn., which was then called "North Purchase," and afterwards known as New Preston Parish, now Washington, Conn. He paid for this land £300, old tenor.

His father, who had removed to Preston in 1735, also made a purchase of land in the same vicinity; and some time in 1747, Samuel Cogswell, his father, and his uncle, Matthew Whipple, took up the land they had bought, and became the earliest settlers in that region.

Mr. Cogswell, after some ten years, removed, and his subsequent history is not ascertained. It is said that he was married three times, and had nineteen children. He may have been the Samuel Cogswell who died March 2, 1779, in Mount Washington, Mass.

Memoranda.

*Samuel*⁶ Cogswell [217] may have been the same one of whom mention is made in Town Records of Southbury, Conn., as having an ear-mark recorded.

*Joel*⁶ Cogswell [218] was apprenticed when a small boy, and suffered such abuse that he never grew to a man's size nor had a man's voice. He sang like a woman. He was incapable of labor, on account of his diminutive size, and supported himself by going from place to place with some little show for exhibition.

*Submit*⁶ Cogswell [219] was known as "Capt. Cogswell."

NATHANIEL COGSWELL.

[76]

Genealogical.

NATHANIEL⁵ COGSWELL, (*Edward*⁴, *William*³, *William*², *John*¹), son of Edward⁴ [23] and Hannah (Brown) Cogswell, was born Feb. 13, 1714, in Ipswich, Mass. He married, Dec. 8, 1737, ¹*Huldah Kinney*, daughter of Dea. Thomas Kinney. She was born 1719, in Preston, Conn. Mrs. Cogswell died Oct. 30, 1754. Mr. Cogswell married, May 25, 1757, ²*Mrs. Bridget Wedge, née Cleaveland*, daughter of Capt. Joseph Cleaveland. She was born 1730, in Canterbury, Conn., and died May 20, 1781. Mr. Cogswell married, May 30, 1782, ³*Mrs. Eunice Williams*. She was born in 1726. Her death occurred Sept. 6, 1811. Mr. Cogswell lived in that part of Preston which is Griswold, Conn. He died Nov. 4, 1810, in the ninety-seventh year of his age.

THE CHILDREN OF THE FIRST MARRIAGE WERE:

EUNICE, [220] b. Oct. 22, 1738; m. Jan. 27, 1768, Caleb Terrill.

HULDAH, [221] b. May 10, 1740.

NATHANIEL, [222] b. May 16, 1742; m. ¹*Hannah* —; m. May 12, 1791, ²*Freelove Williams*; d. Nov. 16, 1821.

LOIS, [223] b. April 17, 1744.

JUDITH, [224] b. Jan. 30, 1746.

JOHN, [225] b. Dec. 28, 1747; m. May 13, 1784, ¹*Hannah Gallup*; m. Oct. 14, 1790, ²*Mrs. Elizabeth Brown*; d. July 21, 1820.

ELIZABETH, [229] } b. Oct. 11, 1754.

THE CHILDREN OF THE SECOND MARRIAGE WERE :

- NATHAN, [230] b. Jan. 28, 1759; m. — Woodward.
 JOSEPH, [231] b. June 8, 1760; m. — — —.
 WILLIAM, [232] b. Nov. 9, 1761; m. ¹*Abigail Belcher*; m. 1790, ²*Mrs. Mercy (Brewster) Coit*; d. June 23, 1823.
 BRIDGET, [233] b. May 3, 1763. She died in early life, March 12, 1781.
 HANNAH, [234] b. Jan. 12, 1765. She died in early life, July 23, 1781.

Memoranda.

There is found recorded the following action of the Assembly of Connecticut, under date of May, 1763: "This Assembly do establish Mr. Nathaniel Cogswell to be Lieutenant of the 2^d company or trainband in the town of Preston."

John⁵ Cogswell [250], son of Major William⁵ Cogswell [86], of New Preston, in 1801 rode on horseback, in company with his mother, Mrs. Anna (Whittlesey) Cogswell, to visit his brother, Roger⁵ Cogswell [241], in Hartford; and from thence to Preston, to visit his uncle, Nathaniel⁵ Cogswell [76], who, he says, "was smart and active, although eighty-seven years old, the last uncle living on the Cogswell side."

James H.⁵ Cogswell [567], of Parma, Ohio, 1883, at the age of eighty-three years, remembered his grandfather, Nathaniel⁵ Cogswell, who lived to the age of ninety-seven years. An incident is told of Lieut. Cogswell. At the age of eighty years, he rode on horseback some miles to visit his son. When ready to start homeward, his son led the saddled horse to the horse-block for his father to mount; but the old gentleman said, "No! my son; when I cannot mount my horse from the ground, I will ride no more."

A stone marks the grave of Lieut. Nathaniel Cogswell in the Griswold Cemetery, and is inscribed as follows:

"Then Abraham gave up the Ghost and died in good old age, an old man full of years."

Joseph⁶ Cogswell [231] married, and lived in North Woodstock, Conn., where he died. He was a jeweller and goldsmith. They had no children.

JUDITH COGSWELL.

Genealogical.

JUDITH⁵ COGSWELL, (Edward⁴, William³, William², John¹), daughter of Edward⁴ [23] and Hannah (Brown) Cogswell, was born Jan. 25, 1717, in Ipswich, Mass. She married Jacob Kinney. They lived in New Preston, Conn. Mrs. Kinney survived all her sisters.

THEIR CHILDREN WERE :

Abigail, Sarah, Daniel, Pearl, Jacob, Sybil, Cusiah, Lyman, Elias, Polly, Judith, and An Infant.

Memoranda.

Jacob Kinney was doubtless the same person who gave land on which to build the meeting-house in New Preston, as recorded:

"Dec. 21st, 1744. I, Jacob Kene, . . . in consideration of love and good will towards the society of New Preston, and in view of setting up . . . the worship of God in said society, do freely give . . . one acre of land to erect a meeting-house upon for the public worship of God." The name Kinney is variously spelled, Kinne, Kennie, Kene, and Kinney.

HANNAH COGSWELL.

Genealogical.

HANNAH⁵ COGSWELL, (*Edward*⁴, *William*³, *William*², *John*¹), daughter of *Edward*⁴ [23] and Hannah (Brown) Cogswell, was born April 13, 1719, in Ipswich, Mass. She married Matthew Beal. They resided in New Preston, but about 1792 removed to Salisbury, Conn.

THEIR CHILDREN WERE:

Matthew; Eunice; Hannah; Sarah; Mary, b. Aug. 24, 1745, m. Nov. 14, 1765, John Whittlesey, d. Sept. 30, 1802; Susan; and three children who died in infancy.

Memoranda.

John and Mary (Beal) Whittlesey lived in Salisbury, Conn. He was born Dec. 23, 1741, and died March 22, 1812.

THEIR CHILDREN WERE:

Matthew Beal, Chester, Eliphalet, Mary, John, Asaph, An Infant Son, and Elisha, b. Oct. 19, 1783, d. 1865, in Washington, D. C.

HON. ELISHA WHITTLESEY.

ELISHA WHITTLESEY, son of John and Mary (Beal) Whittlesey, was born Oct. 19, 1783, in the old homestead of the Whittleseys, in New Preston Parish, Conn. He was the seventh son. When he was nine years old, 1792, his parents removed to Salisbury, Conn., where his boyhood was spent. He early qualified himself for the practice of law, and was admitted to the bar of the county court of Fairfield, and opened an office in New Milford, Conn.

About 1812 he removed with his family to Canfield, Mahoning Co., Ohio. The country was then new; and it is said that he drove his wagon into the woods, and his family lived in it until a log-cabin could be built for them. Mr. Whittlesey secured a large professional practice in his own county and throughout Northern Ohio. He rose rapidly in public estimation, and was much respected for his ability as a lawyer and also as a gentleman of singular uprightness.

In 1823 he was elected to Congress from Ohio, and continued a member of the House of Representatives for eighteen years. Soon after he took his seat he was appointed on the Committee of Claims, of which he became chairman. While of this committee he effected great changes by his stern integrity, perseverance, and industry. Whatever measures he reported, the Congress were quite sure to adopt. He was at the head of the Treasury Department, and superintendent of the building of the Washington Monument, as far as that work was completed, prior to the War of the Union. He spent the most of his life in Washington, D. C. His death occurred in 1865. On a preceding page is an engraving of him.

Hon. Elisha Whittlesey may have been related to William Whittlesey, the Archbishop of Canterbury, who was primate of all England from 1368 to his death, in June, 1374. This relationship, however, has not been traced.

JOHN COGSWELL.

Genealogical.

JOHN⁵ COGSWELL, (*Edward*⁴, *William*³, *William*², *John*¹), son of Edward [23] and Hannah (Brown) Cogswell, was born April 5, 1721, in Ipswich, Mass. He married Sarah Freeman. It is said that they resided in Vermont.

THEIR CHILDREN WERE:

AMY, [235].

JOHN, [238].

ABIGAIL, [236].

SARAH, [239].

ELISHA, [237].

Memoranda.

JOHN COGSWELL was a farmer. To what place he removed in Vermont and his subsequent history are unknown. There was a John Cogswell, who died Sept. 9, 1787, in the sixty-seventh year of his age, and was buried in Chebacco Parish, Ipswich, Mass., who may have been identical with the above named.

Amy Cogswell [235] may be the same who married Nathan Hunt, of Little Compton, R. I.

LUCY COGSWELL.

Genealogical.

LUCY⁵ COGSWELL, (*Edward*⁴, *William*³, *William*², *John*¹), daughter of Edward⁴ [23] and Hannah (Brown) Cogswell, was born April 14, 1726, in Ipswich, Mass. She married Daniel Averill, son of Isaac Averill. He was born 1716. They resided, it is said, in Vermont.

THEIR CHILDREN WERE:

Lucy, Judith, Nathan, Daniel, Esther, and Ruth.

MARTHA COGSWELL.

Genealogical.

MARTHA⁵ COGSWELL, (Edward⁴, William³, William², John¹), daughter of Edward⁴ [23] and Hannah (Brown) Cogswell, was born Nov. 11, 1728, in Ipswich, Mass. She married Moses Averill, son of Isaac Averill. He was born 1724. They lived in New Preston Parish, Conn. Mrs. Averill died July 30, 1781.

THEIR CHILDREN WERE:

Isaac; Elisha, bapt. Feb. 24, 1754; Amy; Moses; Lewis; Currence, bapt. Feb. 12, 1764; Patty; Philo; and An Infant.

EMERSON COGSWELL.

[85]

Genealogical.

EMERSON⁵ COGSWELL, (Edward⁴, William³, William², John¹), son of Edward⁴ [23] and Hannah (Brown) Cogswell, was born July 19, 1732, in Ipswich, Mass. He married, Aug. 29, 1751, Mary Miles, daughter of Joseph and Mrs. Deborah (Welch) Miles, née Ferris. She was born Oct. 14, 1733, in New Milford, where they resided. Mr. Cogswell died in England. Mrs. Cogswell died Nov. 5, 1763. She was buried in Upper Merryall Cemetery, New Milford, Conn.

THEIR ONLY CHILD WAS:

PATIENCE, [240].

Memoranda.

EMERSON COGSWELL purchased in 1752 Lot 37 and a dwelling-house for one half the iron works in New Preston, Conn. He was a very expert and ingenious goldsmith. Prior to the Revolution, King George the Third made a proclamation, offering a very large reward to any person who would discover or invent "a perpetual motion." Mr. Cogswell became interested, and actually went to England on this business. Whether he thought he had actually made the discovery, or was expecting to make it, we are not told. But alas! his bright dreams of great wealth from the king came to a speedy end. He died soon after his arrival in England.

Joseph Miles, the father of Mrs. Cogswell, purchased of Edward Cogswell ninety acres of land, with house, saw and grist mill, parts of Lots 33, 34, 35, lying on both sides of the East Aspetuck River, New Milford, Conn.

WILLIAM COGSWELL.

Genealogical.

WILLIAM⁵ COGSWELL, (*Edward*⁴, *William*³, *William*², *John*¹), son of Edward⁴ [23] and Hannah (Brown) Cogswell, was born Dec. 22, 1734, in Ipswich, Mass. He married, Nov. 4, 1762, Anna Whittlesey, daughter of Eliphalet and Dorothy (Kellogg) Whittlesey. She was born Feb. 27, 1744, in New Milford, Conn., where they resided. Major Cogswell died Feb. 19, 1786. Mrs. Cogswell died Jan. 10, 1810.

THEIR CHILDREN WERE:

- ROGER, [241] b. July 25, 1763; m. March 12, 1786, Sarah Johnson; d. Aug. 1, 1819.
 HANNAH, [242] b. March 15, 1765; m. Capt. Nathan Tibballs; d. Sept. 13, 1823.

 ANNA, [248] b. Oct. 5, 1778; m. Dec. 31, 1797, ¹*Roger Averill*; m. ²*Dea. Julius Caswell*; d. Jan. 3, 1847.
 EMERSON, [249] b. March 30, 1781; m. Feb. 5, 1804, Deborah Squires; d. Feb. 7, 1829.
 JOHN, [250] b. Dec. 1, 1783; m. Jan. 1, 1807, ¹*Martha Waller*; m. Aug. 27, 1839, ²*Ruth M. Beebe*; m. Aug. 9, 1846, ³*Persis Olds*; m. July 25, 1849, ⁴*Ann Parsons*; d. Sept. 9, 1852.

Biographical.

WILLIAM⁵ COGSWELL was the youngest of thirteen children. While an infant his parents removed, 1735, to Preston, and later they settled in the northeast part of New Milford, Conn. His father purchased a large tract of land, and was the first settler in that region.

William, when about twenty-one years old, purchased of his father, Aug. 29, 1756, ninety acres of land. To this he added from time to time, until he became the owner of some 2,000 acres in and about New Preston Parish, with numerous buildings and appurtenances. He had a tavern, a country store, an iron foundry, a saw and grist mill, a potashry, a distillery and malt-house. From his orchards were made a thousand barrels of cider per annum. He kept twenty cows, a hundred sheep, and employed twenty men. At the age of twenty-eight he married Anna Whittlesey. Her father was the grandson of the immigrant, John Whittlesey, of Saybrook, Conn., who married Ruth Dudley, the granddaughter of Gov. Thomas Dudley, governor of Massachusetts in 1634, 1640, 1645, and 1650. Her mother was the granddaughter of John Chester, who married Sarah Wells, a daughter of Gov. Thomas Wells, governor of Connecticut from 1655 to 1658. They lived in a house which was standing in 1883, the residence of a lineal descendant, Gould C. Whittlesey, Esq. It was located at the junction of several roads, on the line of travel to New York, West Point, Hartford, Boston, and other large towns.

Mr. Cogswell was among the first to initiate revolutionary measures in resistance of English oppression. At a town meeting held Sept. 20, 1774, he was one of a committee chosen to collect and communicate all necessary intelligence of movements in and about Boston and other parts of the country. In Dec., 1776, he was on the Committee of Inspection and Correspondence. He was selectman of New Milford, Conn., from 1774 to 1777; elected moderator of the first meeting held in Washington in 1779; the first selectman, and elected the first representative of the new town to the General Assembly of Connecticut. He was re-elected each succeeding year, and was serving his eighth term as a member of the Assembly when he died. Mr. Cogswell was Justice of the Peace, Major in the State militia, and Captain in the army of the Revolution. He was in command, under Washington, in the retreat from Long Island. Major Cogswell died in the prime of life, leaving a widow and nine children. His estate was large. In the cemetery of New Preston Parish, Washington, Conn., the stone that marks the spot of his burial is inscribed as follows:

"Cropt at noon, he is gone! he is gone!
 He shined in acts of peace to still a storm.
 Skillful to advise and vigorous to perform,
 Kind to the world and duteous to the skies,
 Distress and want on him did fix their eyes,
 Here lies his body, blended with the dust,
 Waiting the resurrection of the just."

Memoranda.

GEN. WASHINGTON and many of the principal officers of the Revolution were, at different times, entertained at Major Cogswell's tavern, and soldiers by the scores and hundreds. When the treason of Arnold was communicated to Washington, as he was at a point where he must pass through New Preston early the next morning, he despatched a page, who was dressed in yellow flannel, to Major Cogswell's, to have breakfast ready promptly at six o'clock. He reached there at the time, and gave his suite fifteen minutes for breakfast. Washington's agitation was such that he himself did not sit down, but took a bowl of milk, and walked the room while eating.

One morning, after the previous day's fatigue, the cooks were sitting down to breakfast, and one said, "I hope we shall be permitted to eat in peace for once!" Just then an officer came galloping up, announcing that three hundred soldiers wanted breakfast immediately.

Major Cogswell was much from home during the war, and his wife was left to manage affairs in his absence. It is said of the Tories who lived in the neighborhood that, in the absence of Major Cogswell, they would gather about the premises, and seek to intimidate the children and Mrs. Cogswell; perhaps saying, "News has just come that Major Cogswell is dead; he was killed in the last battle; and now is a good time for Tories." More than once, sick of their impertinence, she armed herself with a chair, and cleared the house in quick time. In later life she was wont to say, "I never feared a Tory."

There is a tradition that an indignant public determined on a coat of tar and feathers for one Patterson, a noted Tory. They seized him and brought him to the "Cogswell Tavern" to execute their purpose. But Mrs. Cogswell made show of great remonstrance, and warned them, with a significant look, not to touch the tar down cellar nor the feathers up-stairs. This was enough to notify them where the needed articles were; and alas for poor Patterson! he was taken to an oak-tree near by, and the coat of tar and feathers applied with great thoroughness and satisfaction.

As a magistrate Major Cogswell sometimes married people. A couple from the old country, whom he had married not long before, came into his yard one day and wished to be unmarried. He said, "I'll do it." There stood near by a block and cleaver. "Here," he said, "whichever of you wishes to be unmarried, put your head on this block, and I will cut it off; that will do it." They stared at him, then looked at each other, and at last one of them timidly asked, "Is there no other way?" He said, "No." They concluded not to be unmarried.

COPY OF THE DEED OF SALE OF A SLAVE BY WILLIAM COGSWELL.

"Know all men by these presents, that I, William Cogswell, of New Milford, in Litchfield county, do sell and convey unto Nicholas Moss, of Derby, in New Haven county, one certain negro girl named Dorcas, about eighteen years of age, which girl I sell to the said Nicholas Moss during her natural life; and I have good right to sell the same, and do bind myself and my heirs to warrant her to him and his heirs, for forty-five pounds lawful money, from all other claims and demands whatever. In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand this 29th day of July, Anno Domini 1773."

"In presence of $\left\{ \begin{array}{l} \textit{Daniel Moss.} \\ \textit{Ephraim Keeney.} \end{array} \right.$ "

David C. Whittlesey, Esq., late of Washington, Conn., married a granddaughter of Major William Cogswell. Beside Major Cogswell's grave is that of Edward Cogswell [23]. The stone is inscribed: "Edward Cogswell, Died April 17, 1773, aged 81 years."

Biographical.

EMERSON COGSWELL kept a tavern. In the Revolution he was a minute-man and held the commission of Second Lieutenant in a company organized Feb., 1776, under Capt. George Minot and First-Lieut. Edward Wright. Lieut. Cogswell was with his company in Cambridge in 1776, and in Rhode Island in 1778. He was a member of the "Committee of Safety." Mr. Cogswell resided in a building in later years known as "The Old Block-House." After his father's death his mother resided with him and kept school in his house, having her grandchildren among her pupils. Subsequent to the war Lieut. Cogswell went to Canada to learn "the art and mystery of making napped hats," and became the first manufacturer of napped hats in the region. He failed in business by signing paper for a Mr. Brown. Mr. Cogswell in person was portly, wore short-clothes with knee buckles, after the fashion of those days. He was called "Leftenant Cogswell," a man of great sociability and the story-teller of the town. "The Social Circle of Concord," which had a somewhat noted existence from 1782 to 1808, was organized at Mr. Cogswell's house, he being one of the three present at the first meeting. The other two were Rev. Mr. Ripley, who boarded, before his marriage, in Mr. Cogswell's family, and Mr. Samuel Bartlett. Mr. Cogswell was a great reader, and familiar with the Bible. The copy from which he read bears the marks of use. It was a Dublin edition of 1714, and is in the possession of Mrs. William S. Robinson, of Malden, Mass. Lieut. Emerson Cogswell died May 13, 1808, at the age of sixty-five years, and was buried in the old North Hill Cemetery in Concord, Mass. At his funeral Rev. Dr. Ripley remarked,

“If there ever was a good man, I think Mr. Cogswell was one.” The following appeared in a Boston paper of that date: “He was a valuable member of society, and his loss is deeply regretted by many who have tasted of and experienced the substantial benefits of his beneficence. He was a faithful and interesting companion, and an honest man.”

Memoranda.

Dr. Stone, who married Mary Cogswell [251], removed to Georgia, where he died in 1849, at the age of seventy-two years. There were no children.

James Call, who married Lucy Cogswell [253], was the son of James Call. He was born, lived, and died in Charlestown, Mass. He was a baker. Mrs. Call remained a widow, and for some twenty years made her home with a nephew, Jeremiah Robinson, and died at his house in Jackson, Mich., at the age of more than eighty years. They had no children.

Edward Cogswell [262] followed the seas; was in the service of his country in the War of 1812, taken prisoner, and died at an early age. He was on board the “Old Constitution.”

“The Old Elm-Tree,” still standing on the corner next to the church, in Concord, Mass., was planted a hundred or more years ago by Lieut. Cogswell.

Biographical.

NATHANIEL COGSWELL was indentured Sept., 1756, by his guardian, Joseph Appleton, to Dr. John Perkins of Boston, until the completion of his twenty-first year, "to learn his art or mystery as much as may be in physick, Perkins surgery, anatomy, and pharmacy," for which he was "to pay to the said John sixty-six pounds, thirteen shillings, and fourpence lawful money," and Dr. Perkins agreed "to find meat, drink, washing, and lodging fitting and suitable for the s^d Nathl."

"After his settlement in Rowley he did not practise physic, for which by a natural distaste and too great sensibility he was ill-fitted, but soon transformed his lancet into the sickle, and the drug-shop into a garner. He considered agriculture as the most independent and least responsible occupation, and was delighted, not only with theoretical, but with practical and experimental husbandry. Unlike his brother, Col. Cogswell [99], of Ipswich, who had for many years served both in military and legislative capacity, he was averse to public life, yet, at the news of Lexington fight, he equipped his horse and himself and hurried to Cambridge, where he remained until the alarm was over."

"His heart and cares were centred in home. He loved tranquillity and hated wars and rumors of wars, and thought that only by pride cometh contention. Still he was an independent, self-thinking man, inflexible in principle and active in beneficence."

May 8, 1875, he was appointed by the town of Rowley one of the Committee of Correspondence, who were authorized to see that the resolves of the Massachusetts Provincial Congress were duly regarded and executed, and on March 19, 1776, he was appointed one of the Committee of Safety.

Biographical.

JONATHAN COGSWELL was born on the "Cogswell farm" in Chebacco Parish, where he settled down and became a thrifty farmer. In 1791 he purchased and removed to what was called the "Pickering place." The house was the "old parsonage," built by Rev. Mr. Pickering, the second minister of that parish, and occupied by him for many years, and afterwards by Rev. John Cleaveland and Rev. Mr. Porter. It had also been the residence of Dr. Davis, the first physician, who settled in that part of Ipswich. Mr. Cogswell was a public man, filled many important positions. He was Justice of the Peace, Feoffee of the grammar school, Judge of the Court of Sessions, on the "Committee of Correspondence and Inspection," in the Revolutionary period, Captain of a military company raised in 1774, Major in 1775, and Colonel of the Second Regiment of Massachusetts in the army of the Revolution from 1776 to the close of the war. He was a member of the State Constitutional Convention of 1780, and of the Massachusetts United States Constitutional Convention of 1788. He voted for the adoption of the Constitution of the United States. He was Representative to the General Court of Massachusetts for seventeen years, in 1776, 1792, 1793, and from 1800 to 1813 consecutively. Col. Cogswell was greatly affected by the death of his only surviving son, Col. Jonathan Cogswell, Jr., a young man of ability and great promise, whose death was a public calamity as well as a great bereavement to his family. For appropriate obituary notices of both father and son, vid. "THE HISTORY OF ESSEX, MASS." Col. Cogswell, Sen., died April 19, 1819, on the forty-fourth anniversary of the battle of Lexington, and the year in which the ancient parish of Chebacco became the new town of Essex, Mass.

Memoranda.

Elizabeth Wise, who married Jonathan Cogswell, was a granddaughter of Rev. John Wise, and a descendant of Gen. Daniel Denison. Her mother was a daughter of Col. John and Mary (Leverett) Denison.

Col. John Denison was a son of Rev. John and Elizabeth (Saltonstall) Denison, and a descendant of both Gov. Thomas Dudley and Sir Richard Saltonstall.

Mary Leverett, wife of Col. John Denison, was the daughter of Hon. John Leverett, F. R. S., president of Harvard College from 1768 to 1724, and granddaughter of Gov. John Leverett, governor of Massachusetts from 1673 to 1679.

Rev. John Wise, grandfather of Mrs. Cogswell, was the first settled pastor of the church in Chebacco Parish. He was born Aug., 1652, in Roxbury, Mass.; graduated from Harvard College in 1673; settled over the church in Chebacco Parish, Aug. 12, 1683, where he continued in office until his death, April 8, 1725. Rev. Mr. Wise has been described as "a man of majestic aspect and great bodily strength; resembled Washington." He was the first man in America known to have opposed the idea of "taxation without representation." This he did oppose a hundred years before the Revolution, and publicly instructed his people to resist taxes levied under Sir Edmund Andros, for which he was imprisoned Aug., 1687, and sentenced to pay a heavy fine. A monument marks the grave of Rev. John Wise, in the centre of the churchyard, and bears this inscription:

" Underneath Lies the Body of the REV. JOHN WISE, A. M.,
First Pastor of the Second Church in Ipswich;
Graduated at Harvard College in 1673;
Ordained Pastor of said Church in 1681;
And died April 8th, 1725,
Aged 73.
For talents, piety, and learning
He shone as a star of the First Magnitude."

Biographical.

WILLIAM COGSWELL was a trader. He resided and had a store in Boston until just before the siege of that town in 1775, when he was compelled to seek safety for himself and family by removal. He abandoned his business and the new house he had lately built, on Milk Street, and removed to Marlboro', Mass., where he continued in trade and also carried on the manufacture of potash. He died at the age of seventy-three years, leaving a large family and a good estate. This record is made of him: "Mr. Cogswell was a genial, generous, hospitable man, and a good patriot."

Memoranda.

WILLIAM COGSWELL'S mother was the daughter of Rev. John Rogers, of Ipswich, Mass., who was the son of Rev. John Rogers, president of Harvard College, who was the son of Rev. Nathaniel Rogers, of Ipswich, who was the son of Rev. John Rogers, of Dedham, England, who was the grandson of JOHN ROGERS, who was burned at the stake, Feb. 5, 1555, in Smithfield, England.

Mrs. Abigail (Dawes) Cogswell was brought up in a home so strict in the godliness of the times "that the children were not allowed to laugh or look out of the window on Sunday."

William¹ Dawes, (Thomas³, Ambrose², William¹), her father, died Nov. 14, 1802.

William Dawes, Jr., a brother of Mrs. Cogswell, was a distinguished patriot. His name is associated with that of Paul Revere. When Paul Revere started from Charlestown for Lexington and Concord on the night of April 18, 1775, William Dawes, Jr., left Boston by the road over the Neck at full speed towards Lexington, rousing the people as he went along.

William Dawes, Jr., was born April 6, 1745, in Ann Street, Boston, Mass. He was a tanner, and his place of business was at the corner of Sudbury and Friend Streets. He married, May 3, 1768, Mehitable May, at the age of seventeen, daughter of Samuel and Catharine (Mears) May, of Boston. They lived for seven or eight years at 64 Ann Street. They were both members of the Old South Church. They had six children. He fought at Bunker Hill. In later life they lived in Marlboro', Mass., where he died Feb. 25, 1799.

John Adams said to Samuel Adams that they had seen "four noble families rise up in Boston, the Craftsers, Gores, Daweses, and Austins."

William Cogswell, being engaged in trade, was accustomed to go to New York and Philadelphia for goods. Some time during the war it is said, "he made a journey to Philadelphia and returned on horseback, bringing his saddle-bags full of nutmegs, which he sold for one dollar apiece." The descendants of Mr. Cogswell still live in Marlboro'. His daughter Ruth occupied the old homestead till her death. William Gibbon, of Marlboro', and John Brown, a merchant in Concord, Mass., were his grandsons.

A GRANDDAUGHTER of William and Abigail (Dawes) Cogswell gives a graphic account of the hegira of the family from Boston, in 1775. She says, "I have often heard my grandmother relate the manner of their moving. The crowds of people who were eager to leave the town made it extremely difficult to get a vehicle for their goods, or conveyance for themselves. After a good deal of trouble, however, they succeeded in getting a one-horse wagon, with a colored man, who was servant in the family of a relative, for a driver, and into this wagon they put all the goods they could take with them. Another vehicle on two wheels, a sort of chaise without a top, was to convey the women and children. The second wife of Grandfather Dawes, Mrs. Hannah (Jackson) Dawes, had her two children, afterwards Mrs. Tidd and Mrs. Hammond, then nine and ten years of age. These children had shawls tied round their waists, attached to Grandmother Dawes's arms, to hold them in. The good lady was also to hold Grandmother Cogswell's baby, while grandmother drove. This was very likely her first attempt at driving, and she was not very skillful, as subsequent events proved.

"Starting out in this queer fashion, they must have presented a spectacle both ludicrous and touching, for they carried heavy hearts with them, leaving dear ones behind of whose fate they were uncertain, and feeling anxious for their own. They were obliged to ask leave to pass the gates (on the Neck), grandfather, with hat in hand, waiting while an official examined his goods to see that no arms or ammunition were concealed in them. After due search they were allowed to pass on. They proceeded very well for a time, but came to grief before night, for, going down a hill in Weston, the horse in the gig, or whatever it might be called, fell down, throwing out the entire load. The baby's face was badly cut upon the sharp stones and bled profusely, but a brook was near by (Stony Brook), at which they bathed the child's face and rested.

"In after years, as the family journeyed back and forth to and from Boston, this brook was pointed out as the scene of their peril and delivery. In due time they reached Marlboro'. They lived for a time in a few hired rooms, and afterwards rented a house in the middle of the town, where grandfather began a small trading business. Afterwards, when he had decided to remain there, he bought a very pleasant house, which had been owned by Col. Barnes, a Tory, and confiscated, and there resided until his death." Ibid. "DAWES GENEALOGY."

Charles³ Cogswell [304] married Lucy Wilder; he died June 11, 1838. Mrs. Lucy Cogswell died 1846. The will of Widow Lucy Cogswell, of Marlboro', Mass., was proved May, 1846. They had no children.

Biographical.

JONATHAN COGSWELL lived in the Cogswell House, which was built when he was seven years of age, 1732. He married the daughter of his father's second wife. For thirty-two years, April 7, 1780, to Feb. 12, 1812, he was a deacon of the church. The stones which mark the graves of Dea. Cogswell and his wife are inscribed as follows :

"Dea. Jonathan Cogswell, who died Feb. 12, 1812,
Æt. 87."

"Mary Cogswell, wife of Dea. Jonathan Cogswell, who died June 30, 1813,
Æt. 84."

Memoranda.

JONATHAN COGSWELL [322], son of Dea. Jonathan Cogswell, was a soldier of the Revolution. The tradition is that "he was buried on Bunker Hill, 1776."

Mary Cogswell [326] married David Choate, Esq. She lived but a few months. Mr. Choate married, Feb. 22, 1785, Miriam Foster, daughter of Capt. Aaron Foster. They had two daughters and four sons. One of the sons was the late HON. RUFUS CHOATE, of Boston, Mass.

HON. RUFUS CHOATE, LL. D.

Rufus Choate, son of David and Miriam (Foster) Choate, was born Oct. 1, 1799, in Chellico Parish, Ipswich, Mass. His early instructor in the classics, in which Mr. Choate became so distinguished a scholar, was a young student from Dartmouth College, afterward the Rev. William Cogswell, D. D. [411]. Mr. Choate graduated from Dartmouth College in 1819, where he was under appointment as tutor in 1819-20. He then entered the Law School at Cambridge, Mass., and completed his course of most thorough legal study in the offices of Judge Cummins, of Salem, Mass., and Hon. William Wirt, LL. D., Attorney-General of the United States, Washington, D. C. He commenced the practice of his profession in Danvers, Mass., and represented that town in the State Legislature in 1825. Mr. Choate soon removed to Salem, Mass., and was chosen a member of the State Senate in 1827. In 1832 he was elected Representative to Congress from the Essex District, Mass. He declined a re-election in 1834, and removed to Boston, Mass. He was chosen United States Senator in 1841, to fill out the unexpired term of Hon. Daniel Webster, LL. D., who was appointed Secretary of State. He resigned his seat in the United States Senate, and in 1846 resumed law practice in Boston. In 1853 he was chosen Attorney-General of Massachusetts. His position for many years was at the head of the Suffolk Bar. Mr. Choate's mind was very acute, his scholarship broad, diversified, and accurate, his eloquence impassioned, and his rhetoric magnificent. Some of his more famous efforts were "A EULOGY ON PRESIDENT HARRISON," "AN ADDRESS ON THE LANDING OF THE PILGRIMS," and "A EULOGY ON HON. DANIEL WEBSTER." For the benefit of his health Mr. Choate sailed, June 20, 1850, for England, but was unable to proceed on the voyage. He landed at Halifax, N. S., where he died, July 13, 1850, and in this event there passed from earth one of the most illustrious of distinguished Americans.

Dear Mr. H. G.

Rev. Timothy Symmes came to Ipswich some time in 1752. He was an assistant of Rev. Mr. Rogers, then pastor in Ipswich. He had been previously settled in Connecticut and also in New Jersey. He was a zealous promoter of evangelical religion, and much engaged in the "Great Awakening" of 1741-2. Rev. Mr. Rogers introduced him to his people "as a man who had been driven from his society in Connecticut ten years before, for being so active on the side of religion."

W. H. Harrison

Lydia Cogswell was his second wife. The name of his first wife was — Cleaves. By this marriage there was one son, John Cleaves Symmes, who married Anna Tuthill, daughter of Henry Tuthill, Esq. He was a commander of cavalry in the war of the Revolution, and subsequently Judge of the Supreme Court of New Jersey.

Hon. John C. Symmes, Oct. 15, 1788, received from the United States government a million acres of land in Ohio. This grant included the present site of Cincinnati. He removed to Ohio, and was appointed by President Washington United States District Judge of the "Northwestern Territory." His residence was at North Bend, and was named "Cleaves." He died Feb., 1814.

Anna Symmes, the daughter of Hon. John C. and Anna (Tuthill) Symmes, lived much with her grandfather, Henry Tuthill, Esq. She was educated at East Hampton, Mass. Miss Symmes was a young lady of culture and many personal charms. This granddaughter of Rev. Timothy Symmes, who married Lydia Cogswell, received the attentions of a young officer of the United States Army, then in command of Fort Hamilton, whom she married, Nov. 22, 1795. This gallant young officer who won the hand of the beautiful Anna Symmes subsequently became well known. His portrait on the preceding page will be readily recognized.

GEN. WILLIAM HENRY HARRISON,

PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

WILLIAM HENRY HARRISON, son of Benjamin Harrison, was born Feb. 9, 1773. His father was a signer of the Declaration of Independence. Subsequent to his father's death he was in the army from 1792 to 1797. In 1801 he was Governor of Indiana; then he represented that State in Congress. From 1811 to 1814, during the Indian and English War, he was commander-in-chief of the American Army. In 1816 he was elected Representative to Congress, and chosen in 1824 to the United States Senate. In 1840 he was elected the ninth President of the United States. He died one month after his inauguration, April 4, 1841.

MRS. ANNA (SYMMES) HARRISON survived her honored and lamented husband over twenty years. She died at the age of eighty-eight, Feb. 25, 1864.

Rev. Timothy and Lydia (Cogswell) Symmes had two sons. During the war of the Revolution they went to Newfield, Me., where they settled on farms.

William Symmes, the younger, was a deacon in the church. He married, Dec. 12, 1782, Mehitable Moulton.

Biographical.

THOMAS COGSWELL was a commissioned officer in the army of the Revolution during the whole war. He was Captain, then Major Jan. 1, 1777, then Lieutenant-Colonel Nov. 26, 1799, and afterward Wagon-Master General. He led a company in the battle of Bunker Hill, was present at the siege of Boston, and continued in the service until peace was declared. He then settled on a farm in Gilmanton, N. H., and was called to fill various civil offices in town and State. He filled the office of Judge of the Court of Common Pleas from 1784 to his death, in 1810. Hon. Thomas Cogswell was twice nominated for Representative to Congress from New Hampshire. For a more extended notice of him see "John Upham and his Descendants," Note B, page 85. Mr. Cogswell, Sept., 1804, donated a sacramental service to the First Congregational Church in Gilmanton, N. H. In recognition of this, and in respect to his memory, the church erected a stone to mark the spot of his burial. The following obituary notice of him was published at the time :

 DEATH OF THE
Hon. Thomas Cogswell,
 OF GILMANTON, N. H.

DEPARTED this life, on Monday the 3d day of September, 1810, the Hon THOMAS COGSWELL, ESQ., of Gilmanton, in the 64th year of his age. On Wednesday following, his remains were decently interred, attended by his disconsolate and affectionate wife and children; together with a numerous and respectable concourse of people, who sympathized with his relations at the loss of so kind a Husband, indulgent Parent, and worthy member of the community. He was born at Haverhill, in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts; at an early age, with the good of his country at heart, he became an Officer in the United States service, in the Revolutionary War, in which he continued during all our struggles with England, and exhibited himself the Patriot and the Hero. — When Peace was echoed from shore to shore, the good of his country called him into another sphere of action. — Here he displayed that firmness and benevolence, which characterize the great and the good Statesman; and continued a firm supporter of the rights of his fellow-citizens, and the liberty of his country until his departure. No man could have been more useful; from his youth, he was given to hospitality. The rich and the great honoured him, and the poor shared in his bounty. — Thus has fallen one, for whom while his connexions mourn, his country will lament.

“ Hope springs beyond the grave.”

Memoranda.

THOMAS COGSWELL married his cousin, and the marriage rite was performed by Rev. Moses Badger, the uncle of both the parties. Mr. and Mrs. Cogswell, prior to the Revolution, lived in Haverhill, Mass., where three of their children were born. During the war Mrs. Cogswell and the children made their home with her father, GEN. JOSEPH BADGER, of Gilmanton, N. H. At the close of the war Gen. Cogswell settled on a farm near to that of his father-in-law.

NATHANIEL COGSWELL [378] graduated from Dartmouth College in 1794; was admitted to the practice of the law; travelled in Europe; on his return he accepted a general's commission in the Spanish Patriot Army, and died Aug., 1813, at the Rapids of Red River, La.

FRANCIS COGSWELL [384] also graduated from Dartmouth College in the class of 1811. He was for a short time a teacher. He entered the army in the War of 1812, and died Dec. 8, 1812, in Plattsburg, N. Y.

ALFRED COGSWELL [387] has been described as “a tall, handsome man and loved by everybody.” He died, unmarried, in Dixon, Ill.

“Prince” was the name of a colored servant whom Gen. Thomas Cogswell brought home from the war. “Prince” and his descendants were in the Cogswell family many years. He “was a smart negro and had great pride of family.” His widow, “Aunt Sophia,” survived him, and died, at the age of eighty-five years, in 1882, in Gilford, N. H.

A MEMORIAL TO THE HONORABLE CONTINENTAL CONGRESS.

"THE MEMORIAL OF MAJOR THOMAS COGSWELL sheweth that he entered into the service of the U. S. on the 19th of April, 1775, with the command of a company in the line of Mass.; that the reduction and mode of raising regiments for the service from that State down to 1777 did not admit of any promotion of those officers who were retained in service (accidental causes excepted); at the beginning of 1777 your memorialist received the appointment of Major in the 1st Mass. Regt.; that on the 6th of Sept., 1779, there was a vacancy of a Lieut.-Col. in the 15th Mass. Regt.; that your memorialist and then Major Hull became competitors for that office; that on the 26th of Nov. your memorialist was appointed a Lieut.-Col. by the authority of the State of Mass., at which time your memorialist and his competitor were present and examined respecting the premises; that on the next day Major Hull requested the authority of the State for a re-hearing; it was granted and terminated a 2d time in favor of your memorialist, who then repaired to camp, took command in the 15th Regt., and was mustered as Lieut.-Col.; that your memorialist's competitor kept up the dispute, and in Feb., 1780, ex parte obtained an appointment to the same office. The contention was still continued, and at the close of the year 1780 your memorialist, rather than continue the dispute, which appeared to be injurious to the service, requested in a letter to Brig-Gen. Glover to retire from the service in the arrangement to take place, with a determination never to take on him any military command whatever, but at the repeated solicitations of the Quartermaster General, and at the request of many principal officers in the army, your memorialist accepted that of Wagon-Master General, and had continued to this day. Although there was a series of misfortunes attended your memorialist as to his rank (too many to impart in a memorial), yet he flatters himself he is in possession of such documents as to convince Congress that he is not unworthy their notice, and from the disposition that Hon. body has ever shown to reward the deserving part of the army, he is induced to request Congress to take his particular circumstances under their consideration, and confirm to him his rank of Lieut.-Col. from the 6th of Sept., 1779, that the Paymaster Gen. may issue his certificates for receiving of pay and commutation accordingly. As in duty bound, &c., &c."

GEN. GEORGE WASHINGTON'S LETTER.

"I certify that in the dispute of rank between Majors Hull and Cogswell, which was ultimately determined in favor of the former, there was no personal preference to Major Hull, but that his succession to the vacant Lieutenant-Colonelcy depended solely upon the established principles of promotion, he having been considered as an elder Major than Major Cogswell from the time of the new arrangement of the army in 1777. And I do further certify that Major Cogswell has been always represented to me as an intelligent, brave, and active officer.

"Given at Headquarters at New Windsor, the 7th of Jan., 1781.

(Signed) "GEORGE WASHINGTON."

Biographical.

Mrs. Searle was the only daughter in her father's family of nineteen children who lived to mature years. The likeness that remains of her is here inserted.

Hannah Cogswell.

Subsequent to the death of Rev. Mr. Searle, Mrs. Searle was offered in marriage the hand of Judge Farrar, of New Hampshire, but chose to remain a widow. She had a blanket made of satin in colors, white, pink, and green, in which her mother's nineteen infants were baptized. This relic is now in the possession of her granddaughter, Mrs. Harriet (Russell) Barrett, of Mason, N. H. Mrs. Searle died at the age of eighty years, and lies buried by the side of her husband in the Cemetery of Mason, N. H. In 1879 their granddaughter, Mrs.

Sarah Hannah (Searle) Webster, of Saxonville, Mass., caused to be erected in the New Cemetery of Mason a granite monument to their memory.

Rev. Mr. Searle graduated from Harvard College in the class of 1764. He was ordained to the gospel ministry, and installed pastor of the Congregational Church in Mason, N. H., Oct. 14, 1772. He was the first pastor of the church, and continued in office about ten years. On hearing of the battle of Lexington, April 19, 1775, he preached a war sermon the next Sabbath from the text Ps. cxlix. 6, "LET THE HIGH PRAISES OF GOD BE IN THEIR MOUTH AND A TWO-EDGED SWORD IN THEIR HAND." He resigned his pastorate in 1781, and soon after gave up preaching, and devoted himself to agriculture and civil pursuits. He was appointed Justice of the Peace, and transacted much public business. This office he held until his death, which occurred when he was sixty-eight years of age. The house which Rev. Mr. Searle built and in which he lived is, 1883, standing, and occupied by his descendants.

Biographical.

AMOS COGSWELL joined the Army of the Revolution, May 10, 1775, and continued in the service of his country until the close of the war, Dec. 31, 1783. He was first an Ensign in the company of which his brother, Thomas Cogswell [152], was Captain, in Col. Gerrish's regiment. In 1776 he was promoted to Lieutenant in Col. L. Baldwin's regiment. Jan. 1, 1777, he received a Captain's commission in Col. James Wasson's regiment; and at Princeton, Oct. 10, 1783, Capt. Cogswell was brevetted Major for gallant service. He was in the army over eight years. He took part at the siege of Boston, and was in the battles of Trenton, Princeton, and Monmouth. Capt. Cogswell was present May 13, 1783, in Newburgh, N. Y., on the banks of the Hudson, when the officers of the American Revolutionary Army organized "THE SOCIETY OF THE CINCINNATI," of which organization Washington was elected President-General in 1787. There were present at the organization of this order, and among its original members. Major Thomas Cogswell, Capt. Amos Cogswell, brothers, and Lieut. Samuel Cogswell; the latter was probably Samuel⁶ Cogswell [480], son of Rev. James⁵ Cogswell, D. D., of Canterbury, Conn. They all served through the war with distinction. Subsequently, when the war was over, Major Cogswell received from Gov. Langdon, of New Hampshire, a commission, dated Oct. 22, 1785, as Colonel of First Regiment of Light Horse. His under officers were Lieut.-Col. William Brewster, of Portsmouth, Major Jonathan Cass, the father of Gen. Lewis Cass, of Exeter, N. H.

GEN. WASHINGTON, on his Northern tour in 1789, visited Portsmouth, N. H., and was escorted, Oct. 30, 1789, from the State line to the town by Col. Cogswell's regiment of Light Horse, Col. Cogswell himself being in command. Col. Amos Cogswell took up his residence in Dover, N. H., Sept., 1784. He married, Nov. 20, 1785, Mrs. Lydia (Baker) Wallingford, a daughter of Col. Otis Baker, of Dover, N. H. She was the widow of Capt. Samuel Wallingford, whom she married July 22, 1775. Her husband, Capt. Wallingford, was killed on board the "Ranger," under command of John Paul Jones, in the naval battle and capture of the British ship of war "Drake," April 24, 1778, off Belfast, Ireland.

Capt. Samuel and Lydia (Baker) Wallingford had one son, who was born May 19, 1776, and named George Washington. He graduated at Harvard College in 1795, was admitted to the bar in 1798, and practised law in Wells, now Kennebunk, Me., until his death, Jan. 20, 1824. Vid. "WENTWORTH GENEALOGY," Vol. II, pp 91, 97, and 98.

The marriage of Col. Amos Cogswell and Mrs. Lydia (Baker) Wallingford was solemnized by REV. JEREMY BELKNAP, D. D., minister of Dover, and HISTORIAN OF NEW HAMPSHIRE. Col. Cogswell was called to fill many civil offices as a citizen of Dover, N. H. He represented the town in the State Legislature as Representative in 1807, 1808, 1809, 1810, 1812, 1814, 1815, and perhaps other years. He was State Senator in 1818, 1819, and 1820, and Presidential Elector in 1816. He was chosen President of the New Hampshire branch of "THE SOCIETY OF THE CINCINNATI." There is still extant a petition of Col. Amos Cogswell to the Secretary of War for his pension, dated July 8, 1820, in his own handwriting. An extract from this petition is copied on the following page. Vid. MEMORANDA.

Hon. Amos Cogswell died at the age of seventy-three years. Mrs. Cogswell survived her husband about two years, and died at the age of sixty-eight years. Their remains lie side by side in the Cemetery in Dover, N. H., and the spot is marked by a fitting monument, erected by their distinguished grandson, the HON. JOHN WENTWORTH, of Chicago, Ill.

Memoranda.

HON. AMOS COGSWELL resided in a house that was standing in 1878, and owned by Edward Wiggin, Esq. In this house all of Mr. Cogswell's children were born.

PETITION OF COL. AMOS COGSWELL.

DATED JULY 8, 1820.

In Extract: "About the 10th May, 1775, I entered the service of my country as Second Lieutenant in Col. Gerrish's regiment, in the Massachusetts line, and was in a small action with the enemy at Sewell's Point with their floating batteries. In 1776 I served as Second Lieutenant in Col. Baldwin's regiment in New York; was in a small action with the enemy when they landed at Throg's Neck, and also at White Plains.

"At Trenton I waded across the river, and took two Hessian prisoners under the Bridge; in doing which I got a bad cold, and have had the rheumatism more or less ever since. In 1777, January 1st, I was appointed a Captain in the 9th Massachusetts Regiment, commanded by Col. James Wasson; was up the Mohawk River; took Ensign Butler with fourteen Canada Rangers and three Indians, prisoners; was at the raising of the siege of Fort Schuyler; marched from Albany to Ballston with one hundred men, and took forty refugees prisoners, that were going to Canada; was at the taking of Burgoyne; marched into their encampment with one hundred men, when their troops marched out, and collected together all their arms, and made my report to the Adjutant-General that night.

"From there I joined General Washington at Whitmarsh; was in the battle of Monmouth; was in a small action near Kings's Bridge, when the French troops joined the American army.

"I continued in service until the last day of December, 1783, when I left with a commission of Brevet Major.

"I retired from service and settled at Dover, N. H. I married a young widow, whose husband was a Captain of Marines, Samuel Wallingford, in the ship 'Ranger,' with Capt. Paul Jones, Commander, when he took the British ship of war 'Drake,' and then lost his life. According to the several acts of Congress, she was entitled to about $1,000 for the prisoners and guns so taken, but she has never been able to obtain anything. She is now in years, very infirm, of the same complaint as my own. She thinks she ought to draw a stipend from Government for one or the other of her husbands.

"I have always been a true friend to my country, both in the field and cabinet. I have served about ten years as a member in our General Court, three years in the Honorable Senate, and have had the honor of being one of the electors, in 1816, for our present President and Vice-President. I do say, not to my knowledge did I ever miss a regular tour of duty the whole time I was in service, but performed hundreds for my brother officers that were absent in visiting their friends.

"AMOS COGSWELL."

Biographical.

MOSES COGSWELL was in the naval service for nearly the whole period of the Revolution. He held the commission of Lieutenant and served as a privateersman. Lieut. Cogswell was once captured and held as a prisoner of war at Halifax, N. S. It happened to be at the time of the notable Dark Day in New England. In Halifax the sun shone brightly all day, and when the British heard of the event they said, "It was a divine curse upon the rebels."

After the war Lieut. Cogswell settled in Canterbury, N. H. He carried on a farm, kept a tavern, and was Justice of the Peace. Lieut. Cogswell's death was very sudden, of paralysis. His wife's death occurred exactly three years after, on the same day of the same month.

Memoranda.

Rev. and Hon. Abiel Foster, Mrs. Cogswell's father, was a native of Andover, Mass., and son of Capt. Asa Foster. He graduated from Harvard College in 1756. He was a member of the Continental Congress in 1783 and 1784, and for several terms after the adoption of the Constitution, 1789-91, 1795-1803. He was the only one of the New Hampshire delegation to the Continental Congress who witnessed the sublime spectacle when the Commander-in-Chief of the American Army delivered up his sword to the American Congress. Hon. Abiel Foster died in 1806, at the age of seventy-one years.

Nancy Cogswell [407] was the third wife of Chase Wyatt, who was born July 12, 1805. He married two of her nieces. They lived in Tilton, N. H. He died 1882.

Biographical.

WILLIAM COGSWELL, at the age of twelve years, preparatory to the study of medicine, was placed under the private instruction of his uncle, Rev. Jonathan Searle, of Mason, N. H. The war of the Revolution breaking out, he entered the army, at the age of fifteen years, enlisting in the company commanded by his older brother, Capt. Thomas Cogswell, in Col. Baldwin's regiment. Having served the term of his enlistment, from Jan. 1, 1776, to Jan. 1, 1777, he pursued the study of medicine and surgery with Dr. Nathaniel Peabody, of Atkinson, N. H. In 1778 he re-entered the service of his country for a short time, under Gen. Sullivan, of Rhode Island. Having completed his medical studies, he was appointed, July 19, 1781, Surgeon's Mate in the Military Hospital at West Point, N. Y. Jan. 5, 1784, he was promoted to the position of Surgeon-in-Chief of the hospital and Chief Medical Officer of the United States Army, which he filled from June 20, 1784, to Aug., 1785. Dr. Cogswell resigned the position of Surgeon-in-Chief, Sept. 1, 1785, and terminated his connection with the army, having been some five years in the service of the country. He soon after married and settled in Atkinson, N. H., where he continued in the practice of his profession, for almost half a century, until his death.

Dr. Cogswell was one of the original members of the New Hampshire Medical Society, which was incorporated in 1791. He was appointed by the General Court one of its nineteen Fellows. Many medical students were under his instruction. He was one of the founders of Atkinson Academy, which was incorporated in 1791, and a member and the President of its Board of Trustees for many years. He gave the land on which the academy was erected. Dr. Cogswell was appointed, Oct. 5, 1794 Justice of the Peace by Gov. Gilman of New Hampshire. Sept. 27, 1810, together with his wife and three oldest children, he made a public profession of religion and united with the church. His other six children, one an infant, were baptized the same day. Dr. Cogswell, some twenty years later, died at the age of seventy years. On the funeral occasion Rev. John Kelley, of Hampstead, N. H., preached a sermon, which was published, the text being, "WISE MEN DIE" Ps. xlix. 10. It has been said of Dr Cogswell, "He advanced the doctrine of God his Saviour by his life and conversation. In his religious faith he was decidedly evangelical. His last days were happy in the enjoyment of his Redeemer, and at his departure he seemed sweetly to sleep in Jesus."

Memoranda.

Dr. William Cogswell, in his early career, was approved, July 19, 1781, Surgeon's Mate in the Military Hospital, with Gov. Eustis, at West Point. John Cochran, Director-General, certifies "that he discharged his duties with great faithfulness, intelligence, and uncommon assiduity, by which means he has improved much in medical skill and has given universal satisfaction to those gentlemen of the department with whom he has been associated." Jan. 5, 1784, he was promoted to the chief charge of the hospital.

MRS. JUDITH (BADGER) COGSWELL, wife of Dr. William Cogswell, survived to the ninety-fourth year of her age. The united ages of Mrs. Cogswell and her mother, Mrs. Hannah Badger, would amount to one hundred and eighty-eight years, or one tenth of the whole Christian era. It was said of Mrs. Cogswell, "Her life was one of singular equanimity and devotion to a single object, the doing her duty in the sphere in which God placed her; and well she fulfilled her mission." The sermon preached at her funeral, Oct. 3, 1859, by the Rev. Jesse Page, was published.

Memoranda.

JEREMIAH COGSWELL carried on a large farm in Littleton. Late in life he removed, 1805, to Westford, Mass. There is a record of Jeremiah Cogswell, of Boxford, cordwainer, who bought land, April 13, 1757, in Littleton, Mass.

Mrs. Mary (Lawrence) Fletcher, mother of Mrs. Sarah Cogswell, was the daughter of Major Eleazer Lawrence, of Littleton, son of Peleg, son of John Lawrence, who first settled in Watertown, and removed in 1762 to Groton, Mass. Major Lawrence married ²*Sarah Foster*, and died, 1789, in Westford, Mass.

Capt. Samuel Fletcher, father of Mrs. Cogswell, was son of William, son of Samuel, son of Robert Fletcher, who settled, 1630, in Concord, Mass., who was the ancestor of all the Fletchers in that vicinity.

Samuel Tuttle, who married Martha Shattuck, daughter of the first minister of Littleton, was the ancestor of nearly all the Tuttle in that region.

Leonard Jarvis, who married Mary Cogswell [447], was born in Cambridge, Mass. He graduated from Harvard College in 1797. Capt. Jarvis was a merchant. In 1812 he removed to Baltimore Md. His death occurred Nov. 16, 1855. Capt. and Mrs. Jarvis had no children.

Memoranda.

Adam Cogswell was a ship-master, and known as Capt. Cogswell. He was a skilled navigator. He owned an estate in Newburyport, Mass., where his children were born. He removed, about 1774, to Benjamin River, now Sedgwick, Me. He was the second man to settle in that place. Capt. Cogswell was a man of great force of will and capacity. His life was spent mostly upon the water. It is said he had never lost a man at sea, when, right before his own eyes, his only son was washed overboard in a gale and perished. This cast a gloom over the remainder of his life.

Pompey was the name of a colored servant who belonged to Capt. Cogswell. An anecdote is told of this Pompey. He had heard prayers at church for persons in distress or exposed to danger on the ocean. On one occasion he asked Massa Adam, son of Capt. Adam, to write a note for him, which he did. It ran thus: "Pompey, servant of Capt. Cogswell, being about to go to a strange land, requests the prayers of this congregation, that he may get safe home to Africa." Capt. Cogswell, quite to his amazement, having had no previous knowledge of it, heard the note read in church. After service, with great show of sternness, he demanded of Pompey an explanation. Pompey said: "Massa Adam did it." But Adam, then a mere lad, being called upon, said: "Pompey told me to." They were finally let off, upon promise of right behavior in the future.

Miss Abigail A. Hawes, of Castine, Me., granddaughter of Capt. Cogswell, has an autograph letter written by Abraham Burnham to his sister, Mrs. Sarah Cogswell, Castine, Me., dated July 17, 1802, Dumbarton, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Salter [453] lived in the Provinces, and had no children.

ARMS OF NOVA SCOTIA.

GRANTED BY JAMES I.

TO

THE ROYAL PROVINCE OF NEW SCOTLAND AND HER BARONETS.

1621.

THE COGSWELLS IN NOVA SCOTIA.

1761-1884.

HEZEKIAH COGSWELL.

HEZEKIAH COGSWELL and his family were the first of the name of COGSWELL who settled in the Royal Province of New Scotland.

The early history of Nova Scotia, called by the French, Acadie, from a native Indian term denoting local abundance, is replete with stirring and romantic episodes. Both British and American authors have found in it material for narrative and poetry, and the more its records are studied the deeper is the interest attached to them. From a geographical point of view, the situation of the Province has many natural advantages, and its mineral wealth, when properly developed, must secure for it a great future. Until the end of the last century it included the Province of New Brunswick, rich in forest and rivers, but even in its curtailed proportions it adds to its mineral resources many productive fields for the agriculturist; and it was in the richest of these, near the Bay of Fundy, that the drama was enacted in which the French Acadians made way for the New England Puritans. Sympathy with the expatriated is always strong under any circumstances, but the American poet, Longfellow, has, by his genius, shed a warm glow of sentiment over the banished Acadians, which blinds the reader to the real facts of the situation. It must be borne in mind that Nova Scotia was for years a battle-field for the arms and diplomacy of Great Britain and France. To Britain, through the agency of the Cabots, belongs the credit of the discovery of the Province, for Columbus had only explored in the Gulf of Mexico. The Gilberts followed with actual residence; and on this fact, mainly, perhaps, depended the claims for possession made by Great Britain. But the brave and enterprising French, under the energetic guidance of De la Roche and De Monto, and with a power of assimilation, so to speak, which was not visible in their subsequent efforts at colonization, soon made Acadia a French province, and they established themselves in the rest of Eastern Canada with a tenacity such as to secure the retention of their individuality in the Dominion to this day. By the treaty of Germain, Nova Scotia was formally ceded to France, although prior to that date special efforts had been made, initiated by King James I., to convert the country into a New Scotland, corresponding to the New England, which was already realizing the hopes that had attended its first settlement.

The student of history finds himself wondering how any progress was possible in Provinces which changed hands so frequently to meet the exigencies of European statesmen. The conditions of life must have been at times absolutely bewildering, and anything like settled loyalty must have been more than difficult. At one time a treaty, at another time a conquest, led to change of ownership. Nova Scotia was retaken by the English under secret instructions from Cromwell, but the treaty of Breda, in 1667, between Charles the Second and Louis the Fourteenth, restored it again to France. From this time, however, the energy of the British colonists and the apathy of the French government portended the ultimate predominance of the former race, and the capture of Port Royal (afterwards called Annapolis Royal) by the Massachusetts force, in 1710, paved the way for the cession of the Province to the British crown under the treaty of Utrecht, in 1713. A troubled career was before it until 1749, little real colonization being effected; and in that year a large part of the Province known now as Cape Breton was, in a miserable spirit of compromise, ceded again to France. For the next six years every effort was made to develop the resources of the Province and to make it a thoroughly British colony, but in vain. The French residents, simple and industrious though they were, were compelled by external agencies to live in an atmosphere of intrigue. They assisted to keep the Indians in a state of agitation; they carried on a mistrusted correspondence with their countrymen in the Province known then as Canada, and now as Quebec. The strengthening of Louisbourg in the French colony of Cape Breton seemed to be aggressive, and the disasters to the British troops under Gen. Braddock increased the plotting against British rule among the French settlers. There are times with nations, as with individuals, when drastic remedies have to be employed, and when an urgency exists which cannot wait for the ordinary movements of the law, when, in a word, weapons for immediate effect are called into action, irrespective of their rudeness and harshness. No one can do other than deplore the sufferings which attended the expatriation of the French Acadians, but their removal had become a political necessity. The act was performed with all possible humanity by Col. Winslow, a native of New England, who commanded the forces charged with the unpleasant duty. Col. Winslow himself said that the work was "contrary to his make and temper;" and was not likely to aggravate the sufferings of the unhappy people.

Some descendants of the French Acadians remain in the Province, living in secluded villages, retaining their separate language and customs, and holding little intercourse with the British inhabitants, yet it may be questioned whether, nationally regarded, not only they, but all the so-called French Canadians, are not really more British than French; for their ancestors are reputed to have come from Brittany and Normandy. Jacques Cartier, the first European voyager who set foot in Canada, was a native of Brittany. Brittany was colonized from Wales; its French name is Bretagne, the same as for Britain, while both its current English name and that of its people are but variations of Britain and Briton. The intimate blood relationship between the Normans, also, and the English, requires no words of explanation. If, then, there be reason to believe that no actual difference exists except in language, between the French Canadians and their British compatriots, it may be worth while for the former to consider whether they would not do wisely to give up this one acquired peculiarity, and so identify themselves in all respects with their neighbors speaking the English tongue.

The vacant places in Acadia were soon filled. New England, whose vigorous sons took so prominent a part in all the battles of Great Britain on the American continent, stepped into the vacant farms, and among her pioneers in New Scotland, came from Connecticut in 1761, HEZEKIAH COGSWELL.

Our earliest authority in print for the statements in the foregoing sketch is "Haliburton's History of Nova Scotia." This work was received with special and official favor by the Legislative Assembly, and is worthy of the author, who on other and humorous fields earned the sobriquet of "Sam Slick." It is in two volumes, published in 1829. The first volume is occupied with a general history of the Province, and the second contains an account of its arrangement in divisions, counties, districts, and townships, and the manner in which they became settled with inhabitants. The settlers were invariably of the respectable classes, and their descendants have no reason to fear a comparison with the population of any other country as regards their origin. No convict under sentence has ever been known to cross their borders, except, strange to say, outward-bound. An amusing instance of this was recently given in a Halifax paper. A man named Paterson was convicted of forgery, and transported to England by order of Judge (afterwards Sir Brenton) Halliburton, with a threat of capital, or some other severe punishment, if he should ever return to Nova Scotia.

A more elaborate work in three volumes, bearing nearly the same title as the above, "Murdoch's History of Nova Scotia or Acadie," was published in 1866. It is more a chronicle than a narrative, and seems to have been intended by its author to serve as a book of reference to future historians. From its pages we learn that in 1758 a proclamation was issued by the Provincial government, setting forth the great extent and value of the lands vacated by the French, and inviting those who might desire to settle on them to apply to "Mr. Hancock, at Boston, or the Messrs. Delancie and Watts, at New York." Applicants were informed that the land was to be divided into townships of one hundred thousand acres, or about twelve square miles, and to insure a considerable resident population, it was resolved that no one person should receive a grant exceeding one thousand acres.

In April, 1759, four delegates from Connecticut and one from Rhode Island came to Halifax to negotiate the terms of settlement. They were Major Dennison, Messrs. Jonathan Harris, Joseph Otis, and James Fuller, from Connecticut, and Mr. John Hicks, from Rhode Island. In the month following their arrival the seal of the Province was attached to deeds conveying grants in the townships of Horton and Cornwallis to the Connecticut delegates. Mr. John Hicks, the delegate from Rhode Island, and Mr. Amos Fuller desired that lands should be reserved for them and their constituents at Windsor. From information contributed very kindly by Barclay Webster, Esq., barrister at law at Kentville, Nova Scotia, it appears that by a deed bearing date July 21, 1761, some lands in the township of Cornwallis were assigned to a number of persons, among whom appears the name of "Hezekiah Cogshall," for one share and a half of the original allotment. The spelling of the surname is remarkable. If it was not the mode then prevailing in Connecticut, it is an evidence of the same carelessness or indifference to what was then probably considered a trivial matter, which is to be found in the pedigrees in England of members of the De Coggeshall family. Tradition speaks of three founders of the new population as being remarkable for stature and physical strength. Mason Cosgwell, son of Hezekiah Cogswell, who is referred to above, was one of the three. It is mentioned as an instance of his strength that he could lift a barrel of cider at arm's length, bring it to his lips, and drink out of the bung hole. Had physical sports been encouraged in those days, this same strength would doubtless have found other opportunities of display, but the spirit of the Puritans was opposed to athletic exercises, as both frivolous and involving a sinful waste of time. They forgot that they themselves had rejoiced in no less a gymnasium than a new continent: that in it they had not merely to wrestle with the sturdy trees of the "forest primeval," but with armed men, contesting for no less a prize than the rod of empire. In the peaceful days that now followed, when the hard work was no longer necessary which used to develop the muscle and induce vigorous health, evils accrued which alarmed those acquainted with sanitary science. To them it was clear that the monotony of daily labor, without wholesome recreation, and especially when the scene was transferred from the open field to the "store," counting-house, and office, was seriously affecting the public health, both physical and moral. To remedy this, a systematic return to the athletic games of the old countries was successfully recommended some quarter of a century ago, and now the bat, the oar of the amateur, and the volunteer's rifle are familiar among not only the youthful, but the adult population of NEW SCOTLAND.

MASON, [477] b. 1750; m. Oct. 31, 1771, Lydia Huntington; d. Dec. 12, 1816.

Biographical.

HEZEKIAH COGSWELL settled in Lebanon, Conn. The record of the First Church in that town shows that Hezekiah owned the Covenant, Jan. 2, 1732. He received a conveyance of land Nov. 6, 1731, from his parents, and made purchase of other land, May 19, 1732, in Hebron, Conn., where, from mention made, it appears he resided in 1758. In 1761 Mr. Cogswell with his family emigrated to Nova Scotia. The youngest child was perhaps ten years of age when they embarked for New Scotland. Some of their children did not accompany their parents, and two or three went to return. It is said that their daughter Ann [474], with her sister Diademia [475], did not leave the ship, but came back to New England on the return of the vessel. There appears on the records of Lebanon, Conn., "Eliphalet Cogswell, bapt. Dec. 15, 1734; Samuel bapt. Nov. 22, 1741," who may have been the children of Hezekiah Cogswell. The following incident is narrated: "When Hezekiah Cogswell and family were about to embark for Nova Scotia in 1761, the grandmother felt unwilling to lose her little pet, the youngest boy, and so hid him away and told him to 'lie still and make no noise.' Search was made in all directions for the little fellow in vain, and the grandmother refused to give him up. But when the ship could wait no longer, the troubled father called aloud, 'Mason,' at which the child unused to disobedience, answered, 'Sir.' This of course discovered his whereabouts, and he was taken on board, much to the discomfiture and grief of his doting grandmother." Mr. Cogswell became an elder in the Presbyterian Church in Cornwallis, N. S., and continued to occupy an elder's seat in church until age and distance prevented his attendance on public worship. He was fond of reading religious books. Flavel was his favorite author.

Mr. Cogswell lived to such extreme age, ninety-seven years, that he could not distinguish an apple from a potato, and did not recognize his own children. Mrs. Cogswell survived her husband, and died at the age of about ninety years. She has been characterized as a strong-minded woman, and it has been said that "She held the purse-strings and ruled her house in all that a woman might."

Memoranda.

The township of Cornwallis, Nova Scotia, "containing in the whole one hundred thousand acres, more or less," was granted, July 21, 1761, to proprietors, chiefly from Connecticut. After the expulsion of the French, in 1755, and during the last year of the reign of George II., 1760, colonists were invited by royal proclamation to come and possess the land. Each proprietor was entitled to a right for himself and a half-right for his family. Each right consisted of a town lot of three acres, a farm lot of forty acres, and seven hundred acres of wilderness land. The following are the names of the colonists copied from the Grant now on file in Cornwallis, N. S.

The name of HEZEKIAH COGSWELL appears the seventeenth on this recorded list of sixty-three colonists. His farm was located near the Upper Dyke Bridge, which was erected by the French. This was known as Canard Street.

DANIEL COGSWELL [467] died unmarried, 1819, in Becket, Mass., with no legal heirs in the State, except Ezra Cogswell [468], of Chesterfield. Papers show that he had a sister Diademina, wife of Jeremiah Dewey, brothers, Aaron and Mason, and a sister, Widow Martha Densmore.

Daniel Cogswell, of Hebron, Conn., purchased fifty acres of land in Lenox, Mass., for £60^s dated "16th day of Aug., 1772." Widow Mary Baker, of Lenox, purchased of Daniel Cogswell of Chesterfield, Mass., for £120, fifty acres of land, dated "27 Aug., 1777." Daniel Cogswell, of Hebron, bought of David Lee, Jr., of Manchester, Vt., for £1,000 continental money, ninety-six acres of land, situated in Becket, Mass., dated "May 19, 1779."

JAMES COGSWELL.

Genealogical.

JAMES⁵ COGSWELL, (*Samuel*⁴, *Samuel*³, *John*², *John*¹), son of Samuel⁴ [68] and Mrs. Ann (Denison) Cogswell, née Mason, was born Jan. 6, 1720, in Saybrook, Conn. His parents removed to Lebanon, 1724. He married, April 24, 1745, ¹*Alice Fitch*, daughter of Hon. Jabez and Lydia (Gale) Fitch. She was born, 1725, in Canterbury, Conn., where they resided. Mrs. Alice Cogswell died April, 1772. Rev. Mr. Cogswell married, 1773, ²*Mrs. Martha (Lothrop) Devotion*, widow of Rev. Ebenezer Devotion, his predecessor in Scotland Parish, Windham, Conn. Mrs. Martha Cogswell died Dec. 6, 1795. Rev. Dr. Cogswell married ³*Mrs. Hibbard*. They lived in Scotland Parish, Windham, Conn. Rev. James Cogswell, D. D., died Jan. 2, 1807, at the house of his son, Dr. Mason F. Cogswell, in Hartford, Conn.

THE CHILDREN OF THE FIRST MARRIAGE WERE:

JAMES, [478] b. July 31, 1746; m. Aug. 8, 1776, ¹*Elizabeth Davenport*; m. May 18, 1783, ²*Abigail Lloyd*; d. Nov. 20, 1792.

ALICE, [479] b. Dec. 7, 1749. She died in early womanhood, May 9, 1772.

MASON FITCH, [481] b. Sept. 28, 1761; m. Mary A. Ledyard; d. Dec. 10, 1830.

SEPTIMUS, [482] b. Aug. 30, 1769. He died in boyhood, Oct., 1773.

Biographical.

JAMES COGSWELL was the youngest of his father's family. He was about four years old when his parents removed, 1724, from Saybrook to Lebanon, Conn. He experienced religion when a lad of fifteen years, and was received to the church in Lebanon, Dec. 29, 1735. At the age of twenty-two years he graduated from Yale College, in the class of 1742. After completing his theological studies he was ordained and installed, Dec. 28, 1744, the pastor of the church in Canterbury, Conn. After a ministry of twenty-seven years he resigned, Nov. 5, 1771, and soon after, Feb. 19, 1772, was installed the pastor of the church in Scotland Parish, Windham, Conn., where he fulfilled a ministry of thirty-three years, and resigned in 1804. Thus his active ministerial service covered a period of sixty years, and at the age of eighty-four years he retired from public labor in the gospel, and made his home with the only survivor of his family of five children, Dr. Mason Fitch Cogswell, of Hartford, Conn. Rev. Dr. Cogswell survived but a few years. His death occurred Jan. 2, 1807. The funeral sermon was preached by Rev. Nathan Strong, D. D., and he was buried in the North Burying Ground, of Hartford, Conn. The spot is marked by a fitting monument to his memory.

Rev. Dr. Cogswell had a long, laborious, and useful ministry. His life was one of many and great afflictions; his ministry doubtless had its shady side, and his old age had its infirmities, but he kept the faith, was a faithful minister of Jesus Christ, and attained unto his crown of heavenly reward. Dr. Cogswell has been described thus: "A good logician and a graceful speaker, moderate in his own opinions, tolerant of those of others, mild in temper, and affable in manner, dignified in the pulpit, and conciliatory in private. His pulpit abilities, combined with kindness of temper and genial manners, won popular favor." He was a well-read student and a teacher of theology. He was called by contemporaries, "The big theologian," and students for the ministry resorted to him for instruction. Among his pupils were Josiah Whitney, afterwards pastor of Brooklyn Parish, and Naphtali Daggett, subsequently the President of Yale College.

Rev. Dr. Cogswell was called to preach on special occasions. When, for example, April 19, 1783, Washington announced the cessation of hostilities, a public service was held in the meeting-house on Windham Green, he was designated to preach the sermon, which was widely commended. Among his published sermons were an election sermon, preached in 1771, a sermon on the death of Rev. Solomon Williams, D. D., March 4, 1776, in Lebanon, Conn., and a sermon at the funeral of Rev. Samuel Moseley, pastor of Hampton, Conn., in 1791.

He received the degree of D. D. from Yale College in 1790, and held a prominence among the leading divines of his day. Dr. Cogswell's home was always the centre of much literary and social culture. His first wife, Mrs. Alice Cogswell, belonged to one of the most cultured families in the State, the Fitch family. His second wife, Mrs. Martha Cogswell, was the widow of Rev. Ebenezer Devotion, who had preceded him in the pastorate of Scotland Parish. Her daughter became the wife of Hon. Samuel Huntington, who, in 1784, was made Chief Justice of the State of Connecticut, and in 1786 chosen Governor, being re-elected each year until his death. Dr. Cogswell's sons and Mrs. Cogswell's daughters were all highly educated and accomplished, so that the Scotland parsonage was the centre of much social attraction. Among the celebrities who were frequent visitors were Gen. Putnam, of Revolutionary fame, Gov. Huntington and his brilliant brothers, and others prominent in the State and country.

Dr. Cogswell experienced heavy bereavements in his family. Soon after his settlement in Scotland Parish, his wife, Mrs. Alice Cogswell, died, and a few weeks later his only daughter, at the age of twenty-three years, and spoken of as "a young lady highly educated and accomplished in the useful as well as ornamental parts of female learning," and there was engraved this inscription to her memory: "She departed this vain and transitory life in firm hope of a glorious immortality." Then followed, soon after, the death of his little son, Septimus, and not long after his second marriage, the death of Mrs. Martha Cogswell's youngest daughter, Betsey Devotion, a very beautiful and interesting young lady. Her death occurred suddenly in March, 1775. In 1785 his son, Samuel Cogswell, a young lawyer of great promise, was accidentally shot dead. In 1792 his oldest son, Dr. James Cogswell, of New York, died from disease contracted by fidelity in his profession. Then, in 1795, his second wife died suddenly of paralysis, and so his life seemed to be filled with personal bereavements. And, added to all, in his later years of gospel ministrations there arose some differences between him and his parish. His salary was poorly paid and his people dissatisfied, showing that "length of days" was not altogether desirable when one was settled in the pastorate for life. In his old age there was provided for him a most delightful home in the family of his son in Hartford, a seeming compensation to him for the provision he had made for his own aged parents many years before, at his home in Canterbury, Conn.

In his last illness Rev. Dr. Cogswell seemed to lose all knowledge even of his nearest friends. He forgot, indeed, his own name. When asked if he remembered his son, Mason Fitch, he replied: "I do not recollect that I ever had a son." But when asked whether he remembered the Lord Jesus Christ, he replied at once by exclaiming, "Oh, yes; I do remember Him! HE IS MY LORD AND REDEEMER!"

It is said that Mrs. Sigourney has touchingly described the scene of Rev. Dr. Cogswell's death-bed.

Memoranda.

Some incidents are told of Rev. Dr. Cogswell. On one occasion he publicly protested against sending a certain man, Zephaniah Swift, as deputy to the General Assembly of the State, declaring himself "grieved and displeased that men should have so little regard for religion as to choose a man for deputy who has none." At the time of the death of his adopted daughter, Miss Betsey Devotion, it is narrated that "The bereaved parents, greatly overcome by the shock, were persuaded by sympathizing friends to indulge in the soothing stimulus of a cup of tea. Their delinquency was soon made public, and Dr. Cogswell was informed that they would be reported to the Committee of Inspection. He immediately waited upon that body, and, by a certificate from his physician to the effect that the cup of tea had been taken as a medical prescription, was able to satisfy these officials. But the general public was not so easily appeased. Aggrieved patriots continued to express their resentment by open remonstrance and by staying at home from church service. Doughty old farmers rode over from Pudding Hill with rebuke and grumble, and sharp-tongued good-wives did not hesitate to assure their minister that the public would not be satisfied without a confession and apology from the pulpit. Some insisted that his name and offence should be published in the 'Norwich Packet' and 'New London Gazette.' Dr. Cogswell, always nervously sensitive to the public opinion, was greatly annoyed and distressed by these manifestations of displeasure on the part of the people. But to relieve matters, providentially, soon came the news of the battle at Lexington, which swept away all minor excitements."

In Dr. Cogswell's diary, under date of July 2, 1788, record is made of a most terrific and devastating thunder and hail storm: "A black cloud seemed to settle down upon Westminster Parish, and the hailstones fell to the depth of nineteen inches."

JOSEPH, [491] b. May 15, 1753, m. July 14, 1772, Chloe Hill.

Memoranda.

JOSEPH COGSWELL was one of the earliest settlers of Richmond, where there were but two white families in 1761. Mr. Cogswell was admitted to the church in Southington Parish, March 4, 1733, and March 11 had his little daughter baptized. Some give date of his marriage, March 4, 1731, and the date of his death, April 13, 1783. At his death he left his wife Joanna and seven children, viz., Elizabeth, Lurana, Rosanna, Nathaniel, Nathan, Lucy, and Joseph. Joseph Cogswell [491] was the residuary legatee of his father's estate.

Benjamin Andrews, Mrs. Cogswell's father, was son of Benjamin and Mary (Smith) Andrews, and Benjamin was the youngest child of John and Mary Andrews, who settled, in 1640, in Farmington, Conn., east side of the river, two miles from the village. "John Andrews d. 1681. Mary, ye aged wife of John Andrews, died May, 1694."

Benjamin Andrews, son of John and Mary Andrews, married, May 26, 1682, Mary Smith. He died 1727. Their son Benjamin was born Aug. 20, 1683, and married Elizabeth Gridley. They were the parents of Mrs. Cogswell. Mrs. Sarah (Cogswell) Hollister [485] may not have been of this family. She is not mentioned in Mr. Cogswell's will.

Nathaniel Cogswell [488] married Beulah Scott, daughter of Zachariah Scott. She was born, 1744, in Southington Parish, Conn. They lived in Cornwall, Vt., where he purchased land and built a log-house about 1790.

THE WILL OF JOSEPH COGSWELL.

"IN THE NAME OF GOD, AMEN: I, Joseph Cogswell, in the County of Berkshire and State of Massachusetts, being through the abundant mercy and goodness of God, though weak in body, yet of sound understanding and memory, do constitute this my last will and testament.

"First. I most humbly bequeath my soul to God who gave it, and my body I give to the Earth from whence it was taken, to be buried in decent, Christian burial at the discretion of my Executors, in full assurance of its resurrection from thence at the last day.

"To my worldly estate I will, and positively order, that all my debts be paid, and I give and dispose of what estate remains in the manner following: That is to say, I give and bequeath to my well-beloved wife, Johannah Cogswell, the use and improvement of one third of my real Estate, and also one third of my Personal Estate, during her natural life.

"Then I give and bequeath unto my well-beloved sons, Nathaniel Cogswell and Nathan Cogswell, and unto my well-beloved daughters, Elizabeth Hubbard, Lurana Winston, Rosannah Winston, and Lucy North, Five Shillings each.

"Then I give and bequeath unto my well-beloved son, Joseph Cogswell, all the remainder of all my real and personal estate of all kind whatever, and all the estate, both real and personal, which I have given to my wife by this will, at her decease.

"Lastly, I do constitute and appoint Nathaniel Bishop Sole Executor of this my last will and testament.

(Signed) "JOSEPH COGSWELL."

"Signed, Sealed, and Pronounced to be the last will and Testament of the Testator, in presence of us.

EDWARD COGSWELL was a drummer in the old French and Indian War. He went to the northward and suffered great privations and hardships, nearly losing the use of his right hand. In the leisure of the camp he decorated a powder-horn very beautifully with engravings cut with a penknife. This powder-horn is a rare curiosity. It is in the possession of Dr. Niram J.⁹ Cogswell [1720], of Silvara, Pa., who is the great-grandson of Edward Cogswell. This curious relic is finely decorated with various quaint figures, and inscribed on one side as follows:

EDWARD COGSWELL, HIS HORN.

STILLWATER, SEPTEMBER 26, 1758.

"Warrington"

Memoranda.

Elbridge Gerry Robinson, his sister, Lucy Call, and youngest brother, William Stevens Robinson, were born in Concord, Mass.; the others of the family were born in Dunstable, N. H.

ELBRIDGE GERRY ROBINSON, ESQ.

ELBRIDGE GERRY ROBINSON married a daughter of Nathaniel and Mrs. Polly (Harding) Frothingham, née Whipple. She was born Jan. 2, 1810, in Salem, Mass. Mr. Robinson learned the trade of carriage painter, which he pursued in Concord, afterwards in Salem, and subsequently in Dedham, Mass. He was a frequent contributor to the local newspapers in Dedham. He was an earnest temperance advocate, and wrote many temperance tales and sketches, besides other miscellaneous articles for the weekly press. In 1837 Mr. Robinson purchased the Dedham Advertiser, and published it under that name for two years. He then, in 1839, called it the Norfolk Democrat, and made it a political newspaper. In 1848 he, with many others, joined the Free Soilers. He was a decided friend of the reforms of the day. He advocated their claims with ability and zeal, determined, at whatever cost of patronage and popularity, to do his work of love for fallen humanity. His weekly paper was valued and popular with those of kindred sentiments. "He was a man of strict integrity, and faithful in all the relations of life." For years he was a patient and cheerful sufferer from bodily disease: but his confidence in, and reliance upon the goodness of God sustained him wonderfully in his severe sufferings. Tried by the following standard, Mr. Robinson was a rich man. "The wealth of a man is the number of things he loves and blesses, the number of things he is loved and blessed by." He died July 11, 1854, in Dedham, Mass. Many obituary notices appeared in the papers of the time, expressing the high esteem in which he was held. Mrs. Robinson resided, 1883, No. 23 Church Street, Salem, Mass. They had four children, viz.: Mary Frothingham, b. March 13, 1838; a son, b. Feb. 15, d. Feb. 16, 1842; Nathaniel Frothingham; and Martha Elizabeth, b. Nov. 25, 1846, d. Sept. 28, 1848.

Nathaniel Frothingham Robinson was born Oct. 29, 1843, and died May 20, 1865, in Salem, Mass. At an early age he enlisted in the army to serve his country. He was a Corporal in the Salem Light Infantry, which formed a part of the Fiftieth Massachusetts Regiment, and was connected with the Banks Expedition. Young Robinson was at the Siege of Port Hudson, and served with great credit to the end of his enlistment. But by the exposure and hardships of the campaign he contracted the fatal disease of consumption, and died soon after his return home. Although so young and promising, he met death with the same tranquil and submissive spirit that had pervaded his blameless life.

WILLIAM STEVENS ROBINSON, ESQ.

WILLIAM STEVENS ROBINSON was a journalist, widely and favorably known as "Warrington." Mr. Robinson was by trade a printer, but early betrayed much ability as a writer. He was associated somewhat with the editorship of several newspapers for a period of thirty years, and won an honorable reputation as a newspaper correspondent. Mr. Robinson was a member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives in 1852-53, and its Clerk for ten years next succeeding 1862. He was a vigorous writer, an ardent advocate of human freedom, and a staunch friend of the laboring people. He was the editor of the Yeoman's Gazette, the Boston Daily Whig, and the Boston Republican; and he founded, in 1849, the Lowell American, one of the first Free Soil and anti-slavery newspapers in the State. He wrote letters and articles for many Boston newspapers, for the New York Tribune, the Evening Post, and many of the other leading newspapers in the country. For twenty years he wrote for the Springfield Republican, and it was through his letters to this newspaper that he became known as the renowned "war correspondent," and made famous his nom de plume of "Warrington." His published works are "Warrington's Manual of Parliamentary Law" and "The Salary Grab."

His wife was Harriet Jane Hanson, a "Lowell Factory Girl," of those early days of New England cotton mills, when the operatives were New England born and from the best country homes. Miss Hanson was the daughter of William and Harriet (Brown) Hanson, and was born Feb. 8, 1825, in Boston, Mass. She was a writer for the Lowell Offering, and in later years wrote much for publication. She used her voice as well as her pen, and stood among the foremost of earnest and able advocates of Woman's Rights. After Mr. Robinson's death, which occurred on the second anniversary of Charles Sumner's death, Mrs. Robinson gathered up his various writings, and with an appropriate memoir of her gifted husband, published a book under the title of "PEN PORTRAITS." She published also a volume called "MASSACHUSETTS IN THE WOMAN SUFFRAGE MOVEMENT." Her brain and pen were, in 1883, still busy in preparing articles and books for the press. She resided in Malden, Mass. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson had four children, which were: Harriette Lucy, b. Dec. 4, 1850; m. June 11, 1878, Sidney Doane Shattuck. Elizabeth Osborne, b. Sept. 11, 1852. William Elbridge, b. Oct. 6, 1854; d. Dec. 14, 1859. Edward Warrington, b. May 4, 1859.

William Hanson, father of Mrs. Robinson, was born March 13, 1795, in Milton, N. H. He was the son of John and Sally (Getchel) Hanson, one of eleven children. He married Harriet Brown in 1822. He was a carpenter, and worked for Peter Cudworth in Boston. His shop stood on Merrimac Street, near Causeway. He died in early manhood.

Mrs. Harriet (Brown) Hanson, mother of Mrs. Robinson, was born March 19, 1795, in Roxbury, Mass., at "The Punch Bowl Tavern," which her father kept, and died at Malden, Mass., Jan. 21, 1881, aged eighty-five years. She was daughter of Seth Ingersoll Brown, who assisted in making a large cup of tea in Boston Harbor prior to the Revolution. He was a non-commissioned Captain of minute-men and fought under Gen. Joseph Warren at Bunker Hill. He was buried in the "Granary Burying-Ground" on Tremont Street, between Park Street Church and the Tremont House, Boston, where lie buried many famous men of the earlier days, among whom are eight chief magistrates of Massachusetts, viz.: Gove, Dummer, Hancock, Adams, Bowdoin, Sullivan, Eustis, and Sumner. Where also are the graves of Peter Faneuil, Dr. John Jeffries, Judge Samuel Sewall, John Hall, Paul Revere, Lieut.-Gov. Thomas Cushing, Belknap, Lathrop, and Josiah and Mrs. (Folger) Franklin, the parents of the distinguished American statesman and philosopher, BENJAMIN FRANKLIN.

Memoranda.

Mr. and Mrs. Abbott resided No. 236 North Main Street, Concord, N. H. They had three children: Frances Matilda, John Boylston, and Walter Brooks. Mrs. Abbott's parents made their home with her in their later life.

"Mrs. Hannah (Cogswell) Brooks was a faithful friend to the sick and needy, a strict moralist, a thorough housekeeper, whose cheerful smile was ever welcomed in society. Her great grief was the death of their only son, a boy of unusual promise, and her grandchildren received their highest praise from her when she likened them to their little uncle who went to heaven so many years ago."

"Samuel Brooks was an exhaustive reader, gifted with a great memory and very fond of the game of whist. In politics a Jeffersonian Democrat, for whom office-holding had no attractions. Mr. Brooks possessed literary tastes, and was never happier than when entertaining friends around his hospitable board. With competence, not wealth, Mr. and Mrs. Brooks lived cheerful, virtuous lives, and after short illnesses passed on, leaving worthy records."

JANE EMILY SEARLE, [636] b. May 26, 1841; m. Nov. 3, 1860, Gen. James G. Wilson.

Biographical.

JONATHAN COGSWELL was the youngest of fourteen children. His father, Dr. Nathaniel Cogswell, was a man of superior education and acquirements, a model of the most remarkable integrity, and of the purest character. He received from his pious and devoted mother early religious instruction, and at the age of seventeen years became a Christian. Soon after his conversion, he received what was to him a most unmistakable call to preach the Gospel, and accordingly set himself to obey the divine bidding. It is said that his father was not favorably inclined to his son's purpose to enter the ministry; he labored to dissuade him, and even refused to render him pecuniary assistance in his preparatory course of study. But so strong were his son's convictions of duty that he waived all opposing considerations, and without delay entered upon his studies. In the spring of 1803 he was admitted to Harvard College, and graduated in 1806, among the first scholars of his class. Prof. Joseph Green Cogswell, LL. D. [350], a distant cousin, was a member of the same class. Mr. Cogswell, still intent on his early purpose to enter the ministry, at once engaged in teaching, to obtain the means to prosecute his theological studies. For two years, 1807-9, he was under appointment as Tutor in Bowdoin College, meanwhile pursuing somewhat the study of Theology. Subsequently he was at Andover Theological Seminary for one year, associated with the first class that graduated from that institution, in 1810. Among the members of that class, and associated with it, were such men as Rev. Adoniram Judson, D. D., Rev. Samuel Newell, Rev. Richard S. Storrs, D. D., and Rev. Gardner Spring, D. D., LL. D. Mr. Cogswell about this time received several most flattering offers to take charge of prominent literary institutions, but refusing them, he obtained license to preach and having received an invitation to settle, Oct. 24, 1810, was ordained to the Gospel Ministry, and installed pastor, being the fourth pastor, of the Congregationalist Church in Saco, Me. The installation sermon was preached by Rev. Paul Coffin, D. D., and was published. The following May, 1811, he married Miss Elizabeth Abbott, the niece of Samuel Abbott, Esq., who had been to her as a father since the death of her parents. Samuel Abbott, Esq., gave to Andover Theological Seminary one hundred and twenty thousand dollars, and became the founder of the Abbott Professorship in that institution. As illustrating Mr. Cogswell's spirit of consecration to Christ's service, it should perhaps receive mention that it was his cherished desire to labor as a missionary in Western New York, and he was actually on his way thither, when he received an invitation to preach in Saco, which was so clearly providential that he felt bound to accept it. He was settled, and for eighteen years labored there with great fidelity and marked success, until his multiplied and long-continued service resulted in such physical and mental exhaustion that his physician assured him he must discontinue preaching or he could not live. He at once resigned, Oct. 16, 1828, and removed to New York City, where he spent the winter. The April following he accepted an invitation to a new pastorate, and Aug. 28, 1829.

was installed over the church in New Britain Parish, Berlin, Conn., where he remained until he was called, June 21, 1834, to the Chair of Ecclesiastical History in the Theological Institute of Connecticut, at East Windsor Hill. He was inaugurated Professor of Church History in that Institution, May 13, 1834. In 1836 he received the degree of S. T. D. from the University of New York. Mrs. Cogswell died in 1837. Her burial was the first that took place within the New Cemetery near the Theological Institute of East Windsor Hill. Of Mrs. Cogswell it was said: "She was an ornament to her sex, the church and society." An obituary notice printed at the time passes the highest encomiums on her life and character.

Rev. Prof. Cogswell, D. D., married, Dec. 12, 1837, Miss Kirkpatrick, daughter of Chief Justice Kirkpatrick, of New Jersey, and granddaughter of Col. John Bayard, of Bohemia Manor, "Great House," Maryland. In 1842 Rev. Dr. Cogswell published "A Volume of Ten Discourses, Intended as a Keepsake for the Family and Friends." For a full list of his published writings the reader is referred to the heading JAMES GRANT WILSON, in the third volume of Allibone's Dictionary of Authors. Prof. Cogswell continued to fill the chair of Sacred History in the Theological Institute for ten years. In 1844 he resigned, having been appointed executor of a large estate, which required his presence in or near the city of New York, and retired from public life to the city of New Brunswick, N. J., where he resided until his death, which occurred at the age of about eighty-two years, Aug. 1, 1864, only a few months after the decease of his wife, Mrs. Jane E. Cogswell, who died March 6, 1864. The following obituary notice of Rev. Prof. Jonathan Cogswell, D. D., of New Brunswick, N. J., appeared in some public journal soon after his death:

"With reference to his character as a man, Christian liberality was his most marked characteristic. In 1811, when the work of Foreign Missions was awakening and giving a new direction to the pecuniary resources of the church of Christ, he gave all the money he had to the cause, some $600 in silver. Another instance in which this same generous spirit was manifested, is furnished by his ten years of gratuitous service at East Windsor; in addition to which he contributed largely to the Institution, not only in money, but in books also, giving most of his private library, and many rare old English editions of valuable works. Since his residence in New Brunswick, there has been no change in this respect. With the late Dr. Janeway and J. R. Ford, Esq., he aided in building the present tasteful edifice of the Second Presbyterian Church, contributing a handsome proportion of the entire cost; besides giving one half the price of the parsonage, a thousand dollars toward the permanent support of the minister, and repeated gifts, both to the pastor and people, up to the time of his decease. He was a Life Director of the American Bible Society, and a Life Member of the American Tract Society, the Seaman's Friend Society, the American and Foreign Christian Union, and various other religious societies. He founded a scholarship, both in Rutgers College and in the College of New Jersey, and was a regular annual contributor to the various boards of the church of which he was an honored minister. Christian beneficence marked the whole course of his long life. As a preacher Dr. Cogswell was peculiarly zealous for sound doctrine, and fearless in stating and defending it. His own faith was unwavering, and timidity in expressing what he believed was unknown to him. His own religious experience was pre-eminently doctrinal and reflective. Nourished by prayer, enriched by meditation, and invigorated by knowledge, religion was to him a life, and faith an abiding principle. When memory lost the record of other familiar things, Jesus and his love remained deeply graven upon her tablet. Great simplicity of character imparted a charm and gave tone to the whole tenor of his life. He was singularly free from that 'labor and sorrow' which mar the strength of the fourth score of years, and, like the patriarch of old, 'he gave up the ghost and died in a good old age, an old man and full' of experiences, of graces, and of anticipations. He has gone to his reward, and his works do follow him, while we deplore his loss in these days, when 'the godly man ceaseth, and the faithful fail from among the children of men.'

ELIZABETH COGSWELL.

Genealogical.

ELIZABETH⁶ COGSWELL, (*Fonathar*⁵, *Fonathan*⁴, *Fonathan*³, *William*², *John*¹), daughter of Col. Jonathan [99] and Elizabeth (Wise) Cogswell, was born Aug. 6, 1773, in Chebacco Parish, Ipswich, Mass. She married, Dec. 4, 1800, Parker Russ, M. D., son of Joseph and Mary Russ. He was born in Chebacco Parish, 1768. Mrs. Russ died June 5, 1803. Dr. Russ died Dec. 19, 1805.

THEIR ONLY CHILD WAS :

John Denison, b. Sept. 1, 1801; m. 1830, ¹*Mrs. Eliza P. Jenkins*; m. April, 1872, ²*Elise B. Birdsell*.

Memoranda.

Parker Russ was a descendant, on his mother's side, of Nathaniel Rust, the first school-teacher in Chebacco. "Master Rust" opened his school, June, 1695. Dr. Russ's father died when he was young. His mother married ²*Rev. Paul Park*, of Preston, Conn., and removed to that place, where her son Parker was educated. He studied medicine and established himself, about 1788, in its practice in Chebacco. He resided in the ancient Rust house, where he was born. It was owned, 1868, by William H. Mears. Dr. Russ was a skillful physician; "integrity, decision, and energy were prominent traits of his character." He died in early manhood.

JOHN DENISON RUSS, M. D.

JOHN DENISON RUSS, the only child of Dr. Parker and Elizabeth (Cogswell) Russ, was born Sept. 1, 1801, in Chebacco Parish, Ipswich, Mass. His father was a practising physician and an accomplished classical educator.

His grandmother, Elizabeth (Wise) Cogswell, was the granddaughter of Rev. John Wise, the first ordained minister of Chebacco Parish, Ipswich. He was the minister who was tried and imprisoned in Boston, Aug., 1687, for publicly advising his parishioners to resist the collection of a tax imposed by Gov. Sir Edmund Andros. Two years later Andros was arrested and sent ignominiously back to England.

The mother of Elizabeth (Wise) Cogswell was daughter of Col. John and Mary (Leverett) Denison. Col. John Denison was son of Rev. John and Elizabeth (Saltonstall) Denison, and the great-grandson of both Gov. Thomas Dudley and Sir Richard Saltonstall. His wife, Mary (Leverett) Denison, was the daughter of Hon. John Leverett, F. R. S., President of Harvard College, and great-granddaughter of Sir John Leverett, Governor of Massachusetts, 1673-9. John Denison Russ, in fitting for college, was a classmate of Hon. Rufus Choate under Dr. Abbott, of Exeter, N. H. He graduated from Yale College in 1823; was called by his college mates "Duke of Essex." He pursued his medical studies at Bowdoin College and other medical schools in Baltimore, Boston, and New Haven, and received his medical degree from Yale College in 1825. He spent a year in Europe, in the hospitals of Paris, London, Edinburgh, and Dublin, and on his return commenced practice in New York City. Possessing an ample estate, he gratified his philanthropy by rendering wide medical service without charge. His sympathy for human suffering became a religious passion.

Dr. Russ, in 1827, took an active part in aid of the Greeks, in their desperate struggle for liberty against the Turks. He took charge of the brig "Statesman" from Boston, freighted with medical and other stores, and proceeded to Greece as an almoner to the suffering patriots. He remained in Greece three years, devoting himself to this work. So serviceable was Dr. Russ to the Greeks that the Turks placed a price on his head of twenty thousand piasters. On his return to America he visited Sicily, Italy, Malta, and France. He brought the first intelligence of the French Revolution of that year to this country. He recommenced practice in New York City. His residence for some time was a cottage near the site of the Clarendon Hotel. He never sent a bill to any patient for service. He became interested in the instruction of the blind. An institution for the blind was incorporated, 1829, in Massachusetts, and one in New York in the spring of 1831. But as yet no blind person had been taught on this continent, and no one could be obtained who knew how to give them instruction. And when the humane design was about to be relinquished, Dr. Russ offered his service, having obtained some idea of such instruction in Europe. He commenced, March 15, 1832, to instruct three blind boys from the almshouse in New York; May 19 there were six under his instruction, which was the first attempt of the kind in America. Dr. Russ was invited to go to Boston and organize the institution for the blind in that city, but declined, and Dr. Howe was appointed. He was the first to introduce maps with raised surface for the blind. In the autumn of 1832 he exhibited to the public, in City Hotel, his methods of instructing the blind, and made another exhibition at Rev. Dr. McMurray's church on Market Street, June 5, 1833. To him is due the honor of establishing the Institution for the Blind in New York.

Dr. Russ assisted, 1843, in the organization of the New York Prison Association. He wrote a very popular paper on prison discipline, which was mentioned by George Sumner, Esq., brother of Hon. Charles Sumner, at the First Prison Congress in Italy, as the ablest work on that subject since Livingston's famous "Penal Code."

Dr. Russ was interested in the gradual emancipation of the slaves, and wrote a letter to Hon. Henry Clay, then President of the Colonization Society, stating his plan. He was elected, 1848, a member of the Board of Education of the city of New York, and was largely instrumental in the establishment of the New York Juvenile Asylum, of which he was the efficient superintendent for seven years, until he resigned in 1858. He assisted in founding several other charitable institutions in New York. In 1850, with the co-operation of his wife and her daughter, he established the "Russ Female Home."

Dr. Russ married, 1830, an accomplished English lady, a widow with four children. Mrs. Russ died April 28, 1860. Dr. Russ, after twelve years, married, April, 1872, Miss Elise B. Birdsell, daughter of James Birdsell, of Ohio, who survived him. He had no children of his own. Elizabeth Russ, a daughter of his first wife, married, 1858, Hon. Frederic Cogswell [622].

Dr. Russ, a few years before his death, retired to a picturesque estate on the high, rolling land about two miles from the plains of Pompton, N. J. Here he fitted up a modern, square, Gothic pointed homestead, known as "Hillside Cottage," a house neither too large nor too small for the largest measure of comfort, where he gave himself to relieving want, and to benevolence, his pleasant home being the hospitable resort of the cultured and the refined, of eminent scholars and well-known philanthropists. His last illness was of about two weeks' duration and entirely painless. It was the sweet and peaceful going out of a well-spent life. No sickness could have been more free from suffering, and no death scene more tranquil. His funeral was just at sunset on Wednesday, March 2, 1881. The immediate friends and neighbors gathered at "Hillside Cottage." The sunset service was beautiful, conducted by Rev. Mr. Grieves. Thursday morning the public funeral service took place at St. Paul's Chapel, in New York City, Rev. Dr. Mulchahey officiating. In accordance with his own request his remains were taken to Essex, Mass., his birthplace, and deposited in the family vault of the Cogswells, beside those of the father and mother of the deceased. "Thus with a 'few 'ast words of faith and prayer,' a good man was laid gently to rest." By the provisions of his will, after the death of his wife his estate goes to his native town of Essex, to found a Public Library. Various highly eulogistic tributes were published at the time of Dr. Russ's death. "In the life of an earnest, conscientious philanthropist there is peculiar beauty and strength, and when such a life closes at its full maturity, the silent pressure of its influence remains like a perpetual benediction." Id. IN MEMORIAM OF JOHN DENISON RUSS, M. D., 1801-1881."

HON. OTIS PHILLIPS LORD, LL. D.

OTIS PHILLIPS LORD, son of Nathaniel Lord, Esq., was born July 11, 1812, in Ipswich, Mass. He graduated, 1832, from Amherst College, studied law, and commenced the practice of his profession in his native town. His abilities soon became known, and his practice increased rapidly. He removed to Salem, Mass., and became the leading lawyer of Essex County and a peer of the most prominent lawyers in the Commonwealth. The Superior Court of Massachusetts was established in 1859, and Mr. Lord received appointment to a seat on the Bench, with Messrs. Allen, Rockwell, Wilkinson, Brigham, Putnam, Russell, Vose, Ames, and Morton. It was a matter of common knowledge that while Judge Lord occupied this position his decisions were rarely overruled by the Law Court, and comparatively few exceptions taken to his rulings. Judge Lord received, 1869, the degree of LL. D. from Amherst College. He was appointed in 1875 by Gov. Gaston a Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts, which position he filled with marked ability for several years, and resigned Dec. 6, 1882.

Hon. Otis P. Lord was quite prominent in the politics of the State. He was often a member of the Legislature, where he was an acknowledged leader, and in 1854 was elected Speaker of the House of Representatives. The natural abilities of Judge Lord, combined with accurate knowledge, quick perception, and remarkable memory, won for him eminence in his profession, and rendered him a man of commanding influence in the elevated sphere in which he was called to act. He was one of the most eminent jurists of New England.

Memoranda.

Ebenezer Brown was a "minute-man" in 1775, and rode all night with his company from Sutton, arriving in Concord just as the British were on the retreat for Boston. Afterwards he was a corporal in Capt. Holman's company. In his old age he received a pension, and after his death his widow received an annuity from the government. Mr. Brown was married twice. He married, about 1775, ¹Rebecca Witt, daughter of Oliver and Rebecca (Whittemore) Witt. She was born in Paxton. He settled on his father's farm in Sutton, afterwards removed to Worcester, and then to Paxton. Mrs. Rebecca Brown died in 1786. They had six children, viz.: Oliver, b. Dec. 23, 1776; John, b. Jan. 27, 1778; Polly, b. May 16, 1780; Charlotte, b. 1782; Rebecca, b. 1784; Ebenezer, b. 1786. After Mrs. Brown's death, Mr. Brown married ²Lydia Cogswell. They had ten children, making the whole number sixteen. Mr. Brown was a farmer on a large scale; he owned a saw-mill, and was a dealer in lumber. At the age of seventy years he is remembered as "an old gentleman fond of company, agreeable to all comers, having an easy flow of language, and a large amount of anecdote, as well as old-time hospitality." Mrs. Lydia (Cogswell) Brown, his wife for forty-seven years, looked well to her household, and took good care of the sixteen children given her to bring up. She is spoken of in her later life "as well posted in current events, and had a memory of events long past. In this she had few equals, and no superiors."

The story is told of Mr. Brown that on one occasion he said to some of his neighbors, "I will give the minister as many pine slabs from my mill as you will draw at one load." The proposal was accepted, a large sled constructed, to which were attached forty yokes of oxen, and they went for the slabs, and actually drew at one load twenty cords to the minister's door.

Russell Brown resided in Hubbardston, Mass., and had a large shop in Williamsville for the manufacture of chairs. In 1836, he sold out and removed to Warwick, Mass., where he carried on the manufacture of lumber. MARTHA MARIA, [723] b. April 28, 1817. She died in childhood, Sept. 17, 1818.

Memoranda.

JAMES COGSWELL and Sarah Haradon were married by Rev. Jonathan French, in Andover, Mass. They both were members of the Charles Street Baptist Church, Boston, Mass., of which Rev. Daniel Sharp was the pastor. Mr. Cogswell carried on for many years the business of cabinet making. He himself assisted in making the organ that was placed in the First Baptist Church, in Providence, R. I., which is the oldest Baptist church in America. The same organ still remains in that church unless it has been removed since 1870. Mr. Cogswell has been spoken of as "straightforward in all his dealings, and conscientious in every respect."

James Perkins Cogswell was a young man of mature Christian character and great promise. His death was thus recorded in a Boston newspaper of 1833:

"In this city, on Wednesday, Nov. 27, after a short but painful illness, Mr. James P. Cogswell, in the twenty-fourth year of his age. Mr. Cogswell for several years has been a member of the church of our Lord Jesus Christ, and has adorned his profession by a well-ordered life and conversation. Although young, his Christian graces shone with a lustre that would have become an individual of riper years."

JOSEPH GREEN COGSWELL.

Genealogical.

JOSEPH GREEN⁶ COGSWELL. (Francis⁵, Francis⁴, John³, William², John¹), son of Francis⁵ [138] and Anstice (Manning) Cogswell, was born Sept. 27, 1786, in Ipswich, Mass. He married, April 17, 1812, Mary F. Gilman, daughter of Hon. John Taylor and Deborah (Folsom) Gilman. She was born, 1786, in Exeter, N. H., where she died July 16, 1813, at her father's house. Prof. Cogswell died Nov. 26, 1871, in Cambridge, Mass.

Biographical.

JOSEPH GREEN COGSWELL had five sisters and one brother. All of whom, except one sister, Elizabeth Cogswell [347], died in early life. He attended school in Ipswich until fourteen years old; then went a single term to Atkinson Academy, and completed his preparation for college at Phillips Academy, Exeter, N. H. He graduated in 1806 from Harvard College. Rev. Jonathan Cogswell, D. D. [289], was of the same class. He studied law partly with Hon. Fisher Ames, of Dedham, and partly with Judge Prescott, the father of the historian, in Boston, Mass.

Before completing his legal studies he made two voyages abroad, one to the East Indies, the other to the Mediterranean, visiting the port of Algiers, arriving home from his second voyage Jan., 1811. Having been admitted to the bar, he married Miss Mary F. Gilman, the third daughter of Hon. John Taylor Gilman, Governor of New Hampshire. Mr. Cogswell, with his young bride, went to reside in Belfast, Me., where they arrived July 16, 1812. He opened a law office, and commenced the practice of his profession; but the climate was too severe for Mrs. Cogswell, who, after a few months, returned to Exeter, where she continued to fail in health until she died, July 16, 1813. Soon after, Mr. Cogswell was called to a Latin tutorship in Harvard College, gave up the practice of law, removed to Cambridge, Mass., and taught in the college for two years.

In 1815 he sailed again for Europe, his companions in travel being George Ticknor and Edward Everett. He remained abroad, travelling widely, for four or five years, after which he returned, arriving in Boston Oct. 29, 1820. During his absence, in 1817, his mother died. Shortly after his return he received the appointment of Librarian and Professor of Mineralogy and Geology in Harvard College.

In the autumn of 1823 Mr. Cogswell and Mr. George Bancroft, since known as a historian, established a school for the more thorough teaching of boys. This school was located at Round Hill, Northampton, Mass. It became incorporated as the "Round Hill Institution." In 1823 Mr. Cogswell was the sole Principal. The enterprise became involved, and after an existence of some ten years was abandoned in 1834. Mr. Cogswell accepted an appointment to take charge of a school in Raleigh, N. C., in May, 1834, where he remained until 1837. He then sailed the fifth time for Europe, and upon his return, in 1838, he took up his residence in New York, and became the confidential adviser of Mr. John Jacob Astor in establishing the Astor Library. To this enterprise he became entirely devoted, making several trips to Europe for the purchase of books and to examine European libraries.

After the death of Mr. Astor, in 1848, Mr. Cogswell received the appointment of Superintendent of the Astor Library. This position he continued to fill until 1861, when he named a successor, and retired to Cambridge, Mass. He there spent the evening of his days in the quiet of his own home, near to the college he so much loved. In his later years he received the care and affectionate attentions of Rev. and Mrs. Haskins, who were family relatives, Mrs. Haskins being a niece of his lamented wife, of whom he was bereft when their married life had hardly begun. Mr. Cogswell, while living in Cambridge, made an occasional trip to New York, to visit the Astor Library and his numerous friends. He died at the age of eighty-five years, and was buried in Ipswich, Mass.

Prof. Cogswell, in the course of his active and useful life, made nine trips to Europe. He was the real originator of the Astor Library in New York City, accomplished a great work for Harvard College, and was the prime mover in establishing and carrying forward the Round Hill School for ten years, where were educated some of the most eminent and literary men of that period. In 1831 a list of the students at Round Hill was published, and contained two hundred and ninety-three names.

At the age of eighty-four years Mr. Cogswell remarks: "I have reason for gratitude to God. I am not sensible of any failure in my mental faculties, or coldness in my affections. My self-love has not increased, nor my love of friends diminished. The pleasures of active life are gone, but those of a tranquil, contemplative one are all left to me." His death occurred on Sunday, Nov. 26, 1871.

An appropriate Memorial Volume of Prof. Joseph Green Cogswell, LL. D., was published in 1874 by Miss Anna E. Ticknor, in an edition of two hundred and twenty-two copies, for private distribution among friends.

IN MEMORIAM.

J. G. C.

Another beautiful life has come to its earthly close ;
 Another earthly light is fixed as a star in the sky ;
 Another patient toiler goes home to his long repose ;
 Another lowly disciple goes up to his seat on high.

The teacher, eager to learn, the master, modest and mild,
 Has gone, with his thirsty soul, to the wellspring of perfect truth.
 The old man, in whom to the last was seen the warm heart of a child,
 Now drinks with the sons of God, from the fount of immortal youth.

Farewell! O teacher revered, wise-hearted companion and friend!
 Hail! truly chosen of God to be one of the shining band,
 Who summon us by their lives to be faithful unto the end,
 Whose Exodus bids us arise and seek the immortal land.

Biographical.

NATHANIEL⁷ UPHAM, (*Timothy*⁶, *Timothy*⁵, *Phineas*⁴, *Phineas*³, *Phineas*², *John*¹, born 1597, in England), son of Rev. Timothy Upham, was in person a man six feet and four inches in height, well proportioned, perfectly erect, and of most commanding presence. He was successful in business and took an active part in public affairs. He was elected to the State Legislature in 1807-8, and 1808-9, was a member of the Governor's Council in 1811 and 1812, and was Collector of the direct tax in his district in 1813. Mr. Upham was nominated for Representative to the National Congress in 1814; was renominated in 1816, and chosen by a large majority. He took his seat Dec. 6, 1817, as a member of the Fifteenth Congress in the House of Representatives. He was twice re-elected, and having served six years, he declined a further re-election. The Seventeenth Congress closed its session March 3, 1823, and Mr. Upham bade adieu to Congress and public life to retire to the quiet of his own village and the enjoyment of his family and pleasant home. For a fuller biography of HON. NATHANIEL UPHAM. vid. NOTICES OF JOHN UPHAM AND DESCENDANTS.

MRS. JUDITH (COGSWELL) UPHAM was an only daughter. The date of her birth is given by some March 9, instead of March 13, 1776. She has been described in person as "five feet eleven inches high, hair dark brown, forehead high, nose Grecian, mouth small, eyes blue, complexion fair, form full and well proportioned, and her voice peculiarly melodious." She was generously endowed intellectually, and possessed of a benevolent heart. She appreciated and greatly admired the works of Addison, Scott, Goldsmith, Cowper, and Beattie. One of Mrs. Upham's gifted sons has embalmed her features and personal grace in the following lines :

*"How oft in solitude's creative hour
 When thought and feeling own a quickened power,
 I sit in pensive silence and retrace
 Each well-known feature, each attractive grace :
 Her silent grief when those she loved went wrong,
 Her smile, her kindly words, her voice of song,
 All else may fail, all other joys may die
 And leave the fount of hope and feeling dry :
 But life nor death shall from my bosom tear
 A mother's looks, her kindness, and her care."*

Memoranda.

Timothy Upham, father of Hon. Nathaniel Upham, was born Feb. 20, 1848, in Malden, Mass. He graduated in 1768 from Harvard College, and was Pastor of the Congregational Church in Deerfield, N. H., from 1772 to his death, Feb. 21, 1811.

Mrs. Hannah (Gookin) Upham, mother of Hon. Nathaniel Upham, was the daughter of Rev. Nathaniel and Love (Wingate) Gookin. She was born April 22, 1754, in North Hampton, N. H., and was a lineal descendant of MAJOR-GEN. DANIEL GOOKIN (*Hannah*¹, *Rev. Nathaniel*⁴, *Rev. Nathaniel*³, *Rev. Nathaniel*², *Major-Gen. Daniel*¹ Gookin), who was born, 1612, in Kent, England. Mrs. Hannah Upham died Aug. 4, 1797. Mention is made of her as a person of "great physical and mental activity." Her tastes were refined, her disposition gentle, and her piety fervent. A simple stone marks her final resting-place, which bears this inscription :

"HANNAH,
Consort of the REV. TIMOTHY UPHAM,
Who departed this life Aug. 4. 1797.
In the 44th Year of her Age."

*"If truth, love, virtue, each attractive grace
That warms the heart, or animates the face,
If tears, or sighs, or ardent prayers could save
The kind, the generous from the silent grave,
Then death, relentless, must have lost his prey,
And with it lost his cruel power to slay
One who shall rise and shine in realms above, Forever happy in her Saviour's love."*

Biographical.

PAUL WENTWORTH was less than five years old when his father died, and went soon after to be in his uncle's family in Lebanon, Me. In 1795 he was a member of Phillips Academy, Exeter, N. H. Afterwards he was in the store of James Jewell, Esq., of Dover, N. H., until he opened a store for himself. President Jefferson appointed Mr. Wentworth, May 3, 1808, Captain of the Fourth United States Infantry. Capt. Wentworth was stationed at Fort Constitution, which commands the entrance to Portsmouth Harbor. In 1811 he was ordered to the Western frontier to report to Gen. Harrison. He took his company to Fort Harrison, Indiana, but resigned Oct. 29, 1811, and in 1812 settled on a farm in Sandwich, N. H. Two years later he married the daughter of Col. Amos Cogswell. They were both descendants of Elder William Wentworth, who settled, 1639, in Exeter. Mr. Wentworth was a prominent citizen in the State. He was Representative from Sandwich in the State Legislature seven years, in 1831-4, and 1839-41 inclusive. His residence in Concord, N. H., occupied the site of the "Old Kent Place" on Pleasant Street. Vid. WENTWORTH GENEALOGY.

HON. JOHN WENTWORTH, LL. D.

JOHN WENTWORTH, son of Paul and Lydia (Cogswell) Wentworth, was born March 5, 1815, in Sandwich, N. H. He graduated from Dartmouth College in 1836. After graduation, Oct. 25, 1836, he found himself in Chicago, Ill. He soon became the editor and proprietor of the Chicago Democrat, with which he was connected for twenty-four years. In the winter of 1836-7 he took part in the town meeting in Chicago called to consider the propriety of adopting a city charter. In 1837 he was elected Corporation Printer, and in 1838 he was chosen one of the Board of School Inspectors. He studied law at the Harvard Law School, and in 1841 was admitted to the bar. Mr. Wentworth was elected to Congress in 1843, from the Fourth District of Illinois, at the age of twenty-eight years, being the youngest member of the Twenty-eighth Congress. He was re-elected to the Twenty-ninth, Thirtieth, and Thirty-first Congresses, and then declined re-election. He was a member of the Baltimore National Convention in 1844, which nominated James K. Polk for President, and also of the Convention of 1848, which nominated Gen. Lewis Cass. He represented the new Second District of Illinois in the Thirty-third Congress, and declined a re-election. He was, however, chosen a member of the Thirty-ninth Congress for Cook County District, but declined re-election. Mr. Wentworth was chosen Mayor of Chicago in 1857, also in 1860, and was in that office at the reception given to the Prince of Wales. He was several years on the Chicago Board of Education, and Police Commissioner in 1863-4. He received, in 1867, the degree of LL. D. from Dartmouth College.

HON. JOHN WENTWORTH married Roxanna Marie Loomis, of Troy, N. Y. She died Feb. 5, 1870. Their children were: Riley Loomis, b. Aug. 24, 1845, d. July 14, 1846; Marie Loomis, b. Sept. 13, 1847, d. Aug. 29, 1849; John, b. Nov. 29, 1849, d. Feb. 23, 1852; Roxanna Atwater, b. Oct. 28, 1854; John Paul, b. Oct. 18, 1857, d. March 27, 1858. Mr. Wentworth still resided, 1883, in Chicago, Ill. He made generous donations to his Alma Mater, Dartmouth College, and for several years was President of the Dartmouth Alumni. Vid. WENTWORTH GENEALOGY.

Memoranda.

Lydia Cogswell Wentworth became the second wife of Rev. Samuel Lee, D. D., of New Ipswich, N. H.

Rev. Samuel Lee, son of Samuel, was born in Berlin, Conn., March 18, 1803. His father was the grandson of John Lee, one of the original proprietors of Farmington, Conn., and the great-grandson of John Lee, the Hartford Puritan. Mr. Lee graduated at Yale in 1827, in the same class with William Adams, Theron Baldwin, Horace Bushnell, Robert McEwen, Joseph H. Towne, Cortlandt Van Rensselaer, and other well-known men, and studied theology in the Yale Seminary. He was ordained over the Trinitarian Church and Society in Sherborn, Mass., Nov. 4, 1830, but resigned, and was installed, May 5, 1836, over the Congregational Church in New Ipswich, N. H. He retired from this pastorate Dec. 4, 1860, and resided in the town until his death, Aug. 27, 1881. Mr. Lee had a keen and vigorous mind, with considerable scholarship, joined with a somewhat peremptory manner and large absence of all feeling of bondage to the past, so that theological and exegetical novelties rather fascinated than alarmed him. Besides pamphlets, he published, in 1859, Eschatology; or, The

*John Wentworth
Chicago*

Scripture Doctrine of the Coming of the Lord, the Judgment, and the Resurrection, etc., and in 1874, The Bible Regained, and the God of the Bible Ours.

Col. Joseph Wentworth resided in the homestead in Sandwich until 1870, when he removed to Concord, N. H. He was an Aid of Gov. John Page, with rank of Colonel; the first Register of Deeds for Carroll County; Representative to the State Legislature from Sandwich, N. H., 1844 and 1845; Sheriff of the County; Postmaster of Sandwich, and President of Carroll County Bank.

George Wallingford Wentworth studied medicine and entered the practice of his profession in 1847, in Chicago, Ill. He was chosen Alderman of that city, and won a large medical practice. He died of cholera in 1850.

Mary Frances Wentworth married Rev. William H. Porter. He was born Sept. 19, 1818, in Rye, N. H., graduated from Yale College in 1841, settled as pastor of Congregational Church in Litchfield, N. H., and died May 26, 1861, in Roxbury, Mass. Mrs. Porter, 1878, resided in Rochester, Minn.

Margaret Jane Wentworth married David Lawrence Morrill, Esq., son of Hon. David L. Morrill, Governor of New Hampshire, and United States Senator from that State. He was born June 2, 1827, in Goffstown, N. H., graduated from Dartmouth College in 1847, and became a lawyer. They resided in Leavenworth, Kan., where Mrs. Morrill died, Feb. 1, 1877.

Samuel Hidden Wentworth graduated from Harvard College in 1858, and also received the degree of A. M. He studied law, received the degree of LL. B. from Harvard Law School, and practised his profession in Boston, Mass. Mr. Wentworth was for several years a member of the Boston School Committee, and was chosen Representative to the State Legislature in 1876 from the city of Boston, Mass.

Memoranda.

AMOS COGSWELL was a merchant, farmer, and the proprietor of a public house. He was a Justice of the Peace and Postmaster; represented the town in the State Legislature, and was State Senator in 1839 and 1840.

Mary Cogswell [790] married Simeon Farnum, Esq., who was a farmer and prominent citizen of the East Parish, in Concord, N. H.

Moses P. Cogswell [791] was for some years a merchant in Boston, Mass. He shipped for California in 1849, and died soon after his arrival. His death was noticed in the following obituary, published in 1850:

"At Falksville, Cal., Feb. 13th ult., Mr. Moses P. Cogswell, of the firm of Rand & Cogswell, Boston, aged twenty-seven years, son of Amos Cogswell, Esq., late of Canterbury, N. H. In March, 1849, young Cogswell left Boston in a company of twenty-six, known by the name of the 'Roxbury Sagamore Company,' in the ship 'Sweden.' In five months and three days they landed in San Francisco. Young Cogswell was the only one on board who did not suffer by sickness on his way out. Soon after his arrival he was taken with dysentery and fever, from which he never recovered. In the bloom of youth, far from those loved ones who were bound to him by all the endearing ties of nature, he has been consigned to the tomb. He possessed a warm and generous heart, full of sympathy and affection; warm and ardent in his friendships, 'none knew him but to love, none named him but to praise.' He said to a friend a few hours before his death, 'I can't live; I should be glad to see all my friends, but I am reconciled, and feel prepared for death.' He is gone, his pleasant voice is silent, and his heart, so full of purity and gentleness, is still in death, the grave closes over all that is dear and cherished.

*"Bright angels beckoned him away,
And Jesus bade him come
To heavenly mansions in the skies,
To dwell with him at home."*

William Cogswell

Biographical.

WILLIAM COGSWELL received his early education in the Academy of his native town and graduated in the class of 1811 from Dartmouth College, N. H. While a member of college he taught school in Chebacco Parish, Ipswich, Mass., and was the early instructor of Hon. Rufus Choate, then a lad commencing the study of the ancient classics. Vid. p. 82. After graduating, Mr. Cogswell for two years was a teacher in Atkinson and Hampton Academies, N. H. He pursued his professional studies with Rev. Josiah Webster, of Hampton, N. H., Rev. Daniel Dana, D. D., of Newburyport, and Rev. Dr. Samuel Worcester, of Salem, Mass. An interesting episode in his course of theological study was a home-missionary tour through Northern New Hampshire, partly to regain his health, and partly to win souls to Christ. In both objects he was successful. As the result of his labors in the town of Sandwich, N. H., there was awakened a deep religious interest, and a church of thirteen members organized. Of these original members were Hon. Paul Wentworth and his wife, parents of Hon. John Wentworth, LL. D., and Dr. Asa Crosby, who was chosen the first deacon, the father of a distinguished family of sons, viz.: Hon. Nathan, Dr. Dixi, Prof. Alpheus, and Dr. Thomas Crosby. Mr. Cogswell returned in health and completed his studies, and was ordained to the Gospel ministry and installed, April 26, 1815, Pastor of the South Church in Dedham, Mass., where he fulfilled a useful ministry of some fourteen years, and resigned, much to the regret of his people, Dec. 15, 1829. He had already been chosen the General Agent of the American Education Society, and soon after, Jan. 25, 1832, became its Secretary, which office he filled with great acceptance for nearly ten years. In 1833 he received the degree of D. D. from Williams College, and in 1837 was chosen a Trustee of Andover Theological Seminary. Rev. Dr. Cogswell was elected, Jan. 12, 1841, to the Professorship of National Education and History in Dartmouth College, N. H., and resigned the Secretaryship of the American Education Society to enter upon the duties of this new position, which, however, he resigned Jan. 11, 1844, and accepted the Presidency and Chair of Christian Theology in Gilmanton Theological Seminary, N. H. In 1846 he terminated his connection with the Seminary and devoted himself to editorial labors. Besides accomplishing a large amount of literary work, Dr. Cogswell preached on the Sabbath, supplying the pulpits in Gilmanton Old Parish, and other places. His published works were somewhat numerous, and many of them involved large patience and labor, being of a statistical character. Under his editorship was issued, in 1847, the FIRST VOLUME OF THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORICAL AND GENEALOGICAL REGISTER. The last work of his life was to edit the SIXTH VOLUME OF THE NEW HAMPSHIRE HISTORICAL COLLECTIONS, a book of more than three hundred pages, which mostly came under his revision during his last illness. The final proof-sheets of this work were sent to the printer on the Monday preceding his death, which occurred Thursday, April 18, 1850.

Rev. Dr. Cogswell was greatly interested in all matters of history and genealogy. He was connected with various historical and antiquarian societies, both in this country and in Europe. For forty years, as he had opportunity, he was collecting genealogical data of the Cogswell Family, which suggested and inspired the preparation of this work, THE COGSWELLS IN AMERICA. Some time in the year 1849, largely at Rev. Dr. Cogswell's suggestion, there was held a FAMILY MEETING OF COGSWELLS.

MRS. JUDITH COGSWELL, in her eighty-fourth year, still resided in the old homestead in Atkinson, N. H. This gathering of her children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren was an occasion of deep interest. Rev. Dr. Cogswell, the eldest of her children, made the address, in which he recounted the family history with congratulatory remarks. At that time, 1849, the aged mother could reckon eight of her nine children as living. Of her forty-eight grandchildren thirty-seven were living, and of her seventeen great-grandchildren there were eleven living. Rev. Dr. Cogswell died the year succeeding this meeting in the old homestead. There is no space here to give even a general estimate of his life work and character. Numerous tributes have been paid to his distinguished memory and published elsewhere. As the good man neared the blessed transition from earth to Heaven, his mind seemed to be filled with raptures in view of Christ and the Gospel he had loved to preach. His last words were those of most animated exclamation: "I TRIUMPH! I TRIUMPH!"

Memoranda.

MRS. JOANNA STRONG COGSWELL, wife of Rev. William Cogswell, D. D., was the youngest sister of the late ALEXANDER STRONG, Esq., of Boston, Mass. She was a lady of great loveliness of character, refinement of manners, and religious devotion. She had gifts of a poetic nature, and in her note-book left some very sweet snatches of verse, an example of which is the following:

THOUGHTS OF A MOTHER WHILE SITTING BY THE CRADLE OF HER SLEEPING INFANT.

MY LITTLE WILLIAM, lovely babe!	She hopes that thou wilt live, and prove
While in the cradle thou art laid,	A child who will reward their love
Sleeping so peacefully,	And all their anxious care;
Thy mother by thee watching sits,	That thou wilt be indeed a child
By turns she reads, and sews, and knits,	Most sweet, affectionate, and mild,
Musing parentally.	And wilt each virtue wear.
She thinks of thee as now thou art,	She hopes that from thy earliest days
The comfort of thy parents' heart,	Thou wilt delight in wisdom's ways
Their dearest earthly joy.	And all her paths pursue;
She thinks of what thou mayest be,	That thou the good wilt always choose,
And hopes and fears concerning thee,	And every evil wilt refuse,
Their little darling boy.	Though flattering to the view.

She hopes that if it be God's will,
 Thou wilt have talents, gifts, and skill,
 In knowledge to excel;
 And that thy powers and gifts may be
 To him devoted sacredly
 While thou on earth shalt dwell.

Yet while these pleasing hopes so bright
 Inspire with joy and fond delight,
 And thus her thoughts employ,
 Intruding fears come o'er the heart,
 Which sometimes cause the tear to start,
 Lest thou these hopes destroy.

For oft a child of promise fair,
 One nourished with most tender care,
 Perhaps an only son,
 Has proved ungrateful, wretched, vile,
 A prey to every tempting wile,
 And utterly undone.

And oft a youth with talents blessed,
 Who might have lived beloved, caressed,
 An honor to mankind,
 Has thrown his noblest powers away,
 Or o'er them given to vice the sway,
 To evil all inclined.

Shouldst thou, my precious babe, thus prove
 An alien from the God of love,
 To virtue thus be lost;
 Thy parents' tears for thee would flow,
 Their sorrow no relief would know,
 For their fond hopes are crossed.

But O kind Father, in thy love
 Look down in pity from above,
 These evils dire prevent!
 May this dear child thine image bear,
 Eternal glory may he share
 When all his days are spent! J. S. C.

WILLIAM STRONG COGSWELL, the subject of his mother's tender thoughts as above expressed, realized all her best hopes in ability and character, but was early called to a higher service than any of earth. He died at his home in Gilmanton, N. H., just before reaching his twentieth birthday, while a member of the Senior class in Dartmouth College. The death of this only son of fine scholarship and brilliant promise was a crushing blow to the family. Dr. Cogswell never recovered from this sad affliction. His health soon after declined, and two years later his own death was recorded.

The following lines appeared in The Boston Recorder of May 12, 1848:

ON THE DEATH OF WILLIAM STRONG COGSWELL.

Another friend whom we have loved is gone,
 Gone to his silent home, the peaceful grave.
 You in whose bosoms swells the tide of youth,
 May guess what cherished hopes unrealized,
 Like the first budding flowers of early spring,
 When nipped by frosts, have withered in his death.
 Consumption came, the lurking foe of man,
 And smiling as he fixed his arrow, brake
 His morning dream of life. I heard the bell,
 Which, at his parting breath, began to toll;
 And as each mournful echo died away,
 A fresher tear came forth. If I did weep
 When no tie bound us but our common lot,
 To view the end of his short pilgrimage,
 How could the tenderness of woman's heart —
 A mother's soul, its untold anguish vent?
 Man's woe is short; his powers were made for toil,
 That plucks the pain of other thoughts away;
 But woman sorrows as she loveth, once,
 And then forever. If perchance in time
 The memory of her loved one should grow dim,

And pleasure weave its magic round her path,
 Ev'n then you may detect a lonely spot,
 In cypress mantled, and with ivy twined;
 For I have noticed, those who once have mourned,
 Smile sadly ever after. Sisters, say,
 If ye have seen a brother by your side
 Cropped in the bloom of youth, in lonely hours,
 When sweetest visions of the past arise,
 And well-remembered tones steal on the soul
 In melting music, if without a sigh
 Ye then can smile.

And William is no more!
 The hollow, dismal knell, the pall and bier,
 Have done their gloomy office. At his grave
 The mourners have their last sad homage paid
 To him who died at morn, just ere the last
 Among the sister stars sunk pale and sick,
 Behind the deep blue curtain of yon sky.
 The warbling birds sang sweetly, as he died,
 Their all-wise Maker's praise; and we may hope
 For him in heaven another harp was tuned.

And we must follow. In a few quick years,
 Our names, engraved upon the silent slab,
 Will be, perhaps, the last remaining proof,
 That time once saw us, and his sickle waved
 Above our being. When the twilight glows,
 Visit some sleeper in his churchyard rest,
 And tell me if 'tis so. The mighty spell
 Of our devotion — life — will soon dissolve;
 And the cold current of forgetfulness
 Roll on our hearts, when from their riven cells
 Death drags his struggling victim. Youth, beware!
 Thy spirit is immortal! Smother not
 The heavenly flame that kindles in thy breast;
 But cherish as a rich, eternal gift
 The love which God himself has breathed in thee:
 So mayst thou die in peace, and leave a name
 Beloved and wept, as William's is by all.

The summer bird, if she have lost her mate,
 Will fly to William's grave; and as her plaint
 Of touching sadness fills the lingering breeze,
 For lack of tears her little heart will break.
 Oh, that I were a bird, and I could weep!
 How would I sit, the livelong day, and sing,
 Beside the fresh, green turf above his head,
 And water with my tears each gentle flower,
 Blooming in fragrance there! Farewell, thou dust!
 Thy once bright spirit's dream is past, and Time,
 Leaning upon the ruin, sighs, "FAREWELL!"

April 9, 1883; Francis Ayers, b. April 5, 1868; John, b. Aug. 26, 1870; and Harriet Elizabeth, b. April 21, 1878.

CAPT. WILLIAM BADGER, U. S. A.

WILLIAM BADGER, youngest son of Hon. William and Hannah P. (Cogswell) Badger, fitted for college at Gilmanton Academy, graduated from Dartmouth College in 1848, commenced business with the Union Manufacturing Company at Badger's Mills, Gilmanton (now Belmont), N. H.; became Superintendent of the same in 1853, and in 1859 became Superintendent of Construction and Repairs of the Tilton Manufacturing Company in Tilton, N. H. While at the Gilmanton Mills he read law and prosecuted somewhat literary and scientific studies, for which he had a decided taste. From early life he was identified with the militia, and served in every capacity, from Sergeant to Captain of Artillery. When the war broke out he reported to the Adjutant-General's office in Concord, N. H., and May 9, 1861, was appointed recruiting officer with the rank of Captain commanding Belknap Co. rendezvous, was commissioned Captain Fourth New Hampshire Volunteers, Sept. 18, 1861, and Colonel Fourth New Hampshire Volunteers, Feb. 21, 1864. When the regiment was mustered out of service he was appointed Captain Ninth Regiment United States Volunteers, and honorably discharged April 20, 1866, then commissioned Lieutenant Sixth United States Infantry, May 19, 1866, and Captain, Dec. 15, 1880, was commissioned Brevet Major of Volunteers, March 13, 1865, and Brevet Captain United States Army, March 2, 1867, "for gallant and meritorious conduct during the war." Having served longer with his regiment without detached service than any other officer, he was ordered on recruiting service and stationed in Providence, R. I. He was selected, Oct. 31, 1882, from the captains of the army for the Executive Officer at the United States Military Prison, Fort Leavenworth, Kan. Capt. Badger was a member of the New Hampshire Historical Society, the Masonic Fraternity, and the Grand Army of the Republic. He held the office of Justice of the Peace from 1850 to 1870. Capt. Badger married a daughter of Col. James C. Cilley, a descendant of Gen. Cilley of the war of the Revolution. Capt. and Mrs. Badger had one child: William Cogswell, b. Aug. 10, 1857, in Belmont, N. H.

William Cogswell Badger was educated in Concord, N. H., and in Boston, Mass. He went West in 1876, and located as the first settler in a nameless township of Emmons Co., Dakota. He was engaged in raising cattle, and furnished large supplies of beef for the army.

NATHANIEL COGSWELL graduated in 1819 from Dartmouth College. He united with the church in his native town, Nov. 5, 1820, studied theology with his brother, Rev. William Cogswell [411], of South Dedham, Mass., and was settled, April 24, 1822, as pastor over the Congregational Church in Yarmouth, Mass. After a ministry of thirty years he resigned, Dec. 15, 1851. In 1853 Rev. Mr. Cogswell was a member of the Massachusetts Constitutional Convention, and the same year elected by the State Legislature an Overseer of Harvard College.

Memoranda.

Nathaniel Cogswell rode on horseback the whole distance from Boston to Yarmouth, Mass., when he first went there as a candidate in 1822. It was in the cold season and he suffered severely. He reached Yarmouth late Saturday evening, with his ears badly frozen. Nevertheless he preached on the next day with such vigor and unction that his hearers were unanimous in their desire to have him settle amongst them. During his ministry of thirty years there were several extensive revivals of religion. For further mention of Rev. Nathaniel Cogswell, vid. HISTORICAL DISCOURSE OF THE CHURCH IN YARMOUTH, MASS., and A MEMORIAL SERMON OF REV. MR. COGSWELL, preached by Rev. John W. Dodge.

Biographical.

FRANCIS COGSWELL graduated from Dartmouth College in 1822, was Principal of Gilford Academy for one year, studied law with Stephen Moody, Esq., of Gilmanton, N. H., was admitted to the bar in 1827, and practised in Tuftonboro' and Ossipee, N. H., some five years. Mr. Cogswell removed to Dover, N. H., in 1833, to enter upon his duties as Clerk of the Court in Strafford Co., N. H. He resigned in 1842, removed to Andover, Mass., and for a short time was the Superintendent of the manufacturing interests in Ballardvale, Mass. He was chosen, May 16, 1845, Cashier of the Andover Bank, and Director of the Boston and Maine Railroad Company. Of the latter he became President in 1856. This position he resigned in 1862, but so successful was his administration of the affairs of the company that he was re-elected in 1865, and filled the office until 1871. Then wishing to be relieved of business he severed his connection with the company and retired to spend the rest of his days in the quiet of his own home. Mr. Cogswell, in addition to the above offices, was for some twenty years Treasurer of the Marland Manufacturing Company, and Director of Andover Bank. He was Trustee of both Gilmanton and Atkinson Academies, New Hampshire, and of the Punchard Free School, Andover, Mass. He was an Overseer of Harvard College for six years, and Warden of Christ Church, Andover, Mass., for nearly thirty years. Mr. Cogswell was a man of fine business abilities, unquestioned integrity, and excellent social qualities. His age was crowned with honor and the peace of God. Under date of Nov. 21, 1878, in a letter to a nephew he wrote, "Should I live one calendar month more I shall be seventy-eight years old. At that age I can make but little calculation for the future. I have great reason to thank our Heavenly Father for all the benefits and blessings which I have received at His hands. My cup of blessing has been filled and running over. I have no complaint to make. I have passed smoothly and pleasantly along this, a long life, a full third of a century in a public or corporate employment, and have never had it in my heart to complain of ill usage by the world. I have always thought that I had received all that I deserved to have, and was and am satisfied." Mr. Cogswell survived to his eightieth year. His funeral service was attended in Christ Church, Andover, Mass. Vid. SUCCESSFUL NEW HAMPSHIRE MEN.

 CAROLINE DOANE, [852] b. Aug. 2, 1852.

Biographical.

GEORGE COGSWELL received his earlier education at the academy of his native town, prosecuted his professional studies under the ablest teachers of Medical Science in New England, and received the degree of M. D., with the highest honors of his class, in 1830, from Dartmouth College, N. H. Dr. Cogswell at once established himself as a physician in Bradford, Mass., where he won a wide practice and rose rapidly to eminence in his profession. With the desire for a wider knowledge in the range of his profession, especially in the line of surgery, in the fall of 1841 he visited Europe, spending the succeeding winter in the hospitals of Paris, and in attending the lectures of the most distinguished men in medical science. In the following spring he visited the principal cities of Italy, and for a while studied in the hospitals of London. On his return he at once resumed the practice of his profession. He boldly and successfully attempted capital operations in surgery, and became the leading surgical operator and consulting physician for a large circuit. He fitted up a well-appointed dissecting-room, and the advantages of his instruction were sought by many students to whom became known his superior knowledge of Technical Anatomy. In 1844 Dr. Cogswell received, but declined, an invitation to occupy the chair of a Professor in the Medical Department of one of the leading colleges in New England. He had a great desire to elevate the standard of medical practice, and largely by his efforts the Essex North Medical Association was organized, which became a vigorous branch of the Massachusetts Medical Society. After Dr. Cogswell relinquished the active practice of his profession, he still retained his membership in this society, participated in its discussions of scientific and practical subjects, and contributed much to its success.

George Agnew

Dr. Cogswell was called to fill other positions of responsibility and trust. He was elected President of the Union Bank in Haverhill, Mass., at its organization in 1849, and was elected to the same office when that institution became the First National Bank in 1864, which position he still filled in 1884. For many years he was the Vice-President of the Haverhill Savings Bank, and for a time the President of a Railroad Company. He was an active member of the Chapman Hall meeting in Boston, which organized the Republican party in Massachusetts, with which party he was ever in full accord. In 1852 he was a member of the Electoral College, which gave the vote of Massachusetts for Gen. Winfield Scott. In 1858 and 1859 he was a member of the Executive Council, Nathaniel P. Banks being the Governor of Massachusetts. He was a delegate from the Sixth District of Massachusetts to the Chicago Convention which nominated Abraham Lincoln for President in 1860. In 1862 he was appointed by President Lincoln Collector of Internal Revenue for the Sixth District of Massachusetts. After holding this office for four years, he was removed by President Johnson, without cause, and was reappointed to the same office by President Grant in 1870, which position he held until 1875, when this district was consolidated with two other districts. This was one of the largest and most important paying districts in the country, and under the administration of Dr. Cogswell its affairs were conducted with marked efficiency and exactness. He was a member of the Electoral College of 1868, which gave the vote of the State for Gen. Ulysses S. Grant. Dr. Cogswell received the degree of A. M. from Dartmouth College in 1865. He was always deeply interested in educational matters and gave some of his best service to the management of important schools. He was for a long time a Trustee of Atkinson Academy, and of the Peabody Academy of Science, in Salem, Mass. For nearly fifty years he was a Trustee of Bradford Academy, and during most of this time had the entire management of its financial affairs. His efficiency in this work is best illustrated by the splendid appointments of this institution for the higher education of young ladies. The ample grounds, the perfection of the school edifice, the excellence of the teachers, and the scope of its curriculum, give it a prominence and a power not excelled. He had the pleasure, with his associate trustees, of seeing this school, by the generosity and interest of its many friends, placed upon an enduring foundation. In the great reforms of the last half-century Dr. Cogswell gave his influence by judicious advice and consistent example. He commenced active life with the temperance cause, and was an ardent supporter of the anti-slavery movement from the beginning to the end of that great controversy.

Dr. Cogswell was evangelical in his religious convictions, and never departed from the Scriptures of his ancestors. In 1831 he became a member of the church in Bradford, and was always identified with its growth and prosperity. In 1860 he assisted in forming the HAVERHILL MONDAY EVENING CLUB, which was composed of gentlemen of literary tastes, residing in Haverhill and Bradford, for the discussion of literary, scientific, and social topics. In 1878 Dr. Cogswell made his second visit to Europe, and was at the World's Fair in Paris. He included in his travels the mountains and lakes of Switzerland, and portions of Germany, Belgium, and Holland. He also visited the rural districts of England, Scotland, and Ireland, giving much attention to the agricultural capabilities and resources of the countries through which he passed, and manifesting the same enthusiasm in all objects of interest that characterized his former visit. Amid his multiplied cares and duties, Dr. Cogswell found time to devote no little attention to agriculture, and his broad acres on the sunny slope of "Riverside" give evidence of good cultivation. There, amid the rural retirement of his country home, he passed the summer months of his later years, with his family, receiving his friends with the cordial grace of old-time hospitality.

It should not fail of mention, that of those who have generously aided in carrying forward to successful issue the work of genealogical research, as presented in this volume, there is no one to whom the author is so largely indebted, for counsel, encouragement, and money, as to HON. GEORGE COGSWELL, M. D. For fuller mention of DR. COGSWELL, vid. SUCCESSFUL NEW HAMPSHIRE MEN.

Memoranda.

Mrs. Elizabeth (Doane) Cogswell, the wife of Hon. George Cogswell, M. D., was the youngest daughter of Hon. Elisha and Susan Doane, of Yarmouth, Mass. Her older sister, Susan Doane, was the wife of Rev. Nathaniel Cogswell [415]. The family of the late Judge Doane were literary and highly cultivated. Mrs. Cogswell was a lady of great refinement and interesting social qualities.

Sarah Parker Cogswell [848], daughter of Dr. George and Abigail (Parker) Cogswell, graduated from Bradford Academy, and in 1871, with a party of friends, made an extended tour in England and Central Europe.

Caroline Doane Cogswell [852], the youngest daughter of Dr. Cogswell, graduated from Bradford Academy, and in 1878 visited Europe, and travelled with her father and other friends over the interesting parts of England and the Continent.

Memoranda.

"MASON COGSWELL, who married Lydia Huntington, resided at the homestead originally occupied by his father, which was situated on the highest ground in the vicinity of Upper Dyke Village, from which the dykes and meadows below and around could be seen to the extent of two or three miles on either side of the Upper Canard River. He was a very thriving and industrious farmer, and instructed his boys in the like line of life, with the exception of the second son, Henry Hezekiah, who was destined for the legal profession, and enjoyed the advantages of an education at King's College, Windsor, while common schools at the time were few and far between. From an inventory of the property and estate of Capt. Mason Cogswell, after his death in 1816, it is observed that he had, besides eight hundred acres of upland farm and wood lots, with eighty acres of marsh and dyke lands, a herd comprising twenty-four horned cattle (nine being cows), also two horses, twelve swine, with the several appliances of agricultural implements employed or procurable at the time, household furniture, sofa, Windsor chairs, a small book library, silver spoons and sugar tongs for the stirring business of the tea table, not omitting coffee-pot, tin kitchen and scales, bed furniture, blankets, bolsters and pillows, as results of home growth of raw materials, with the use of spinning wheel and weaver's shuttle. The inventory, in short, would seem to indicate a self-sustaining house, comprising everything required by the frugal householder and farmer, down to money scales and shoe buckles, with a number of promissory-notes given him by less prosperous neighbors, amounting by inventory to an estimated value of $13,334 of the now existing currency." Capt. Mason Cogswell's grave was in the Presbyterian burial-ground on Church Street, Cornwallis, N. S. The inscription on his tombstone was as follows :

In Memory of
CAPTAIN MASON COGSWELL,
Who Died Dec. 12, 1816,
In the 67th Year of His Age.

"So man lieth down and riseth not till the Heavens be no more."

HARRIET BROOME, [943] b. March 6, 1790; m. Sept. 17, 1819, Robert Willis Mott; d. Sept. 6, 1843.

Biographical.

JAMES COGSWELL, eldest child of Rev. Dr. James and Alice (Fitch) Cogswell, was born in Canterbury, Conn. He studied medicine, and commenced practice in Preston, but soon removed to Stamford, Conn. During the War of the Revolution Dr. Cogswell was under appointment as Surgeon in the Army, and on duty in Cambridge, Mass., and vicinity in the summer of 1775, and at the battle of Bunker Hill. Afterwards his official duties called him to Stamford, Conn., as Examining Surgeon of Volunteers for the Army. And yet later he was assigned to New York, where his younger brother, Mason Fitch Cogswell [481], was his assistant. Subsequent to the Revolution Dr. Cogswell continued the practice of his profession in New York. The New York Directory of 1786 gives "James Cogswell, Surgeon and Apothecary, 219 Queen Street." Dr. Cogswell died of yellow fever, contracted while in attendance upon the duties of his profession. At the time of his death he was only forty-six years of age, but had won for himself an eminence in his profession, and even higher distinction in character, as a gentleman of literary taste, public and philanthropic spirit, and devoted piety. Dr. Cogswell was a correspondent of the poet Cowper, and had a wide literary acquaintance. By marriage he became connected with some of the best families of New England, the Davenports, Huntingtons, Edwardses, Lloyds, Taylors, and Woolseys. Numerous published obituaries mention his eminent professional skill and unobtrusive but effective piety. "THOMPSON'S LONG ISLAND" furnishes the following testimonial: "Dr. James Cogswell, of New York, was a man no less distinguished for his professional acquirements than for his noble philanthropy and generous public spirit." Memoranda.

DR. JAMES COGSWELL was buried in a church vault in New York; afterwards his remains were removed and interred in the churchyard of Christ's Church, Manhasset, Long Island, N. Y. The spot is marked by a tombstone bearing the following inscription:

"Here repose the mortal remains of Doctor James Cogswell, who died the 20th of November, 1792, in the 48th year of his age.

"He was a Patriot, actively engaged as a member of the staff of Washington in the great struggle for Independence.

"A Philanthropist deeply interested in all the benevolent movements of his times, one of the principal originators of the New York Dispensary System, also of a Society for the relief of distressed debtors, and of the First African School established in New York.

"He was a devoted Christian, exemplifying the religion he professed by a consistent life.

"THE RIGHTEOUS SHALL BE IN EVERLASTING REMEMBRANCE."

Mrs. Elizabeth (Davenport) Cogswell was the daughter of Hon. Abraham Davenport, son of Rev. John Davenport, of Stamford, Conn., and grandson of Rev. John Davenport, "the father of the New Haven Colony." He was born in 1715, graduated from Yale College in 1732, married, Nov. 16, 1750, Elizabeth Huntington, of Windham, Conn., whose mother was the second daughter of Rev. Timothy and Esther (Stoddard) Edwards, of East Windsor, Conn., and had nine sisters and an only brother. PRESIDENT JONATHAN EDWARDS, D. D., pastor of Northampton, Mass., from 1726 to 1750, was Mrs. Cogswell's great-uncle. Mrs. Cogswell's father, Hon. Abraham Davenport, was prominent in public affairs. He was State Councillor, Judge of Court of Common Pleas, Judge of Probate, and a member of the General Assembly of Connecticut. An incident is told illustrating his good sense and courage. He was a member of the State Council when occurred the dark day, May 19, 1780. There was a general feeling that the Day of Judgment had come. The General Assembly, unable to transact business, adjourned, and great trepidation prevailed. The proposal to adjourn was before the Council when Col. Davenport arose and said, "I am against an adjournment. The Day of Judgment is either approaching or it is not. If it is not, there is no cause for an adjournment; if it is, I choose to be found doing my duty. I wish, therefore, that the candles may be brought, and we proceed to business." Mrs. Cogswell's brother was the Hon. James Davenport, who graduated from Yale College in 1777, married, May 7, 1780, ¹*Abigail Fitch*, who died; married, Nov. 6, 1790, ²*Melitable Coggeshall*, a descendant of Hon. John Coggeshall, first President of Rhode Island Colony in 1647, under patent granted by the Earl of Warwick. Mrs. Bruen, a descendant, lived, 1883, in a house standing on the site of the ancient Coggeshall mansion in Newport, R. I. Mr. Davenport was State Councillor in 1796, chosen a member of the American Congress, but died before his term expired, Aug. 3, 1797, at the age of thirty-nine years.

Mrs. Abigail (Lloyd) Cogswell was the daughter of John Lloyd, Esq., a gentleman farmer who resided in Lloyd Manor, Stamford, Conn. She was the granddaughter of Henry and Rebecca (Nelson) Lloyd. Her mother was the daughter of Rev. Benjamin and Abigail (Taylor) Woolsey.

LETTERS OF JAMES COGSWELL, M. D.,

TO HIS FATHER.

"CAMP AT ROXBURY, 7TH JUNE, 1775.

"Dear and Honored Sir,—The bearer is just setting out, and I have but a few moments to employ in writing to you. We are all hurry and confusion here. We have been for several days expecting a visit from our neighbors and making preparations to give them a suitable reception. Last night 1,100 men began to break ground at Dorchester Hill, and have not been molested this morning.

"Col. Putnam began to intrench last night at Bonchee's Hill, on Charlestown side. They have fired a number of cannon upon him this morning, but the firing is now ceased.

"The troops are healthy, orderly, and in fine spirits, waiting with the utmost impatience to have the Regulars sally out. I live in a house with the worthy Gen. Spencer. He appears to me the most sagacious, active officer I have seen in the camp.

"The generals in this colony (as it is now called) are worthy men, but they are not trained to make such quick dispatch of business as military duty requires. I hope you will write to me frequently. There is much prophaneness in the Camp, more among the troops that belong to Rhode Island than ours. Our men are allowed to be the most orderly, able, and best disciplined of any in the Service. Col. Parsons arrived this morning. The powder from Connecticut came in yesterday; the arrival of it gave us much joy. We have not enough to support a constant fire of heavy cannon should we open batteries. This has embarrassed our officers very much. Give my most dutiful regards to my mother, remember me with affection to Mr. Devotion and to Sister Lucy.

"I am your dutiful Son,

"JAMES COGSWELL."

"CAMP IN ROXBURY, 23RD JUNE, 1775."

"Dear and Hon'd Sir. — Recd yours of the 21st inst. from Coventry, and the request by the Bearer. I wrote a letter of the same date of yours, in which I have given you all the information I was then able to give with respect to the matters of which you inquired. Since that time we have heard by two Persons, something more of the numbers killed and wounded among the Regulars. A man whose name is Clark made his escape from Boston, the day before yesterday. He has a brother in the place. General Spencer saw and conversed with him. He says the Regulars had upwards of a thousand killed and wounded. Major Pitcairn was killed, and one of those generals that lately arrived, but which he could not tell. A number of other officers of inferior rank were killed. The other man that made his escape confirms this account. We have had no considerable engagement since. The Regulars have ceased their fire, and are intrenching on Bunker Hill. We every day expect they will make another push. Our men are fortifying Spectacle hill, and are so strongly intrenched that I do not feel much concerned. I am now obliged to set out for Cambridge, and can add no more than suitable compliments to all friends.

"From your affectionate Son,

"JAMES COGSWELL."

"REV. MR. COGSWELL."

"CAMP IN ROXBURY, 23RD AUGUST, 1775."

"Dear and Hon'd Sir. — I have received several very kind, affectionate letters from you, which I have not answered. The reasons have been want of time, and expecting to see you soon. I have been for about six weeks past in a constant hurry, and not a moment's time to spare. It has been and is very sickly in our camp, though I think it is now rather abating.

"Considering the numbers that have been sick, the Distemper has not proved very mortal.

"My Grandfather Fitch was here yesterday. By him I understand you have dismissed the thoughts of visiting the Camp at present, by reason of sickness in Scotland. I hope it will abate, and I may have the pleasure of seeing you here. We are in expectations of an attack from the enemy soon; several deserters from them inform us they are making . . . and implements for attacking and filling up intrenchments. Many trees in the town are cut down for that purpose. Some before Mrs. Hancock's door were demolished yesterday. But for my part I am in doubt whether they will venture. Mrs. Cogswell I conclude is now at Preston. I wrote to her by Mr. Hart on Monday. If she is with you give my love to her and tell her I expect her brother from Fairfield soon. Mr. Hart took a carriage with him to Preston, which I suppose Mr. Davenport will ride in here. I hope Betsey will come with him. Give my duty to my mamma, and to Sister Lucy. Present my best regards to Mr. Devotion and his family. Capt. Fanning waits, and I am in haste. Phin Tracy is very ill. I am very doubtful of his recovery.

"I am your affectionate Son,

"JAMES COGSWELL."

"MR. COGSWELL."

"STAMFORD, 19TH DEC., 1783."

"Dear and Hon'd Sir. — This will be delivered by my brother Samuel, whose company we have been favored with some time. It must be very pleasing to you to see him again after so long absence, returning from the dangers that attend a military life, unsullied with the vices that accompany it, and as one who has a share in the arduous task of successfully opposing one of the most potent nations in the world, and in procuring peace and independence. For my own part I view him with a kind of respect, mixed with fraternal affection, gratitude, and love. Your pleasure would have been increased by seeing Mason with Samuel, had it not been for an event that has caused great distress among the circle of your acquaintance in Stamford. You know Mrs. Davenport, and can easily conceive that her death, at so early a period, must be very affecting. She grew more and more amiable from the first of my acquaintance with her, and though we are deeply affected with her loss, we do not mourn without hope. Mr. Davenport is much affected. I hope it may work for his good. I have been sick with the fever and ague. Mrs. Loyd, Mrs. Cogswell, and Alice have had it, but we are now (God be thanked) in good health. We were too unwell to think of visiting you until the weather became too cold. I am going to New York soon, and if I can purchase medicine and get a store, shall move in. I think of you often, and wish that I was so nigh you that I could see you, enjoy your company, and receive your advice. Mrs. Cogswell and Alice present their dutiful regards to you and my Mother. I hope she enjoys a good state of health. I wish it for her sake and yours. Give my duty to her, and accept it yourself from

"Your dutiful son,

SAMUEL⁶ COGSWELL, (*James*⁵, *Samuel*⁴, *Samuel*³, *John*², *John*¹), son of Rev. Dr. James⁵ [196] and Alice (Fitch) Cogswell, was born May 23, 1754, in Canterbury, Conn. He married, 1784, Mary Backus, daughter of Major Ebenezer and Mercy (Edwards) Backus. She was born March 18, 1767, in Windham, Conn. They resided in Lansingburg, N. Y. Lieut. Cogswell died Aug. 29, 1790. She died Nov. 21, 1834.

THEIR CHILDREN WERE:

MASON BACKUS, [943*a*] b. Jan. 19, 1787. He died in childhood, May 5, 1790.

JAMES FITCH, [944] b. Nov. 12, 1789. He died, unmarried, May, 1862.

MARIA, [945] b. Aug. 15, 1790; m. Oct. 29, 1810, Hon. Douglas W. Sloane; d. Jan. 9, 1870.

Biographical.

SAMUEL COGSWELL fitted for college under his father's instruction, having for a classmate his cousin, Ebenezer Fitch. They entered Yale College members of the same class, were room-mates throughout the course, and both graduated in 1777. Mr. Cogswell was in the Army of the Revolution, and was the LIEUT. SAMUEL COGSWELL who appears with COL. THOMAS COGSWELL [152] and MAJOR AMOS COGSWELL [156] on the banks of the Hudson when the officers of the American Revolution organized, in 1783, "THE SOCIETY OF CINCINNATI." After the close of the war he engaged in the mercantile business. Mr. Cogswell was a person of fine abilities and of refined and attractive manners. He seemed to have a career of eminence before him, when his life was suddenly terminated, Aug. 29, 1790. He was on a gunning excursion with a college classmate and friend, Mr. Dickinson, when, by some accident, his friend's gun was unexpectedly discharged, and Mr. Cogswell killed almost instantly. He was but thirty-six years of age.

LETTERS OF LIEUT. SAMUEL COGSWELL

TO HIS FATHER.

"PAUTUXET, 9TH MARCH, 1779.

"Dear and Hon'd Sir,—It is a long time since I have had the pleasure to hear from the family by letter. I am ignorant of the reason. I sometimes think it owing to the miscarriage of letters, and sometimes to the expectation of soon seeing me at home, but never can impute it to want of parental love.

"By my former letters you doubtless know the reason of my being so long absent from home. The same reasons, viz., the scarcity of Officers to do Camp Duty, still keeps me here. Officers who deserved Furloughs sooner than me and who left Camp in the Winter have not yet returned. They are daily expected, and as soon as they come I have the promise of a Furlough. My duty through the Winter has been rather severe, but I have always been able to perform it. Not a single tour have I missed since I have been a soldier. Thus by my steadiness and attention to my duty I cannot think it will savour of ostentation to say that I have gained the esteem of my Superiors and acquired the character of a good Officer; but I say this to my Parents only.

"The vices of Camp are innumerable, and perhaps the number is as large in this Detachment as in any upon the Continent. Many of the Officers are men of very loose principles either as to moral or religious duties. They have bravery and public Virtue, but they are both founded upon wrong sentiments. There are a select few in this Detachment who are worthy to be beloved and admired. To goodness and politeness they join a desire of pleasing by an amiable and unblemished conduct. I know my Father would choose to have me neglect the company of the former whilst I make the latter my companions. I do, and with a great degree of pleasure can say that hitherto I have shunned those vices, of which the living in general is guilty; but I must confess that the frequency of them makes them appear less enormous to me now than when I first commenced a Soldier's life. Cool reflection shows them to me in the same colours as ever, but at first sight they have not the same impression upon me as they once had. Heaven, I hope, will give me power always to avoid them.

"No news in this Quarter. The enemy at New Port are very still. I think they are fools if they lay still long, for our shores are thinly manned. It is my opinion that four thousand of them might get to Providence with a great deal of ease; but they would be obliged to go back again very soon. Hunger, I expect, will ere long drive them out, for we are told they have but short allowance.

"My Quarters are much exposed. I live with a rich old Farmer, whose Oxen, Cows, and Sheep would afford them a grand repast. Should they be tempted to make him a visit some dark night, it is ten to one but I shall be obliged to run off with but half a Shirt to my back.

"I expect to be at home in three weeks. My best Duty to my Mamma and compliments to Mr. and Mrs. Devotion.

"I am, Sir, your dutiful and affectionate Son,

"S. COGSWELL."

"CAMP PRACKNESS, N. JERSEY, 15 JULY, 1780.

"Dear and Honored Sir, — You will undoubtedly be glad to know that your son has safely arrived at camp, and with health sufficient to do the duty of a Soldier. I left New Haven the day after my father did, and at evening reached Stamford. As I passed through Fairfield and Norwalk (the first time I have seen them since their destruction) I was almost persuaded to vow eternal enmity to the name of Britons. My better feelings were aroused by reflecting on the baseness of human Nature, and compassionating the situation of the unhappy sufferers. I tarried at Stamford six days. From Stamford I came to West Point, at which place I tarried long enough to take a view of all the principal fortifications there. My knowledge of fortifications is very trifling, but I could, however, make up my judgment, partly from my own observation, but more from the remarks of others who have both ability and opportunity to become perfectly acquainted with the natural as well as artificial strength of the Post. Every hill on each side of the River upon which forts are erected appeared formidable by Nature, but the amazing strong works which are raised on every convenient place make them terrible to the view, and much more so if approached in a hostile manner. From many considerations it is believed that the Post is only defended by a small force, although it should be attacked by a very large one. From West Point I travelled in company with General Arnold to this Place. The most of the Army I found destitute of Tents, and encamped in a Wood with no other security from the inclemency of the weather than the boughs of Trees, or now and then a Bark Hut. The evening after my arrival in Camp, a rain began, which continued almost two days, the most of which time I was wet to my skin, as were all that were with me. This served as an hardening, but it gave me a cold, the effects of which I am not perfectly rid of yet.

"But we have now the happiness to be covered with Tents of the best kind, which, with the prospect I have of regaining my health, makes me very contented. I find all the gentlemen, and indeed all the Lords of the Regiment to which I belong, very destitute of every convenience. I thought the place of their encampment very suitable to their appearance, and I still think they ought not to have left the woods till they had been clothed anew from head to foot. Besides being very ragged and very dirty (which by the way they were unable to prevent for want of a change of clothes), they were supplied with but half allowance of Meat, Bread, or Rum. Whilst I pity the poor fellows for the neglect with which they were treated, my admiration was drawn forth at a view of the patience with which they bore it.

"Not a single complaint have I heard made by a Soldier since I joined the army. Every one seems willing to wait for a compensation till his country can grant it to him without injuring herself, which happy time we expect is near at hand. The arrival of the French Fleet at Newport, of which I doubt you have full information, very greatly exhilarates our Spirits, and gives us glorious prospect of soon retaliating for the loss of Charlestown (Charleston?). We expect speedily to have the pleasure of joining the troops of our glorious Ally at the White Plains, the consequence of which must be nothing short of a complete Clintonade. The only regret I feel on the occasion, is this, 'that America should be so lost to her own glory as well as interest, and at a time, too, when she abounds in the best Soldiers, as to suffer a foreign force to enter her territories, and fight her battles.' It carries with it a disgrace which she will never be able to wipe out. This is at present my opinion, which I am sensible is worth very little, and which I may probably have reason to alter in a very short time. I wish I may—Should an attempt be made upon New York, the danger will be great, and Death will be very busy, for the besieged will doubtless defend themselves with the most obstinate bravery. Then, Sir, I know you will shudder for your Son. But at the same time you wish for his safety, I hope you will as ardently wish that his conduct may be such as may do honor to himself and to his friends, so that if it should be the will of Heaven that he shall be found among those who shall nobly fall in the defense, and for the support of so glorious a cause as that in which we are engaged, you may have reason to say, 'I thank thee, Heaven, my Boy has done his duty!' But it is time for me to put an end to this very long letter. However, you will consider, Sir, that your patience will not be exercised in this way very often.

"The Bearer is a Soldier of the Regiment, whose time is out.

"I doubt not he will be paid for his trouble, that is, fed, and if he wants it, lodged. My best regards to Mamma, respectful compliments to Capt. Whiting and Mrs. I shall wish much to hear from home, but do not wish my Father to write me unless he has a very direct opportunity. The Army will soon move from this place, perhaps to White Plains.

"With every sentiment of the most dutiful respect,

"I am your son,

"SAM'L COGSWELL.

"MR. COGSWELL, Windham."

"IN CAMP, 19TH SEPTEMBER, 1781.

"Dear and Honored Sir,—I write in great haste. Arnold's infamous conduct at New Haven is still a subject of conversation. The rascal has obtained by it neither honor, or what was much more his desire, gain, for they tax him on the other side with behaviour like a coward, and he did not get plunder enough to pay him for his jaunt. We wait with a great deal of impatience for the event of General Washington's expedition to Virginia. Nothing short of a total capture of Lord Cornwallis and his army would satisfy us.

"With the profoundest sentiments of dutiful respect,

"I am your son,

"SAM'L COGSWELL.

"MR. COGSWELL, Windham."

LETTER FROM LEANDER TO PORTIUS.

"NEW HAVEN, OCT. 8TH, 1784.

"You are too good, my Brother, took kind, too affectionate. I do not deserve so much praise, so much, I should call it, flattery, and I doubt the sincerity of your friendship after so long experience.

"Be assured your affection does not meet with cold returns from your Leander. After having enjoyed the invaluable blessing so long, after having tried it thro' so many occurrences and vicissitudes, and found it invariable and unshaken, even the apprehension of losing it would be to him the bitterest affliction. The longer I live, the more I am acquainted with mankind, the less favorably do I think of them in general, and the more highly do I prize the esteem and friendship of those who were the companions of my childhood, the friends of my youth, and whose early attachment, even before either could judge of the other's merit, has been gradually ripening into a rational, tender, and manly affection. In this number, you, my Brother, hold the first place, and while this heart of mine continues to beat, it will beat with affection for you.

"You have given me great pleasure in communicating to me your plan of business. I am pleased with your prospect. It promises fair, and if your expectations from it are not too high, I flatter myself they will not be disappointed. It is vain to hope that any plan will fully answer our wishes. Yours is very rational, flattering. The stand you have taken, from the account I have had of the Country, I have long thought a good one. Your partner is a worthy, good Lad, active, enterprising, and persevering, and in your plan of business, these, seasoned with prudence, caution, and experience, are very requisite qualifications. May heaven reward you both, and place in easy and elegant circumstances the Nymph you shall honor with your esteem, and bless with your tenderness.

"Apropos of Miss P—— P——, if she is to be the happy one, I congratulate you both; tho' my acquaintance with her is small, I think highly of her. Every one that knows her intimately speaks much in her praise. A reputation so good must have merit to support it. A character so amiable she could not have acquired unless really possessed of that sense, those virtues of heart and amiableness of manners which are necessary to constitute it. I hope to have a better personal acquaintance with her shortly. She left Stratford lately on a visit to her friends at Woodbury. I have not yet heard of her return.

"Jimmy Davenport and my Sister Sally set out day before yesterday for Stamford. By them I forwarded your letter enclosed in one of my own. I took the liberty to offer her my services to convey the letters to you, and assured her she might rely on my secrecy and honor. Happy shall I be if she honors me with her confidence, and enables me to render her and my Portius any services. But I know not whether she will accept of the tender of my assistance, unless it be seconded by your opinion and advice. All your friends here send their love. Present mine to Mr. Seldon and all your friends with you. I am not certain where this will find you. Write me often. With sincerest wishes for your happiness, I am, my dear Portius,

"Most affectionately yours,

"LEANDER."

The above letter was written by Ebenezer Fitch to Lieut. Samuel Cogswell.

Memoranda.

MRS. MARY (BACKUS) COGSWELL married, May 2, 1792, ²Rev. Ebenezer Fitch, son of Jabez and Lydia (Huntington) Fitch, the cousin, early playmate, and college classmate of her lamented husband. The tradition is that Mr. Fitch had made the offer of marriage to the beautiful Mary Backus about the same time that she received a like proposal from Mr. Cogswell, neither being aware of the other's intentions. She chose Mr. Cogswell, but being bereft of him, she accepted Mr. Fitch, who made the kindest father to the children of his lamented cousin, and proved a devoted husband to his widow, and became the distinguished FIRST PRESIDENT OF WILLIAMS COLLEGE.

REV. EBENEZER FITCH, D. D.

EBENEZER FITCH was born Sept. 26, 1756, in Norwich, Conn. After graduation in 1777 from Yale College, he taught in Hanover, N. Y., became tutor in Yale College, and was licensed to preach in 1787. Rev. Mr. Fitch in 1791 became the Preceptor of Williamstown Academy, Mass., which was converted into Williams College, of which, having visited Europe, Rev. Ebenezer Fitch was inaugurated, 1793, the first President, and held the office until 1815, when he resigned and became Pastor of the Presbyterian Church in West Bloomfield, N. Y., where he fulfilled an efficient ministry of twelve years, but resigned in 1828. He received the degree of D. D., in 1800, from Harvard University. Rev. Dr. Fitch died March 21, 1833. Mrs. Mary Fitch died Nov. 21, 1834, in Cleveland, Ohio. They had eleven children: Ebenezer, b. 1793; he died the night before Commencement, Sept., 1807. Samuel Cogswell, b. April 11, 1795; he died in infancy, Aug. 7, 1796. Mason Cogswell, b. 1798; d. 1849. Charles, b. June 26, 1799; m. May 15, 1822, Sarah Hamilton; d. 1864. William, settled in Eastern Massachusetts. Henry, b. May, 1803. Gordon. Lucy, m. 1817, Rev. Ezekiel Folsom; she died in 1874. Born May 7, 1807, at one birth, Edmund; Edward, d. June 2, 1807; Edwin, d. June 14, 1807.

Mason Cogswell Fitch graduated from Williams College in 1815, studied law, settled in New Albany, Ind., became wealthy, was President of a Bank, and died 1849.

Charles Fitch graduated from Williams College in 1818, and from Princeton Theological Seminary in 1821. Aug. 22, 1822, he was ordained and installed in Cherry Valley, N. V., resigned in 1825, and installed Jan., 1826, in Holliston, Mass., where he remained until 1832, when he removed to the State of New York. Ibid. HISTORY OF HOLLISTON AND SHERBORN.

Rev. Mr. Folsom, who married Lucy Fitch, the only daughter, was a chaplain in the Army. They resided in Cleveland, Michigan City, and elsewhere. Their son, George Palmer Folsom, graduated from Williams College in 1847, became a minister, was settled in Genesee, N. Y. For extended biography of REV. EBENEZER FITCH, D. Biographical.

MASON FITCH COGSWELL was baptized Oct. 4, 1761, the seventh day after his birth. His mother died while he was but a lad of eleven years, and soon after he went to be in the family of Hon. Samuel Huntington, whose accomplished wife was Mrs. Martha (Devotion) Huntington, daughter of Rev. Dr. Cogswell's predecessor in Scotland Parish, Windham, Conn. Hon. Samuel Huntington, in 1779-80, was the President of the Continental Congress, and afterwards, from 1786 to his death, in 1796, the Governor of Connecticut. While in Mr. Huntington's family he fitted for college, and was entered at Yale, the youngest member of his class, in 1776. He maintained his standing and led his class in scholarship throughout the course, and graduated in 1780 with the highest honors, having the Valedictory Oration. He had a natural gift for surgery, and chose the profession of medicine. While pursuing his studies he was with his brother, Dr. James Cogswell [478], in the Soldiers' Hospital, in New York City, where he acquired great expertness in surgery, and was very distinguished in this department throughout his professional life. It is said that he was the most accurate, neat, and rapid operator in the country. His dexterity with the knife was wonderful. He once amputated a thigh in forty seconds.

Dr. Cogswell had a mind that was never ruffled or disconcerted, and a hand that never trembled during any operation. He first introduced the most important operation in removing a cataract from the eye, extracting it rather than breaking it in pieces. He was the first one in this country to secure the carotid artery with a ligature; and "that the Deaf and Dumb Asylum in Hartford, Conn., owes its existence to the exertions of Dr. Cogswell, in the first instance, is as familiarly known as the institution itself." He was moved to this by sympathy for his own daughter, Alice, a girl of strong and gifted mind, but who by severe illness was rendered deaf and dumb at the age of six years. Her father, by reading in a French medical pamphlet of the successful teaching of the deaf and dumb across the water, was inspired to see if something could not be done for such persons in this country. It was largely by his influence that Rev. Thomas Gallaudet visited Paris, gathered information, and brought back with him M. L. Clere, in 1816, by whose services the first asylum for the deaf and dumb was established in America, and Alice Cogswell was its first pupil.

Dr. Cogswell may be said to have been the originator of the Hartford Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb, as he was of the Hartford Retreat for Insane People. The former was founded in 1820, the latter in 1824. Dr. Cogswell was chosen, in 1812, the President of the Connecticut Medical Society, which office he held for ten years. He was not only a surgeon, but a scholar, poet, and Christian. He was an assiduous and successful cultivator of polite literature, especially poetry. He was the companion and compeer of Dr. Hopkins, Judge Trumbull, Dr. Strong, Mr. Theodore Dwight, and others. He was also a proficient in music.

Dr. Cogswell's last illness was of short duration, lasting only five days. The whole city of Hartford was moved by the event of his illness, and late at evening people stood in groups along the sidewalks to inquire in whispers of the physicians as they came from the house, "How is he?" His death was a great public loss as well as a private affliction. His daughter Alice sank under the bereavement, and herself died two weeks later. For notice of Mason F. Cogswell, M. D., vid. Lecture by Prof. Jonathan Knight, M. D., before Medical Class in Yale College, Nov. 2, 1833. Vid. WILLIAMS MEDICAL BIOGRAPHY, pp. 100-109.

Memoranda.

MARY A. LEDYARD, who became the wife of Dr. Mason Fitch Cogswell, was the daughter of Austin Ledyard, a half-brother of Col. William Ledyard, who after a brave and hopeless defence of Fort Griswold against superior numbers, was murderously slain by a British officer and his men massacred after he had surrendered his sword, Sept. 7, 1781. THE CENTENNIAL OF THE CAPTURE OF FORT GRISWOLD was observed Sept. 7, 1881, and Mr. Whittier was invited to furnish a poem for the occasion.

Mrs. Cogswell's grandparents were John and Mary Austin Ledyard. John Ledyard was from Bristol, England. He came to America in early life and first appears as a teacher of a Latin School in Southold, L. I. Vid. NEW YORK GENEALOGICAL BIOGRAPHICAL RECORDS, Vol. VII., 1876, p. 12.

An article in the New Englander for Jan., 1882, entitled Old Times in Connecticut, makes mention of an old diary of Dr. M. F. Cogswell, of a trip home to Thanksgiving, 1788. This was prior to the National Government, which was completed April 30, 1789.

Dr. Bacon, late of New Haven, received from A. R. Brock, Esq., of Richmond, Va., Secretary of the Virginia Historical Society, the relic, with this communication, viz.: "I enclose for your acceptance a soiled fragment of a diary found among the papers of a pious and beloved Presbyterian divine of Richmond, Rev. John D. Blair, who was born in Pennsylvania, Scotch-Irish descent, and who died in 1823. I know not the writer, but am assured by several circumstances that it was written between 1780-90, which indeed will be apparent to you by internal evidence on inspection. There may be something of local record in it to interest you." Says Dr. Bacon, "How this diary came into the possession of Dr. Blair, of Virginia, is a mystery, and how it escaped his waste-basket is no less a mystery."

On one occasion, when a young man, Mason F. Cogswell arrived home on Saturday evening to find his father unable to preach the next day, whereupon he took his father's place, much to the acceptance of the people of Scotland Parish, and that day there was in the audience a lad ten years old, named JAMES L. KINGSLEY.

Mrs. C. L. Sigourney, who has been called the "Mrs. Hemans of America," has beautifully embalmed the memory of ALICE COGSWELL in poetry. She prefaces her lines thus:

ALICE.

"A daughter of the late Dr. Mason F. Cogswell, of Hartford, Conn., who was deprived of the powers of hearing and speech, cherished so ardent an affection for her father that after his death she said in her strong language of gesture, 'her heart had so grown to his it could not be separated.' She was suddenly called in a few days to follow him, and from the abodes of bliss, where we trust she has obtained a mansion, may we not imagine her thus addressing the objects of her fondest earthly affection?"

*"Sisters, there's music here,
From countless harps it flows
Throughout this wide, celestial sphere,
Nor pause nor discord knows.
The seal is melted from my ear
By love divine,
And what through life I pined to hear,
Is mine! is mine!
The warbling of an ever-tuneful choir,
And the full, deep response of David's sacred lyre.
Did the kind earth hide from me
Her broken harmony,
That thus the melodies of Heaven might roll,
And overwhelm in deeper tides of bliss my rapt, my wondering soul?"*

EDWARD COGSWELL was a pioneer settler of Pennsylvania. He at first located in Slocum Hollow, now Scranton, then removed to Frenchtown, on the Susquehanna, and in 1808 he made a permanent settlement in Tuscarora, Bradford Co., in that part of the town now called Silvara. Mr. Cogswell, or "Uncle Ned," as he was familiarly called, was by trade a miller, but also carried on a farm. He was a man of devoted piety, always happy and rejoicing in the Lord. He would go twenty miles on foot to attend a Methodist Camp Meeting. On one occasion as he was on his way, some men at work on a building by the roadside, who thought to puzzle him by a question of experience, said, "How do you get along with the devil?" He quickly replied, "Oh, when I am in the valley, the old fellow overshoots me, and when I am on the mountain-top he cannot reach me, Glory to God!" and went on his way not at all disconcerted.

Biographical.

WILLIAM JOHNSON COGSWELL was educated in Yale College, but, in consequence of his father's death, left college before graduation. He studied law, and in 1835 settled in the practice of his profession in Jamaica, Queens Co., Long Island, N. Y., where he resided until 1874. In 1853 he transferred his office to Brooklyn, and continued in active practice there until 1875. He was County Judge and Surrogate of Queens Co., N. Y. As a churchman he was greatly interested in the erection of the Diocese of Long Island, and it was largely owing to his exertions among the parishes of Queens and Suffolk Counties that the undertaking was so speedily and successfully accomplished. He was a member of the first Standing Committee, and served in that capacity a number of years. He retired from his professional service, and was living, in 1884, at the age of eighty-four years, with his daughter, Mrs. William S. Canfield, whose residence was 97 East 116th Street, New York. Mrs. Cogswell was the daughter of a wealthy farmer of Salisbury, Conn.

Memoranda.

At the age of eighty-two years Mr. Cogswell wrote: "I held the office of County Judge and Surrogate of Queens County for a short term, and I have been dubbed Judge and Honorable for it ever since; but I never put much value on the titles. The Cogswells were, and still are, a self-reliant race, always filled with the idea that they were as good as anybody, and that everybody who respected themselves and behaved well were as good as they were, but no better, whether of high or low degree. They never played toady to men of high station to gain their favor or notice, but always acted upon the idea 'that worth makes the man, and the want of it the fellow.'"

George Eldon Cogswell [1169] was a soldier in the Union Army. He enlisted June, 1862, in the One Hundred Sixty-Fifth Regiment New York Second Duryea's Zouaves, was mustered into service Nov., 1862, and was First Sergeant of his company. DAVID CHESTER WHITTLESEY was Justice of the Peace, County Commissioner, and in 1832 and 1833 a member of the General Assembly of Connecticut. His character, and the respect in which he was held, are reflected in the following extract of an obituary which appeared Nov. 8, 1883, in THE CONGREGATIONALIST, of Boston, Mass.:

DAVID C. WHITTLESEY.

"On the morning of Oct. 13, David Chester Whittlesey, of Washington, Conn., was called to rest, aged eighty years. For many years Mr. Whittlesey has been one of the prominent men in Litchfield County, and his death deserves more than a passing notice. In the earthly career of this venerable man there are no materials for an exciting biography. But there is the power of a single, earnest, considerate life. It is a life that speaks to us by its sincerity and truthfulness. His strict honesty and accurate knowledge of men and affairs gave him a wide and favorable acquaintance in the State. As a student of men and business, he had, perhaps, few superiors. He was known as a man without guile. Anything like compromise with wrong, shrewd and unmanly tricks, instead of straightforward methods of accomplishing certain ends, were abhorrent to all the delicate sensibilities of his moral and spiritual being.

"His religious views were the result of much thought and careful inquiry. Whatever was good in him in spirit and act was the outcome of principle, not impulse. A deep, genuine, abiding principle controlled him. In all the relations of life he was faithful. He has left the record of an earnest Christian, a tender and loving husband and father, a faithful friend, a sympathizing and obliging neighbor. His memory lingers with precious fragrance in the hearts of the people with whom he lived, and especially in the hearts of his kindred. While he abode in the flesh he strove to walk with God, and now, 'he is not, for God took him.' Such a life is of great value to every church and community where it is lived, and such a death, in which there is no fear, is another demonstration, both of the value of religion, and of its efficacy in that hour which must soon come to us all."

Dr. Orlando Brown married Martha P. Whittlesey, and settled in Wrentham, Mass. He was appointed Assistant Surgeon of Twenty-ninth Massachusetts Regiment Volunteers in the Union Army, and transferred to the Freedmen's Bureau. After the war he settled in the practice of his profession in Washington, Conn., where, in 1883, he resided.

John E. Whittlesey, in 1883, was a merchant and postmaster in Houston, Tex.

CHARLES NORTHEND COGSWELL prepared for college in Berwick Academy, and graduated in 1814 from Bowdoin College, Maine.

“He became a student in the office of William A. Hayes, of South Berwick, and on being admitted to the bar in 1817 he entered into partnership with his teacher; and a most successful partnership it proved. Both members of the firm were possessed of high intellectual and moral gifts, were endowed with large capacity for affairs, and for many years more business was done in their office than in any other in the county. Mr. Cogswell, like Judge Hayes, enjoyed the confidence of the community, and was often selected to represent the town as well as the county in the Legislature.

“After an active and honorable course of life and practice he died very suddenly on the 11th of October, 1843, in the forty-seventh year of his age. Judge Goodenow, in reply to the application to place upon the records of the court the resolves of sympathy adopted by the Bar, paid the following tribute to him:

“HON. CHARLES NORTHEND COGSWELL.

“In a professional career of twenty-five years few, very few, have accomplished it so well. His talents for business were indeed extraordinary, and he was most diligent in the employment of them. His memory was retentive, and he was exceedingly accurate in all his transactions. In his office and the courts his whole demeanor was amiable and exemplary.” Vid. WILLIS’S HISTORY OF THE LAW, THE COURTS, AND THE LAWYERS OF MAINE.

Dr. Jonathan⁶ [289] and Elizabeth (Abbott) Cogswell, was bapt. Aug. 8, 1819, in Saco, Me. She married, Oct. 1, 1840, Hon. James Dixon, son of Hon. William Dixon. He was born Aug. 5, 1814, in Enfield, Conn. They resided in Hartford, Conn. Mrs. Dixon died June 16, 1871. Hon. James Dixon died March 27, 1873.

THEIR CHILDREN WERE:

Elizabeth Lord. Clementine Louise, m. Dr. James C. Welling.
James Wylles, m. — Stillwell. Henry Whitfield.

Biographical.

MRS. ELIZABETH L. DIXON was a lady of large fortune, rare attainments, and great personal attractions. It is said that Hon. Richard Spofford once remarked: "Mrs. Dixon was the most accomplished lady I have ever seen in Washington." Others have spoken of her as "a handsome, amiable, and accomplished woman of much natural power and ambition." To Mrs. Dixon's parties came the best people in Washington. Donald G. Mitchell dedicated to Mrs. Dixon his "REVERIES OF A BACHELOR."

HON. JAMES DIXON.

JAMES DIXON graduated from Williams College in 1834. He studied law with his father, and was admitted to the bar in 1835. He soon opened an office in Hartford, Conn. Mr. Dixon served in the Legislature of his native State as Representative in 1837, 1838, 1844, and 1854. He was elected to the House of Representatives in Congress in 1845, and re-elected in 1847. He was chosen to the United States Senate in 1856, and re-elected in 1862, serving two terms. Mr. Dixon was a man of much culture, a graceful writer, and able in debate. He was an editorial contributor to the Hartford Courant. Mr. Dixon left a large estate, estimated at nearly a million of dollars. By his death the people of Connecticut reasonably felt that they had lost a much needed adviser in State affairs, and a citizen who, long and often trusted with their public interests, was always true to his best belief. Hon. James Dixon was a man of kindly and genial nature. He was of a fine and sensitive temperament. His head and face made one of the finest studies ever seen in the Senate Chamber of the United States. He was the author of poems of much merit which were published in the New England Magazine, and in other journals.

Senator Dixon and his accomplished wife made their elegant homes, in Washington and in Hartford, inviting to men and women of literary culture and pursuits. They were noted for their many acts of Christian charity, and for the warm personal interest they manifested in the welfare of the churches of which they were members, both in Hartford and in Washington.

JAMES GRANT WILSON was of Scotch ancestry, who were both military and literary. Some of his ancestors were soldiers, and shared with Wellington the glories of Waterloo; while James Sibbald, a maternal ancestor, entertained Robert Burns when he made his first appearance in Edinburgh. Gen. Wilson's father, WILLIAM WILSON, was born in Perthshire, Scotland; came to America in 1832; established himself as a bookseller and publisher in Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; was favorably known as a writer of poetry and a contributor to various magazines. His poetical contributions have been gathered into a published volume, which received favorable mention in GOOD LITERATURE for July, 1881. He died Aug. 25, 1860.

GEN. JAMES GRANT WILSON inherited much of both the military and literary genius of his ancestors. His record during the War of the Union was sufficient to distinguish him as a soldier and give him eminence in military circles; while as a man of letters he achieved an eminence no less honorable in literary circles. It was said of him, "He fights as well as any man, and writes as well as he fights." Some of his more important works are MEMOIRS OF ILLUSTRIOUS SOLDIERS; THE LIFE AND CAMPAIGNS OF GEN. U. S. GRANT; THE LIFE OF FITZ GREEN HALLECK; MEMOIR OF WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT; and THE POETS AND POETRY OF SCOTLAND. Vid. BATEMAN'S AMERICAN BIOGRAPHIES.

SETH COGSWELL learned the shoemaker's trade. When about twenty-one years old he became deeply interested in religion, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, of Lunenburg, Mass. Mr. Cogswell became a lay preacher, and while carrying on his farm during the week, often preached on the Sabbath. It is said of him: "He possessed in a large degree the peculiarities of the Cogswell race. He had ideas and opinions of his own, to which he tenaciously held, and was never afraid to express them." Mr. Cogswell had a great interest in all religious topics, and was an earnest advocate of Gospel truths. At the close of life he could adopt these words: "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith. Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness which the Lord, the righteous Judge, shall give me in that day, and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing."

Biographical.

AARON COGSWELL was educated at Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass. He commenced teaching on Hog Island, in Essex, at the age of sixteen. In 1827 he was appointed the Master of the Ipswich High Street School. Mr. Cogswell for a period of thirty years taught in the various schools of Ipswich. He retired in 1857, and devoted himself to farming and public business. He was much employed in practical surveying, in examining titles and settling estates, his knowledge, fidelity, and judgment being much respected. He served on the School Committee of the town for some twenty years, and was frequently chosen to fill the offices of Selectman, Assessor, and Overseer. He was for some years Chairman of the Feoffees of the Grammar School, a Trustee of the Burley Education Fund, and of the Brown School Fund. In 1877 he was elected by the Fifteenth Essex Representative District a member of the State Legislature, in which body his abilities were recognized by his being placed on the Committee of County Estimates. Mr. Cogswell early connected himself with the church of the First Parish, and was a strong and consistent member, adopting the Golden Rule in his daily life. In 1866 he was chosen a Deacon, which office he filled to the end of his life.

Mr. Cogswell was thrown into close contact with a great many people. Thirty years of service as a teacher in the different schools of the town brought a large number of persons under his influence. He was progressive, kept pace with the times, recognized the march of events, and was imbued with the spirit of the age. He did not cling to old-time theories, but admitted the changes going on, and was quick to see the wants of the community. The following is an extract from a published notice of his death: "The memory of 'Master Cogswell' will be fragrant in the minds and affections of his townsmen for many years to come. His influence for the good and lasting welfare of the community will survive long after the last of his generation shall have passed away."

Biographical.

EPHRAIM ORCUTT JAMESON was of Scotch-Irish descent and of the fourth generation in this country. Hugh and Thomas Jameson were first to land here.

HUGH¹ JAMESON, son of James Jameson, came from the North of Ireland to America about 1740, settled in Londonderry, N. H., and became one of the original proprietors of Starkstown, afterwards Dunbarton, N. H.

Daniel² Jameson, Esq., Mr. Jameson's grandfather, married Hannah Burnham, daughter of Dea. Abraham Burnham, whose sister, Sarah Burnham, married Capt. Adam Cogswell [169]. Mr. Jameson prepared for college in Gilmanton Academy, N. H., graduated in 1855 from Dartmouth College, N. H., and in 1858 from the Theological Seminary in Andover, Mass. He was ordained to the Gospel ministry March 1, 1860, and installed Pastor of the East Congregational Church, in Concord, N. H. He resigned, and was installed, Nov. 9, 1865, Pastor of the Union Evangelical Church, Salisbury, Mass. This pastorate he resigned July 1, 1871, and was installed, Nov. 15, 1871, Pastor of the First Church of Christ, in Medway, Mass., of which he was still Pastor in 1884.

Mr. Jameson was a member of the New England Historic, Genealogical Society, of Boston, Mass. Some of his published writings were: A Historical Discourse of the First Church of Christ, Medway, Mass., 1876; A Memorial of Rev. William Cogswell, D. D., 1880; A Historical Sketch of Medway, Mass., 1884; The Cogswells in America, 1884. In 1883, he was appointed the Editor of The History of Medway, Mass. Vid. HISTORY OF DUNBARTON, N. H.

ARTHUR ORCUTT JAMESON, A. B.

ARTHUR ORCUTT JAMESON, son of Rev. and Mrs Jameson, was born in Concord, N. H. He pursued his studies in the public schools until fourteen years of age. In the autumn of 1873, he entered the Roxbury Latin School in preparation for college. He completed the course in four years, and graduated in 1877, holding the first rank in his class. Always a thoughtful and conscientious boy, at the age of sixteen years he recognized by his own public act the consecration which his parents had made of him to the Lord in infancy, and Nov. 7, 1875, united with the First Church of Christ in Medway, Mass. His character and life as a Christian, combined with fine scholarship and great modesty of manner, won respect and made his influence commanding. He was admitted in 1877 to Harvard College. On his entrance examination he received honors in Latin, Greek, and Mathematics, and commenced his college course, Sept. 27, 1877. At the end of the first year he was accounted highest in rank and awarded the first Detur. At the close of his college course he received "Summos Honores in Linguis Antiquis," and graduated the first scholar in the class, June 29, 1881. Soon after graduation he received the appointment of Teacher of Classics and Mathematics in the ARNOLD SCHOOL, New York City. But when about to assume this position, after a brief illness, he was called to a higher service. He died at the age of twenty-one years, Sept. 30, 1881. His burial took place in Blossom Hill Cemetery of his native city, Concord, N. H. His last resting place is a lovely spot, overlooking the place of his birth, the church of his childhood, and the waters of the Merrimac, upon whose banks much of his boyhood was spent.

The sad throbbings of a mother's heart upon the death of her eldest child and only surviving son find expression in the lines of the sweet poet, FABER :

- "BUT THE ELDEST! O Father! how glorious he was,
 With the soul looking out through his fountain-like eyes:
 Thou lovest Thy Sole-born! And had I not cause,
 The treasure Thou gavest me, Father! to prize?"
- "Thou hast honored my child by the speed of Thy choice,
 Thou hast crowned him with glory, o'erwhelmed him with mirth:
 He sings up in heaven with his sweet-sounding voice,
 While I, a saint's mother, am weeping on earth."
- "Yet oh for that voice, which is thrilling through heaven,
 One moment my ears with its music to stake!
 Oh no! not for worlds would I have him regiven,
 Yet I long to have back what I would not retake."
- "Go, go with thy God, with thy Saviour, my child!
 Thou art His: I am His: and thy sisters are His:
 But to-day thy fond mother with sorrow is wild!
 To think that her son is an angel in bliss!"
- "Oh forgive me, dear Saviour! on heaven's bright shore
 Should I still in my child find a separate joy:
 While I lie in the light of Thy face evermore,
 May I think heaven brighter because of my boy?"

The following is an extract from remarks made at the funeral service by Rev. R. K. Harlow, of Medway, Mass. :

“And now at this interruption of his earthly life we reverently pause and ask, What virtues has it made emphatic? What lessons has it taught us?

“Most conspicuous among his virtues we would mention his faithfulness; duty was his king. And next we mention modesty, that made him win and wear his honors with consummate grace: and then a native kindliness that made his friendships deep and tender, and filled his soul with charity, ‘that thinketh no evil.’ And then purity of thought and deed, that stamped its credentials on his clear, honest face, and over all an unobtrusive piety, that graced and softened his whole being. He has taught us all how to put value into our living and hope into our death.

“He has taught these college friends especially that it is possible to live amongst temptation and conquer it. He has emphasized the fact that scholarship and politeness suit well together, and that culture and piety have no antagonisms. He has refuted the too commonly accepted college opinion, that religion and stupidity are boon companions, by coupling the most brilliant scholarship with a sincere piety. Is not this a most worthy record? Has not his life done something for the world?

“And so with these comforting memories of his life we carry our thoughts beyond this sad and strange present into the future.

“We believe that our dear young friend has entered into God’s rest; his life of purity and conscientiousness and fidelity and consecration, his thorough goodness in all the relations of life, leave us no room for doubt that the gates of the city of God were glad to open for his incoming, and that the Master whom he served gave him a hearty welcome, ‘Enter thou into the joy of thy Lord.’”

From the numerous letters of sympathy received by the afflicted family, the following was from Rev. George A. Gordon, then of Greenwich, Conn., afterwards called to the pastorate of the Old South Church, Boston, Mass. :

 GREENWICH, Oct. 8, 1881.

“MR. AND MRS. JAMESON :

“Dear afflicted, though unknown Friends,—I have just learned with deep sorrow of the death of my admired and much respected classmate, ARTHUR ORCUTT JAMESON. I am so much pained and shocked by the sad news that I cannot forbear offering you my sincere and sorrowful sympathy in your great grief. Mr. Jameson and myself had in part the same elective studies for two years, and from what I saw of him, in the classroom and elsewhere, I had acquired a profound admiration for his scholarship, and an affectionate appreciation of his elevated and manly character. I was always deeply interested in him, and so knew him much better than he knew me. His memory is and will be to me a constant inspiration in thought, principle, character, and devotion. In accuracy and comprehensiveness of intellect, and in rational power of acquisition, I never knew his superior, scarcely his equal. At this moment, as I think of his massive and serene face, now still in death, I am burdened with a personal sorrow, and cannot but feel ‘How is the strong staff broken, and the beautiful rod.’

“Yours, with great respect and true sympathy,

“GEO. A. GORDON.”

Biographical.

HENRY HEZEKIAH COGSWELL was born on the 12th of April, 1776, in Cornwallis, Kings Co., N. S. He had the advantage of being able to complete his education at the University of King's College, Windsor. This institution, founded by a provincial grant in 1788, and endowed in 1802 by George III. with a Royal Charter, is stated in its yearly calendar to be the first British University established in the Dominion. Its patron is the Archbishop of Canterbury, but it is open to students of all denominations, and imposes no religious test in any faculty, with the exception of Divinity. The name of the Cogswell family appears on its list of members for three generations.

While at the university, Mr. Cogswell received much encouragement, always afterwards gratefully acknowledged, from Professor the Rev. William Cochran, D. D., a graduate of Trinity College, Dublin, with whom he formed a personal friendship which lasted during their lives, and was continued in the lives of their children.

From college Mr. Cogswell proceeded to Halifax, and studied law under two leading practitioners in succession. He was offered a commission in the army by the Duke of Kent, then commander of the Royal forces in Nova Scotia, but respectfully declined, and in due course was admitted to the Bar, Oct. 10, 1798. For a few years he was associated in business with Hon. Richard J. Uniacke, in whose office he had studied his profession, and who from 1795 to 1807 was Attorney-General for Nova Scotia.

Upon the favorable suggestion of Hon. Sampson S. Blowers, Chief Justice of Nova Scotia, Mr. Cogswell was appointed, Jan. 18, 1812, Deputy Provincial Secretary for the Province of Nova Scotia. During the American War of 1812-1814, money flowed freely through the Halifax law courts, and he improved the opportunity to lay the foundation of a fortune which in process of time accumulated to large proportions. In this he was not altogether singular, though many, as usual on such occasions, acted as if they imagined the golden stream was going to flow on forever. Some years later it occurred to him that there was a want of a joint stock bank in Halifax, the banking business having been thus far conducted without concert by private individuals.

THE HON. WALTER C. BROWN

In 1825, at his persuasion, seven noted capitalists were induced to join him in founding the Halifax Banking Company, among the partners being SAMUEL CUNARD, a large ship-owner, and the future mail contractor of world-wide celebrity. The others were John Clark, Joseph Allison, William Pryor, James Tobin, Enos Collins, and Martin Gay Black. How the enterprise fared was long a mystery to the public, but at length the truth got abroad that the profits partook of the "fabulous," and as a consequence "the old bank" has now many flourishing rivals. Mr. Cogswell was chosen the first President, and that office he continued to hold until his death in 1854.

We find it recorded in Murdoch, that in 1818 Mr. Cogswell was returned at the head of the poll as member for Halifax, and escaped the usual honor of a chairing by pleading as an excuse the recent loss of a child, apparently John, the third son, who died at an early age. In 1824 he was appointed Registrar in the Court of Chancery, which position he held until 1829. The next step in promotion was his elevation to the rare and coveted honor of a seat in the Legislative Council in 1831. It was during his connection with that body that a long-continued agitation against its constitution proved finally successful.

Mr. Cogswell continued to take a warm interest in objects of public utility, and in particular was a prominent supporter of the scheme for constructing a railroad from Halifax to Quebec. This great work, now long accomplished, was for many years regarded as all but hopeless, on account of the financial difficulties in the way. In thinking over these it occurred to him that if the Provinces were deficient in money, they possessed the reality of wealth in the shape of vast tracts of ungranted land, and he proposed that five millions of acres along the intended line should be appropriated as security for a loan. This plan immediately took a strong hold on the public mind, but it conflicted with rival schemes, and no progress was made with the railroad until after the confederation of the Provinces, when it was completed out of the general revenue. But the idea survived, and has been since applied on the largest scale in the continuation of the line to the Pacific. His views were published in a pamphlet in 1852.

Mr. Cogswell died Nov. 9, 1854, in his family mansion on Argyle Street, Halifax, N. S., at the age of seventy-eight. He had been long in failing health, having suffered much affliction from the loss of his wife and several of his children. As his end approached he expressed a hope that he might be spared the trial of a protracted illness, and his desire was granted. His remains were interred in the family enclosure at the CAMP HILL CEMETERY, the site being marked by a monument of native granite sculptured with the emblematic scallop shells.

MRS. ISABELLA (ELLIS) COGSWELL was the daughter of Rev. William Ellis, Rector of Windsor, N. S. This gentleman's history is one of those romances in real life of which the annals of colonization afford so many examples. He was the son of a Master in Chancery in Ireland, and taking some offence at the division of the paternal estate among the heirs, gave up everything, and resolved on emigrating as a missionary to Nova Scotia. He was ordained Deacon and Priest by the Bishop of London in 1774, and crossed the Atlantic with his wife, leaving children behind them. His daughter Isabella was born at Windsor, the only child of the new home. She never saw brother or sister. That Mr. Ellis had been a man of some good settled position in Ireland would appear from the personal effects he and his wife brought with them, some of which are still preserved as heirlooms, including rich brocade dresses, and articles of plate and jewelry engraved with a "Dolphin" crest. Of curious interest are a lock of hair, and a gold ring with the two sides sliding on each other, and so contrived that when they are brought together the mounting represents a "hand in hand." They were merely wrapped in a paper with the writing on it: "Flora Macdonald's hair and ring." How they came into the possession of the family is unknown, but Isabella Ellis used to speak of the ring as one of several given by Charles Edward to Flora Macdonald for distribution among his adherents.

Nine children were the offspring of the marriage, of whom three died in childhood. Six reached maturity, and only one was living in 1884, CHARLES COGSWELL, M. D. [1539], of London. Of those who grew up to adult estate, some were well known to a public that may possibly turn with peculiar interest to this part of the volume for the sake of old memories.

HENRY ELLIS COGSWELL was born in 1806, and at the proper age was sent to the Halifax Grammar School, then, or soon after, presided over by the Rev. Dr. Twining, whose labors in another field as Garrison Chaplain are commemorated in the memoir of Headley Vicars. When duly prepared he matriculated at King's College, where he was an ardent and successful student. But his lot was cast in the pre-sanitary days of "all work and no play," and his health had early begun to suffer from over-devotion to brain work. After taking his degree, he studied law in his father's office, but was cut off in his twenty-second year, before completing his term for admission to the bar. "A YOUTH OF GREAT PROMISE." Such is his brief epitaph, written on the last page of Murdoch's history of Nova Scotia.

ISABELLA BINNEY COGSWELL. The name of this lady was for many years a household word in Halifax. Her noble life may be regarded as one of the blessed results of her brother William's ministry, and as one of the most remarkable examples of the Evangelical revival. The Lord Bishop of the Diocese, after her death quoted the following words of Christ as applicable to her in every respect: "I was an hungered, and ye gave me meat; I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink; I was a stranger, and ye took me in; naked, and ye clothed me; I was sick, and ye visited me; I was in prison, and ye came unto me." To the hungry and thirsty she gave food and drink; to the worn with toil, or enfeebled by age, or saddened with affliction, or straitened in circumstances, she gave sympathy and relief. She visited the prison to counsel, to pray with, to befriend, the depraved and the criminal. Her constant attendance on the sick and dying prematurely exhausted her strength, and after fourteen nights spent in nursing a friend's family, she was in the grasp of a dangerous illness. Prayers were offered for her recovery by every religious denomination in Halifax, but it pleased God to end the life of his faithful servant, and she was laid to rest amid the grief of the entire community. She had borne a chief part in founding the ORPHANS' HOME, the BOYS' INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL, the GIRLS' INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL, and the HOME FOR THE AGED. In her will it was found she had made a provision towards their maintenance after her decease. A memorial font has been placed in the church once gladdened with her presence and worship. On the base of this memorial font is this inscription :

"Erected by the people of this place in memory of the late
MISS I. B. COGSWELL, who for many years took an active interest in their spiritual welfare."

Mary Rebecca, b. June 20, 1827. She died in infancy, Aug. 28, 1827.

Biographical.

MRS. ANNE (COGSWELL) MORTON in person was medium size. She had clear blue eyes, a broad but rather low forehead, which are characteristic features of the descendants of her father, Mason Cogswell. She was a discreet, witty, and a fine-looking lady. Some one said of her, "I know of no woman who so nearly comes up to the standard of Solomon's description, 'She looketh well to the ways of her household.'" There were few specimens of useful or fancy work then known in which she did not instruct her daughters. She enjoyed with them, and encouraged their reading of sound literary and religious books, and gave them an example which they could never forget. Her memory is blessed.

HON. JOHN MORTON.

HON. JOHN MORTON, who married Anne Cogswell, descended from an English family, whose ancient homestead, dating 1300, was near Blackburn, England. His earliest ancestor in this country was George Morton, who came over in 1623 in the ship "Anne."

Mr. Morton's father, Lemuel Morton, was born Jan. 20, 1754, and died in 1810. His mother, Martha Newcomb, was born Oct. 12, 1760, and was the first female child born among the colonists after their settlement in Nova Scotia. She died Feb. 11, 1838. He was of excellent parentage, and had good religious instruction. In early manhood he gave attention to agriculture, and for several years had the oversight of his grandfather's farm; subsequently, he purchased a tract of uncleared land, and with woodman's axe and manly perseverance he laid low the primeval forests and brought under cultivation many wide acres near the head waters of the Cornwallis River, not far from the present town of Berwick, N. S.; afterwards, he sold his new-made farm in the wilderness, and in 1815 built a new house near where his grandfather had lived.

Mr. Morton joined the local militia in 1810, with the commission of Captain. He gradually rose in command, until in 1835 he was appointed Lieutenant-Colonel of the Sixth Regiment. In 1827 he was chosen to represent Cornwallis in the Provincial Parliament in Halifax. He was appointed by the Provincial Government, in 1835, Justice of the Peace for Kings Co., and accepted the office of Commissioner of Sewers and Dykes. In 1840 he was appointed by Her Majesty the Queen to the Legislative Council of the Province of Nova Scotia.

The warrant was given in the following quaint form :

"To our right trusty and well-beloved Councillor Charles Poulett Thomson, our Captain General and Governor in Chief in and over our Province of Nova Scotia, or in his absence to our Lieut. Governor, or the officer administering the affairs of our said Province for the time being."
 "VICTORIA REG."

"Right trusty and well-beloved councillor, we greet you well. We, being well satisfied of the loyalty, integrity, and ability of our trusty and well beloved John Morton, Esquire, have thought hereby to signify our will and pleasure: that forthwith upon the receipt of these presents you swear and admit him, the said John Morton, to be of our Legislative Council of our Province of Nova Scotia, and for so doing this shall be your warrant. Given at our Court at Buckingham Palace, this 23d day of May, 1840, in the third year of our reign.

"By her Majesty's command.

(Signed) "J. RUSSELL."

"John Morton, Esquire, to be of the Legislative Council, Nova Scotia."

In 1846, he was commissioned by Lord Falkland, then Lieutenant-Governor at Halifax, as Keeper of the Rolls, for his native township. He was an influential owner and director of the Western Stage Coach, the Cornwallis Bridge, and the Electric Telegraph Companies. In all these varied services of public office he was characterized as most genial, manly, and faithful. He enjoyed the public confidence, and was popular and well supported by the good opinions and votes of those among whom he was called to exercise authority. His rule was not to dispute with political opponents, and the opponent of to-day became his warm supporter by the to-morrow.

As a member of legislative bodies, his discussions of public topics were able and persuasive. While in attendance on Legislative Session in Halifax, he suffered from inflammation of the lungs, and died March 3, 1858, at the residence of his son.

Monumental Tablets in the Cemetery of the First Presbyterian Church, Cornwallis, tell the place of Hon. John and Mrs. Anne Morton's sepulture.

"DE MORTUIS NIL NISI BONUM."

Memoranda.

Hon. John Morton gave name to that part of Cornwallis in which he lived. He called it "The Upper Dyke Village," in allusion to the first dyke erected by the French. The name still remains to designate the gathered dwellings visible in all directions from the site of the original home-stead of Hezekiah Cogswell [193], the grandfather of Mrs. Morton.

George E. Morton, Esq., son of Hon. John and Mrs. Anne (Cogswell) Morton, married the eldest daughter of Lieut. Christian C. and Martha (Prescott) Katzman. Lieut. Katzman was of the Sixtieth Regiment. Mrs. Morton was of New England descent, daughter of John Prescott, of Maroon Hall, Preston, N. S. Mr. Morton was a publisher, and engaged in literary pursuits. He published "The Provincial Magazine," "Guide to Halifax," "Guide to Cape Breton, with Maps, etc." Their children were: Anne, b. Dec. 13, 1850, d. March 29, 1855; Charles Cogswell, b. Aug. 14, 1852. He resided in Halifax, N. S., and was a bookseller.

Isabel Ellis Morton married REV. WILLIAM THOMAS WISHART. He was born June 9, 1800, in Edinburgh, Scotland. His father was a lawyer. Rev. Mr. Wishart was educated in the High School and the University of Edinburgh, Scotland. Having completed his studies he travelled widely in other countries. He arrived in Nova Scotia in 1839, and was married to Miss Morton in the autumn of the same year, having previously become the Pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Shelburne, N. S. After two years of faithful ministration he was called and settled as Pastor of the St. Stephen's Church, in St. John, N. B. At the end of five years his studies and investigations had brought about some change in his theological views and in his interpretation of certain passages of the Scriptures, which differed from the church to which he belonged. These church standards rendered his separation from it imperative, which was accordingly effected, although unwillingly, as was evident on both sides. A large part of his congregation, placing a high value on his teachings and being in sympathy with his views, immediately provided a place of meeting in the Mechanics' Institute, where he continued his services until his death, having the hearty support of a large and intelligent congregation. Mr. Wishart died Jan. 12, 1853. He left no children. Mrs. Wishart subsequently resided at Briarwold, Cornwallis, N. S. In 1846, at the request of many of his parishioners and friends, Rev. Mr. Wishart published a volume giving his theological views somewhat in detail. This book was entitled "Theological Essays." Shortly after his lamented death there was issued a volume embracing six lectures, which he had prepared to deliver to his people. This was published in 1853, and was called "Lectures on Theology." He also published a critical essay entitled "The Literature of the Nineteenth Century," which was well received.

Lydia Morton, who married Edward L. Lydiard, Esq., died, leaving five sons and one daughter. The daughter soon after also died.

Martha Ann Morton married John E. Forsyth, M. D. They had three sons and two daughters. Dr. Forsyth died June 27, 1872.

Lemuel James Morton, Esq., was a Director of Halifax Banking Company, having retired from his business as a Druggist.

Maroon Hall, Preston, N. S., the residence of Lieut. Christian C. Katzman, on his retirement from the army, was formerly the residence of the Superintendent of the Maroons.

The Maroons were originally African slaves located in the highlands of Jamaica. In 1796 they were brought to Halifax with the idea that they would be useful laborers, but they proved stubborn and lazy, so that it became necessary to remove them, and they were sent by Government vessels to Africa in 1800. They are no longer found here, or in Jamaica, and not heard of even in Africa.

COL. SAMUEL SPARKS FISHER.

SAMUEL SPARKS FISHER was the eldest child of Dr. James C. and Eliza Smith (Sparks) Fisher. He was born in Centreville, Mich., but his childhood was spent in New York City, his father being Professor of Chemistry in the University of New York. His school life was passed in Philadelphia. He graduated in 1851 from the High School of that city at the head of his class. After teaching a year or two, Mr. Fisher studied law in Cincinnati, Ohio, where he was admitted to the bar and commenced practice about 1856. He made Patent Law a specialty, and won eminence. Judge Blatchford, of New York, once remarked in open court that Mr. Fisher was "the best Patent lawyer in the United States." Mr. Fisher served in the Union Army as Colonel of the One Hundred and Thirty-eighth Regiment of Ohio National Guards. Under President Grant he was Commissioner of Patents. When his term of service expired he returned to his law practice in Cincinnati, which became large and lucrative. In 1872 he formed a partnership with Gen. Samuel A. Duncan, and they had a branch office in New York City under Gen. Duncan's charge. Early in his professional life Mr. Fisher had entered upon a Christian life. He united with the Second Presbyterian Church of Cincinnati in 1856, his uncle, Rev. Samuel W. Fisher, D. D., being the pastor. He was for many years active in a Mission Sabbath School called the "Olivet Mission," in the western part of Cincinnati, and an earnest worker in the church and in the cause of temperance.

Mr. Fisher married Aurelia S. Crossette, daughter of Rev. Robert and Dorothea Crossette. She was born in Dennysville, Me. They had three children: Edith Aurelia, b. Jan. 20, 1862; Robert James, b. Oct. 16, 1863, d. Aug. 14, 1874; Samuel Herbert, b. May 26, 1867. The circumstances of Col. Fisher's death and that of his little son were most touching. He and his little boy, Robbie, during the summer vacation, were making a boat excursion down the Susquehanna River, and at a point called Conewago Falls, about fifteen miles below Harrisburg, they lost control of their boat in the rapids, were carried over the falls and both drowned, Aug. 14, 1874. And thus ended the life of a most brilliant and useful man in the midst of his days. Id. IN MEMORIAM SAMUEL S. FISHER.

*"Afar down the beautiful river,
Together went father and son;
Day by day speeding joyously onward,
Till nearly their journey was done.*

*"And later, a boat, bruised and broken,
Lay empty and wrecked near the shore.
Too truly the sad story telling,
That father and son were no more."*

REV. DR. SAMUEL WARE FISHER, LL. D.

SAMUEL WARE FISHER, the youngest son of Rev. Dr. Samuel and Alice (Cogswell) Fisher, was born in Morristown, N. J. He graduated in 1835 from Yale College, and in 1839 from Union Theological Seminary, New York. He was installed, April 18, 1839, Pastor of the Presbyterian Church in West Bloomfield, N. J. After a useful ministry of four years, he was settled, Oct. 13, 1874, in Albany, N. Y., over the Fourth Presbyterian Church in that city; and in 1847 he became the Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Cincinnati, Ohio, as the successor of Rev. Dr. Lyman Beecher. Ten years later, July 6, 1858, Rev. Dr. Fisher was elected the President of Hamilton College, New York. He continued in the office about ten years, and then returned to the work of the Gospel ministry. He was settled in Utica, Nov. 15, 1867, but resigned Jan. 13, 1871. Three years later he died, Jan. 18, 1874. Rev. Dr. Fisher was twice married. There were no children of the first marriage. He married for his second wife the daughter of Peter Jackson. She was born June 14, 1815. Of the second marriage there were eight children: William Hubbell, b. Nov. 26, 1843, m. Sept. 10, 1873, Mary L. Lyon; George Wood, b. July 17, 1845; Samuel Jackson, b. Cornelia Kirkland, b. Feb. 21, 1827; m. May 1, 1845, Parker Handy, Esq.

Biographical.

“MARIA COGSWELL was the only daughter of Samuel and Mary (Backus) Cogswell. Her father was a merchant, residing in the town of Lansingburg, Rensselaer Co., N. Y. While yet an infant, having seen scarcely more than a week of life, a terrible tragedy, the result of what we call accident, but which was purely a mysterious and inscrutable Providence, the unintentional discharge of a loaded gun, in the hand of an intimate and valued friend, in a moment bereaved Maria of a loving father, and prematurely made her mother a deeply afflicted widow. The suddenness of the blow, under the trying circumstances in which it occurred, almost bereft the young mother of reason. But the force of a nature of singular strength and fortitude, and sustained by the power of an unquestioning faith in the goodness of a covenant-keeping God, carried her through the trying ordeal. After two years, the hand of the widow was sought and won by an early lover, REV. EBENEZER FITCH, the first President of Williams College. He became to Maria a most tender and loving parent, supplying as far as it was possible by gentle ministrations and assiduous culture and instructions, the place of her natural father. Under such care and cultivation, Maria developed not only a singularly graceful and beautiful person, but a graceful and vigorous intellect, choosing instinctively the most instructive as well as the most elevating and inspiring authors of the day, and drawing not from the too often shallow fountains, which distinguish much of the literature of our times, but from the standard English classics, who themselves drew from the deeper, purer wells of English undefiled.' Under such influences she grew up to early girlhood, loving all things beautiful and bright, and entering with eager zest upon the somewhat larger life which was opened to her, when at the age of seventeen or eighteen, she made a visit to her mother's sister, Mrs. Gen. Joseph Kirkland, of Utica, N. Y., who then and during her life formed a bright and attractive feature of the social and religious circles of Central New York.

"Miss Cogswell was now in the first blush and freshness of early womanhood. Most attractive in person and in mind, she speedily drew around her, by the fascination of her manner and the brilliancy of her wit, a host of ardent, admiring friends, who were ready to avow their sentiments of knightly devotion or more sober regard. After rejecting many alluring, and in a worldly sense, most advantageous offers of marriage, her young affections at length centred upon one well worthy of her love, and at the age of twenty she was affianced to Major Douglas W. Sloane, of Williamstown, Mass. He came of good lineage, being the only son of Gen. Samuel Sloane of Revolutionary stock, and the owner of a large and valuable real estate in that region and the neighboring town. For his son, he built at Williamstown, on a beautiful site, opposite the college edifices, what for that day, and indeed now, is a large and noble mansion. On its completion Douglas Sloane, with his youthful bride, took possession of this house. There they spent many happy years in easy competence, and all of their eight children were born and reared in a model New England home, under all the desirable and blessed influences which such a home imparts. In 1834 they left Williamstown, and removed to Cleveland, Ohio. From the first, Mrs. Sloane took a high position in the social and religious life of that then young city. She entered with characteristic zeal and enthusiasm into every good work and benevolent enterprise, originating the Maternal Association, the effort to rescue and raise the fallen in the Magdalen Association, and co-operating cheerfully and most helpfully in every organized effort to instruct the ignorant, help the poor and depressed, and elevate the standard of social and religious life. With warm sympathies, she was singularly independent and outspoken in her opinions, and unyielding in her views of what she esteemed to be right and in accord with Christian duty and principle. During her residence in Cleveland she passed through deep domestic afflictions. Death invaded the devoted family circle, and four lovely and gifted daughters and her only son, a noble, promising young man of twenty years, were one after the other taken from her. Bereavement and sorrow culminated in the death of her husband. She bore up under it all, with the most heroic fortitude, and was ever ready to say, 'The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away: blessed be the name of the Lord.' After her husband's death she divided her time between her two remaining daughters. She died on the 9th of Jan., 1870, in the city of New York, at the age of seventy-eight. She departed after a brief illness, in great peace and quietness, after a life of many vicissitudes, but of eminent usefulness, all life's duties and responsibilities courageously, nobly, and trustfully met, in the assured hope of a blessed immortality. She lives still even here in her many works of benevolence, piety, and love, and in the unfading memories of her surviving children and the friends that knew and loved her."

*"So fades a summer cloud away,
So sinks the gale when storms are o'er,
So gently shuts the eye of day,
So dies the wave along the shore."*

HON. DOUGLAS WHEELER SLOANE.

"Douglas W. Sloane graduated in 1803, from Williams College, Mass., and studied law for three years in the Litchfield Law School. He was remarkable for his tall, elegant person and courtly manners. His sense of honor and of integrity was high and undeviating. Besides the practice of law, Mr. Sloane was appointed by the United States Government, Receiver of Moneys. This office he held at the time of his death. His religious life was pure and constant. He died trusting and rejoicing in 'Him in whom he believed.'"

"CORTLANDT VAN RENSSELAER was born May 26, 1808. He was the third son of Hon. Stephen Van Rensselaer, LL. D. His mother was the daughter of Chief Justice Paterson, of New Jersey. He was graduated, in 1827, at Yale College, studied law with Abraham Van Vechten, Esq., of Albany, and was admitted to the Bar, July 16, 1830. Afterwards he studied theology at Princeton, N. J., and at the Union Seminary, Prince Edward Co., Va., and spent two years preaching to the slaves in Virginia. On the 7th of July, 1836, he assisted in the organization of the Presbyterian Church, of Burlington, N. J., which he served as its first Pastor for four years. He preached in Washington, D. C., during 1841 and 1842, and in 1844 he undertook to raise an endowment fund for the Theological Seminary at Princeton, N. J. As the result of his arduous labors through almost every section of the country, he was able to put into the hands of its trustees the sum of $100,000. In April, 1846, he accepted the position of Corresponding Secretary of the Board of Education of the Presbyterian Church, a post he held until his death, and to the work of which he gave, with tireless industry, the best years of his busy life, and the maturity of his disciplined powers, regarding all that went before as but the preparation for its sacred responsibilities. He died July 24, 1860, in his own home on Green Bank, Burlington, N. J., after a singularly busy life, in which he won the confidence and affection of the whole church to a very unusual degree. A volume of his 'Essays and Discourses, Historical and Practical,' was published in 1861."

Biographical.

SILAS MATTESON was one of the first settlers of Oneida Co., N. Y. He erected a saw-mill in Rome and another in Verona and manufactured lumber, also carried on a farm. Hannah Cogswell in early life taught school in Rome, N. Y., and made her home with an older sister, Mrs. Brown. She married Mr. Matteson when about twenty years of age. They had eleven children. The oldest of these became the HON. O. B. MATTESON, of Utica, N. Y.

HON. ORASMUS B. MATTESON.

ORASMUS BENAJAH MATTESON received his education in the public schools of his native town. He was a student of law in the office of Hon. Samuel Beardsley, Esq., Member of Congress, and was admitted to the practice of law in the various courts of the State about 1830. He was elected Attorney for the city of Utica in 1832, at its organization of a city government, and filled this position for six years. He was elected Representative to the Thirty-first Congress from the Twentieth District of New York, Nov. 7, 1848. He represented the same District in the Thirty-third, Thirty-fourth, and Thirty-fifth Congresses, and while a member of the House was placed on important committees. Jan. 11, 1851, he delivered his first speech in Congress in favor of the Cheap Postage Bill, which passed with some slight modifications. Aug. 7, 1856, he delivered a speech upon The Presidential Question and Kansas Affairs. On his return from Washington his constituents invited him to a Public Reception in recognition of noble service to "Free speech, Free soil, and Free men." But this he declined. He was nominated for Mayor of the city, but did not wish the office. Hon. Wm. H. Seward, who was his intimate friend, on hearing of this wrote to Mr. Matteson under date of March 9, 1865: "The people of Utica were wise in nominating you, and you even wiser in declining. I congratulate you." When Mr. Matteson was first nominated for Congress the Democratic party had 1,400 majority in his district. When he retired from the office the Republicans had a majority of 3,500 votes. At the semi-centennial celebration of the city of Utica, March 1, 1882, Hon. O. B. Matteson was the only survivor of the original city officials of 1832.

O. B. Muttler, Jr.

Memoranda.

HON. O. B. MATTESON had two children: Henry Clay, b. April 8, 1831, m. Dec. 31, 1851, Eliza S. Tallman, d. Feb. 7, 1878; Mary Hurlburt, b. Aug. 1, 1838, m. Dec. 24, 1862, George Pomeroy.

Henry Clay Matteson graduated from Union College. When the Rebellion broke out he entered the Union Army. On one occasion he received from Secretary Stanton three brevets in one day for meritorious service. He died Feb. 7, 1878, leaving one child: Augusta, b. May 8, 1854, who resided with her grandmother, Mrs. Tallman, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

George Pomeroy, Mr. Matteson's son-in-law, served in the First Minnesota Regiment. He was promoted from a private to Lieutenant-Colonel, was in twenty battles, and severely wounded at Antietam. He was offered a Colonel's commission, but declined it. He was appointed Paymaster in the Volunteer Service, and afterward in the Regular Army. Col. Pomeroy died Jan. 1, 1869, in Omaha, Neb.

Mr. and Mrs. Pomeroy had one daughter: Augusta Matteson, b. Feb. 16, 1864, who resided with her grandfather, Hon. O. B. Matteson.

The Mountain Home, to which Mr. Matteson and family retired in the summer months, was a charming villa among the Adirondacks. The estate embraced three thousand acres of land, covering almost an entire mountain, on the summit of which is Lake Milmurt. This lake is three miles long and one mile wide, and contains an abundant supply of brook trout, but no other kinds of fish, and is the only known instance of so large a lake in America holding in its waters only brook trout. This was famous fishing ground for PRESIDENT ARTHUR, to whom Mr. Matteson was accustomed to extend the hospitality of his Mountain Home.

EMILY, [2082].

Biographical.

“Between the years 1787 and 1850, there lived in the United States and Canada two clergymen of the same name and lineage, animated by the same spirit, and teaching the same doctrine, and yet of whom it is not known that either was aware of the other's existence. They were the Rev. William Cogswell, D. D. [411], already mentioned in these pages, and the Rev. William Cogswell, M. A., who began and finished his ministry as a Curate of St. Paul's Church in Halifax, N. S. He with whom we are at present concerned was born in Halifax, in 1809, educated in the Halifax Grammar School, and in King's College, Windsor, N. S. He then travelled in Europe, but his affection for his native Province was increased instead of lessened by all he saw. He was ever a ready champion for the land of his birth, and at the time when he lived it was well to have Nova Scotians with courage to assert the merits and resources of their own country, not always recognized even by those who should have been most keenly and proudly awake to them. On returning home he married Eleanor, daughter of the Hon. Andrew Belcher, formerly a member of the Council of Nova Scotia, and the only male representative of the New England family of that name distinguished in the history of Massachusetts. Being appointed Curate of St. Paul's Church under the venerable Archdeacon Willis, he soon attracted a large congregation by his evangelical preaching, and by the affectionate zeal for the spiritual welfare of his flock, which evidently inspired every word of his eloquent discourses. There he continued, with intervals of travel to recruit his health, until his death at the age of thirty-seven years, after fourteen years of earnest labor in the church. The present incumbent of the church in which he ministered is the Rev. G. W. Hill, D. C. L., who has enriched the literature of his country with many valuable contributions. In a lecture on 'Nova Scotia and Nova Scotians,' published in 1858, due honor is paid in graceful words to the memory of the Rev. William Cogswell : 'His piety and talents were known abroad ; his influence and usefulness in Halifax, his birthplace, are felt to the present hour ; his published sermons and lectures have been read and reviewed in England. Cut off at the early age of thirty-seven, William Cogswell's memory is embalmed in the heart of many a one converted to God through his faithful preaching of the Gospel.'"

Genealogical.

JAMES COLQUHOUN⁸ COGSWELL, (*Henry Hezekiah*⁷, *Mason*⁶, *Hezekiah*⁵, *Samuel*⁴, *Samuel*³, *John*², *John*¹), son of Hon. Henry Hezekiah⁷ [931] and Isabella (Ellis) Cogswell, was born Dec. 9, 1820, in Halifax, N. S. He married, Nov. 12, 1849, Sophia Louisa Almon, daughter of Hon. Mather Byles and Sophia Almon. She was born Aug. 5, 1827, in Halifax, N. S. Mr. Cogswell died May 3, 1867. Mrs. Cogswell was residing, in 1884, with her son, Henry C. Cogswell, Esq., No. 24 Emperor's Gate, Cromwell Road, West London, England.

THEIR CHILDREN WERE:

ISABELLA ELLIS, [2083] b. Aug. 24, 1850; m. Sept. 25, 1872, Lieut. John Hicks, R. N.
 SOPHIA ALMON, [2084] b. Dec. 18, 1852; m. July 7, 1881, Capt. Frederick Ross Boardman, R. N.
 HENRY CHARLES, [2085] b. April 29, 1855.
 JAMES MATHER DUNCAN, [2086] b. May 22, 1861. He died in childhood, June 7, 1864.

Biographical.

"JAMES COLQUHOUN COGSWELL, youngest son of Hon. Henry H. Cogswell [931], displayed marked ability in the preparatory schools of Halifax, and in King's College, Windsor, N. S. He was admitted to the roll of Barristers, on April 19, 1842. Mr. Cogswell had by inheritance gifts of wit and satirical humor, pleasantly combined with his rare intellectual powers. He was not indisposed to bring into exercise the use of his abilities amid the bustle and battle of his young life, whenever suitable opportunity or occasion offered. He was among the contributors to the periodical press of the day, in which rival parties were wont to find expression in the defence or advocacy of their diverse political principles. He held an able and ready pen in the combat with opponents, as well as a facile pencil for caricature, whereby the noisy pretensions of demagogues were made ridiculous, and their selfishness exposed as prejudicial to the interests and the welfare of his native country. To this propensity for satire by 'cuts' he yielded so far as to permit its indulgence even in the law courts, and the headquarters of the law makers, the legislative halls. His embodied, but transformed sarcasm, in the shape of clever cartoons, was not unknown even to the victims, the subjects of his sketches, and the junior judge or the budding legislator was each compelled to smile at the pictured exposure of his own weak points, as the multitude has learned more recently to do at the pictorial squibs of Grip and Puck, which expose the habit of political self-seeking by all sorts and conditions of men. Mr. Cogswell became a leading citizen of his native city, happy in his good estate, independent in all the aspects of social life, conscientious in his religious principles, generous to the demands of charity, and an active Warden of the Parish Church. The immediate cause of Mr. Cogswell's death was an accident on board the Cunard steamship China, which occurred May 3, 1867, on his return voyage from England to Halifax. A heavy sea broke over the ship and threw him heavily across the deck, with fatal result."

*"While homeward bound on crested waves,
Restless, his native shores they sweep,
He dies : and his long home, the grave,
Gives to the wearied Christian sleep."*

Biographical.

WINKWORTH ALLEN COGSWELL having completed his school days, learned the business of ship-building. He married at the age of twenty-four years, and settled upon the ancient Cogswell homestead, in Upper Dyke Village, Cornwallis, N. S. After a few years, however, he removed to Port Medway, N. S., and established himself as a ship-builder and lumber merchant. Mr. Cogswell prosecuted a large and lucrative business for some fifteen years, when, in 1853, he removed to Portland, Me., and was of the firm Sparrow & Cogswell, carpet dealers. A few years later he sold out, and removed to St. Louis, Mo., where he remained until 1860, when he purchased land and engaged in a Commission Agency in Flint, Mich. But two years later he met with an accident which terminated his life at the age of fifty-one years. Mr. Cogswell was a conscientious, honest, Christian man. While resident in Nova Scotia he was a member and elder of the Baptist Church. In Flint, Mich., he was the Superintendent of the Sunday School. Mr. Cogswell was generous to the poor, exemplary as a Christian, and died in the glorious hope of eternal life, through Jesus Christ.

The following obituary notice appeared in a local paper soon after Mr. Cogswell's death: "Departed this life, Charleston, S. C., on the 14th of January, 1833, after a short but severe illness, MR. HARVEY COGSWELL, of the firm of H. Cogswell & Co., Merchants of this city, in the thirty-fourth year of his age. Seldom has the uncertainty of life been more strongly illustrated than in the decease of our departed friend. . . . Mr. Cogswell was for the last eleven years a resident of this city. Of the most active and enterprising disposition, early inured to habits of industry, few persons in our community have acquired or sustained a higher or fairer reputation for promptitude, activity, and integrity in business, or secured at the same age a stronger or deeper hold on the regard and esteem of his acquaintances. In all the various relations of life, as a citizen, friend, husband, father, he has left behind him a character worthy of all praise. May the recollection of his many virtues, and the hope that his immortal spirit has fled to brighter scenes and more lasting joys, soften this stroke of affliction to his bereaved widow and fatherless children, and the golden links of friendship severed by his death be reunited in another and better world."

Biographical.

MRS. AMANDA (COGSWELL) LYON was the youngest child of Stephen and Elizabeth (Hand) Cogswell. Her married life was spent largely in New Orleans, La. Her husband, Charles Clark Lyon, was in the practice of dentistry in that city. Mrs. Lyon's only surviving son, William S. Lyon, resided in New York City, where his wife, Mrs. Eliza H. (Dudley) Lyon, died, Nov. 11, 1879. In 1883 Mrs. Amanda (Cogswell) Lyon was on a visit North, among her relatives in Richmond, Mass., and other places. While in Schenectady, N. Y., her native town, she was taken suddenly ill of pneumonia, on Friday morning, Oct. 5, and died the Thursday following. Funeral service took place at 7.30 o'clock Friday evening at the residence of Edward H. Lyon, Esq., No. 11 Lafayette Street, Schenectady, N. Y., and the interment on Saturday, in Woodlawn Cemetery, New York. Mrs. Lyon enjoyed her visit to the old scenes of childhood, and took much interest in matters of family history. She anticipated the issue of THE COGSWELLS IN AMERICA with great pleasure. She was in Richmond, Mass., only a few days before her death, and in a letter to a friend she wrote as follows :

“My nephew has got a great craze about the Genealogy of the Cogswell Family, and as I am the last one living of my father’s family, I have had a great deal to think of and relate in regard to traditions and reminiscences of old times. It is a notable fact that where my nephew, W. L. Nichols, now lives, and where we are now staying, is the old Cogswell neighborhood and homestead, purchased by them May 15, 1762. The country around here is very pleasant and lovely, and these Berkshire Hills seem more so to me, as my ancestry trod the same soil, breathed the same mountain air, saw the same surroundings. The same wild flowers bloomed for them, the same mountain springs bubbled forth their volumes of lively water for my ancestry, one hundred and twenty-one years ago.”

HENRY DANIEL COGSWELL.

[1656]

Genealogical.

HENRY DANIEL⁸ COGSWELL, (*George Washington*⁷, *Amos*⁶, *Benjamin*⁵, *Foshua*⁴, *Samuel*³, *Folvi*², *John*¹), son of George Washington⁷ [1026] and Polly (Dimmick) Cogswell, was born March 3, 1820, in Tolland, Conn. He married, Dec. 7, 1846, Caroline E. Richards, daughter of Reuel and Laura (Paine) Richards. She was born Feb. 19, 1822, in Providence, R. I. They resided No. 319 Broadway, San Francisco, Cal. They had no children.

Biographical.

HENRY DANIEL COGSWELL in early boyhood was slender in form, but of elastic muscle and active brain. His mother died when he was eight years old. His father soon after removed to the State of New York, leaving him in the care of his grandparents. They, however, soon after died, and Henry Daniel was thrown upon the wide world to look out for himself. He had not the means sufficient to join his father in the State of New York. But young as he was, he took in the situation, and set about earning a living and making his fortune. He found employment in a cotton factory, by his little earnings paid his way at school, and with some very friendly assistance, at the age of eighteen years, he had acquired an education sufficient to teach a common district school. A few years later he studied dentistry in Providence, R. I. He commenced its practice in Pawtucket, and afterward, in 1847, opened an office in Providence, R. I. When gold was discovered in California, Dr. Cogswell was among the first to embark for the gold region. He sailed May 9, 1849, taking along with him quite a little stock of merchandise. Upon his arrival he sold his goods to advantage, and soon was established in the practice of his profession in San Francisco. Mrs. Cogswell joined him in 1851. The next thirty years devoted to his profession, and somewhat to business, with its successes and its reverses, placed Dr. Cogswell among the millionnaires of the Pacific coast. Dr. and Mrs. Cogswell, in 1871, visited Europe, and spent four years in travel in foreign lands. After their return Dr. Cogswell was very busy in caring for his property, and in distributing large gifts in the form of endowments for permanent institutions. He founded the DENTAL COLLEGE, of San Francisco, and conveyed it in trust to the Regents of the State University of California. This gift embraced the entire accumulations of twelve years of professional service. He established also the COGSWELL CHAIR OF MORAL AND INTELLECTUAL PHILOSOPHY, in the State University, and THE COGSWELL RELIEF FUND, for the aid of students needing assistance. Dr. Cogswell, as a matter of public beneficence, and to promote TEMPERANCE, caused to be erected at his own expense, in many large cities, elaborate and highly ornamental PUBLIC DRINKING FOUNTAINS of bronze and granite. Thirty-one of these fountains were distributed to different cities and towns in the United States. WASHINGTON, D. C., SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., PROVIDENCE, R. I., and BROOKLYN, N. Y., were among the large cities to receive this public monument of blessing in PERPETUUM. An engraving of one of these SILENT ORATORS OF TEMPERANCE is inserted.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., 1883.

THE FOUNTAIN erected in Washington, D. C., was accepted by joint resolution of Congress, July 6, 1882, and erected in 1884 on the corner of SEVENTH STREET and PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE. It was made to furnish iced water, and was very elaborate and costly in construction. An appropriate inscription was put upon it, and the following dedication :

Esto Perpetua to the American Union.

Dr. Cogswell, by a donation of $35,000, founded THE COGSWELL PHILANTHROPIC SOCIETY, and established its ANNUAL COURSE OF LECTURES. He also erected a very costly and imposing MAUSOLEUM TO THE WORTHY DEAD within the grounds of the Mountain View Cemetery, Oakland, Cal. It was estimated that at least four hundred tons of cut granite were used in its construction. The base covered a large area, the polished shaft rose sixty feet from the base, its sides were embellished with tablets on which were recorded the NAMES of the HONORED DEAD. On the corners of the pedestal were four colossal statues of marble, sculptured in Italy, representing FAITH, HOPE, CHARITY, and TEMPERANCE. On the base of the monument was a tablet with the following inscription :

THIS MONUMENT
 Was designed and erected by
 HENRY DANIEL COGSWELL,
 A native of Connecticut,
 A. D. 1882,
 And is intended to honor and perpetuate
 THE MEMORY
 Of those whose deeds have enrolled them among
 THE BENEFACTORS OF MANKIND.

The grounds on which this monumental structure was erected contained ten thousand square feet, enclosed by polished granite. The entire cost of this CALIFORNIA WESTMINSTER ABBEY, as estimated, was not less than $60,000. Dr. Cogswell, whose boyhood was penniless and homeless, at the age of sixty years was known for his beneficence across the continent, and reckoned among the millionaires of America. His biographer says: "None of his large fortune was accumulated at the expense of others. Frugality, temperance, and industry were through life his characteristics, and integrity his religion."

Biographical.

WILLIAM CABLES COGSWELL in early life became restive, and longed for other fields of action than the bleak hills of his native town. Accordingly he quietly packed his scanty wardrobe in a small bundle, and with only one dollar and seventeen cents in his pocket, Jan. 14, 1840, he left home and bent his steps towards the setting sun. At the end of three days' journey, he found himself many miles from home, and his little funds exhausted. He stopped for lodging at a farm-house, and in the morning bargained his services with the farmer for nine months at nine dollars per month. Having fulfilled this term of service, without a single day of lost time, he received his wages, and with eighty-one dollars in his purse felt himself financially independent. He next turned to good account his common-school education by teaching; this he pursued for several years. He then entered upon trade, and for twenty-eight years kept a village store. In 1882 he retired upon a small farm with a competency.

Mr. Cogswell was a highly respected citizen, and called to fill various public offices. For twenty-two years he was Postmaster. He was chosen President of the Village Corporation of Wurtsboro'. In 1883 he was elected one of the Supervisors of Sullivan Co., N. Y., and re-elected without an opposing vote in 1884.

Biographical.

ALFRED CHIPMAN COGSWELL entered Acadia College, Wolfeville, N. S., at the age of fifteen years, but after two years he was compelled to abandon study on account of ill health. The next three years were spent with great benefit on his father's farm in the suburbs of Portland, Me. He then entered upon the study of dentistry in the office of Dr. Edwin Parsons of that city. After four years of study and practice in Portland, Me., and Boston, Mass., Dr. Cogswell opened an office in Wakefield, Mass. He soon acquired a high standing and a reputation for skill in his profession. Dr. Cogswell was married in 1858, and the following year removed to Halifax, N. S., and formed a partnership with Dr. Lawrence E. Van Buskirk, a successful practitioner of dentistry in that city. After two years Dr. Van Buskirk retired, from ill health, and soon after died. Dr. Cogswell, in 1867, formed a partnership with Dr. J. L. Mackay, which continued for two years, when Dr. Cogswell repaired to Philadelphia, and was in attendance at the Dental College in that city until he received the degree of D. D. S. He then returned to Halifax, N. S., and had for many years a large and lucrative practice. Dr. Cogswell wrote some valuable papers on subjects connected with dentistry, which were published. Dr. Cogswell's residence was across the harbor in the town of Dartmouth. He was Councillor of the municipality where he resided, an Elder in the St. Matthew's Presbyterian Church, and the President of the Society for the Relief of the Poor.

MILTON⁹ COGSWELL, (*Francis Beard*⁸, *William*⁷, *John*⁶, *Benjamin*⁵, *Foshua*⁴, *Samuel*³, *John*², *John*¹), son of Hon. Francis Beard⁸ [1682] and Sally (Thorn) Cogswell, was born Dec. 4, 1825, in Noblesville, Ind. He married, Oct. 17, 1860, Susan M. Lane, daughter of William Jared and Parmelia (Hubbell) Lane. She was born Jan. 2, 1826, in New York City. They resided in Plainfield, N. J., New York City, and Washington, D. C. Col. Cogswell died Nov. 20, 1882.

THEIR ONLY CHILD WAS:

SUSAN WHILEY, [2460] b. Aug. 14, 1861.

Biographical.

MILTON COGSWELL was the first child of American parentage born in Noblesville, Ind. At the age of seventeen years he left home, having received the appointment as a Cadet of the Military Academy in West Point, N. Y. After a successful course of study and an honorable record, he graduated in 1849, and was made Brevet Second Lieutenant, Fourth Infantry, U. S. A., July 1, 1849. Shortly after, Aug. 4, 1849, he was commissioned Second Lieutenant, Eighth Infantry, U. S. A. After a few months in the garrison, Sackett's Harbor, New York, and a year of frontier service in Fort Graham, Texas, Lieut. Cogswell was ordered to West Point as Assistant Professor of Mathematics and Assistant Instructor of Infantry Tactics. He held these positions from Aug. 29, 1851, to Sept. 30, 1855. About this time, Aug. 15, 1855, he was promoted to First Lieutenant, Eighth Infantry, U. S. A., and the next five years were spent on the frontier at different forts in New Mexico and Texas. He was engaged in topographical engineering, scouting, exploring, and fighting the Indians. In 1860-61 he was on recruiting service, and May 13, 1861, was commissioned Captain of Eighth Infantry, U. S. A. The Rebellion having commenced, Capt. Cogswell was commissioned July 1, 1861, Colonel of the Forty-second Regiment of New York Volunteers. He was in command of his regiment in the battle of Ball's Bluff, Oct. 21, 1861, and when Gen. Baker fell the command of the troops devolved upon Col. Cogswell, who displayed great heroism and ability in battle; but he was severely wounded, captured by the Rebels, and held a prisoner of war about eleven months. Col. Cogswell during this imprisonment was selected as one of the hostages for the safety of the Rebel privateers captured in Chesapeake Bay, and held by the United States Government. These hostages were kept in close confinement in Henrico County Jail, and were sentenced to execution one day, on the following morning. This fate, however, was averted by the action of the United States Government toward the privateers, and Col. Cogswell was exchanged Sept. 21, 1862. Eight days after, Col. Cogswell took command of the Second Heavy Artillery. He was brevetted Major in the Regular Army, Oct. 21, 1861, for gallant and meritorious service in the battle of Ball's Bluff, Va. After a few months' service in defence of Washington, Col. Cogswell resigned his Volunteer Commission, April 8, 1863. He was appointed Commissary of Musters, Seventh Army Corps, then put in command of United States Eighth Infantry at Fort Columbus, New York, from Dec. 31, 1863, to April 13, 1864. He was Provost Marshal General in the Richmond Campaign from May 3, 1864, to Sept. 17, 1864, and brevetted Lieutenant-Colonel in the Regular Army, July 30, 1864, for gallant and meritorious service in front of Petersburg, Va. He was commissioned Major of the Eighth Infantry, U. S. A., Oct. 8, 1864, and in command of General Recruiting Depot and Port of Fort Columbus, New York, Feb. 7 to June 10, 1865. He received Brevet Colonel, March 13, 1865, for gallant and meritorious services during the Rebellion. He was in garrison in Baltimore, Md., June 27, 1865, to July 10, 1866; Acting Judge Advocate of the Department of North Carolina, July 10 to Oct. 30, 1866; Assistant Commissary of Musters, Department of North Carolina, Aug. 4 to Nov. 30, 1866; Assistant Commissioner of Freedman's Bureau, Central District of North Carolina, Nov. 8, 1866, to April 20, 1867; on duty at headquarters of the regiment, Raleigh, N. C., till Feb. 24, 1868; ordered on the staff of Brevet Major-Gen. Canby, same date; appointed Provisional Mayor of Charleston, S. C., March 7, 1868; relieved from that duty, July 6, 1868; in charge of Bureau of Civil Affairs for the States of North and South Carolina, from July 6, 1868; Commanding Post of Columbia, S. C., Dec. 1, 1868; commanding Post of Charleston, S. C., March 5, 1869; awaiting orders, March 15, 1869; assigned to Twenty-first Infantry, March 26, 1869, and joined regiment at Richmond, Va., April 4, 1869; left Richmond, April 12, 1869, en route for California; arrived April 17, 1869, at Omaha, Nebraska; left Omaha Barracks, May 4, 1869, in command of headquarters, and companies F, S, H, Q, and K, Twenty-first Infantry, for San Francisco, Cal.; arrived in that city, May 14, 1869; left San Francisco, June 5, 1869, in command of companies B, D, F, and Q, en route to Camp Goodwin, Arizona Territory, where he arrived Aug. 24, 1869, with companies B and F, Twenty-first Infantry; commanded camp McDowell, Arizona Territory, from Sept. 18, 1869, to March 30, 1870; commanded the sub-district of Southern Arizona, headquarters in Tucson, from March 26 to June 22, 1870; on special duty at headquarters of department of Arizona, Prescott, July 3, 1870; Acting Assistant Inspector-General of the Department of Arizona, from July 3, 1870, and placed on the retired list, Sept. 5, 1871. Col. Cogswell resided for a time in Plainfield, N. J., and was chosen an Alderman of that city in 1875. He was appointed June 1, 1877, Deputy Governor of the Soldiers' Home, in Washington, D. C., and was relieved by President Garfield, June 1, 1881, but reappointed, May 1, 1882, and held this position at the time of his death, which occurred Nov. 20, 1882. Col. Cogswell as an officer was brave, beloved by his men, and respected by those in command. He was a man of wide reading and scholarship, genial in manners, commanding in person, and noble in spirit. Vid. HISTORY OF THE EIGHTH INFANTRY, U. S. A.

Memoranda.

THE CITY OF NEW YORK presented COL. MILTON COGSWELL with a gold-mounted sword, in recognition of his gallantry in the battle of Ball's Bluff, in which he was severely wounded. The instant before the bullet struck him, his words were: "Boys, we will cut our way through to the ferry." Col. Cogswell was of the first lot of exchanged prisoners from Richmond in the steamboat Northampton. As the steamer neared the landing: "In the fore-front stood the noble Col. Cogswell, his manly form, like that of Saul, towering head and shoulders above and his fellows, the tears streaming down his cheeks, as he raised the cry:

"THREE CHEERS FOR THE RED, WHITE, AND BLUE!"

MRS. SUSAN M. COGSWELL, daughter of Hon. William J. Lane, was born in New York City. Her father was a broker for many years. From his estate Mrs. Cogswell received many ancient and curious relics, among which were gold coins dating back to the Cæsars, and an elegant diamond ring once worn by NAPOLEON THE FIRST.

NOTE.—Doubtless the name Coggeshall is more or less confounded with Cogswell in the foregoing COGSWELLS OF UNKNOWN LINEAGE.

The name of Cogswell has been assumed by various Negroes and Indians. There is one remarkable instance of this in the case of an Indian, Jeremiah Cotsure. Ibid. HOUSATONIC INDIANS, p. 106. He had two sons, Nathan and Jabez, who were known as Nathan and Jabez Cogswell.

Lieut. William H. Cogswell, who distinguished himself in the War of the Union, and was killed in battle, was the eldest son of Nathan Cogswell, of Cornwall, Conn., and grandson of the Indian, Jeremiah Cotsure, alias Cogswell. He enlisted in the Fifth Connecticut Volunteers, June 22, 1861. He was promoted to a Lieutenant in the Sec. Conn. Artillery, for gallant service, Sept. 11, 1862. He died Sept. 22, 1864, aged twenty-five years. He was in the important battles of Peaked Mountain, Winchester, Cedar Mountain, Cold Harbor, and Opequan. In the last he was fatally wounded. His colonel remarked, "He was as a soldier one of ten thousand; as a valiant and faithful soldier he had no superiors." He was remarkable as an athlete, and noted for fleetness in running and for physical endurance. His townsmen of Cornwall, Conn., erected a monument to his honor and memory. For a portrait of Lieut. Cogswell, Ibid. HISTORY OF CORNWALL, CONN.
